Zoo Talk Patricia G. Patrick, Sue Dale Tunnicliffe, 2012-09-29 Founded on the premise that zoos are bilingual that the zoo in the shape of its staff and exhibits and its visitors speak distinct languages this enlightening analysis of the informal learning that occurs in zoos examines the speech of exhibits and staff as well as the discourse of visitors beginning in the earliest years Using real life conversations among visitors as a basis for discussion the authors interrogate children's responses to the exhibits and by doing so develop an informal learning model and a zoo knowledge model that prompts suggestions for activities that classroom educators can use before during and after a zoo visit Their analysis of the visitor voice informs creative suggestions for how to enhance the educational experiences of young patrons By assessing visitors' entry knowledge and their interpretations of the exhibits the authors establish a baseline for zoos that helps them to refine their communication with visitors for example in expanding knowledge of issues concerning biodiversity and biological conservation The book includes practical advice for zoo and classroom educators about positive ways to prepare for zoo visits engaging activities during visits and follow up work that maximizes the pedagogical benefits It also reflects on the interplay between the developing role of zoos as facilitators of learning and the ways in which zoos help visitors assimilate the knowledge on offer In addition to being essential reading for educators in zoos and in the classroom this volume is full of insights with much broader contextual relevance for getting the most out of museum visits and field trips in general

The Correspondence of Michael Faraday Michael Faraday, 1991 The Correspondence of Michael Faraday Michael Faraday 1791 1867 was one of the most important men of science in nineteenth century Britain His discoveries of electro magnetic rotations 1821 and electro magnetic induction 1831 laid the foundations of the modern electrical industry His discovery of the magneto optical effect and diamagnetism 1845 led him to formulate the field theory of electro magnetism which forms one of the cornerstones of modern physics These and a whole host of other fundamental discoveries in physics and chemistry together with his lecturing at the Royal Institution his work for the state including Trinity House his religious beliefs and his lack of mathematical ability make Faraday one of the most fascinating scientific figures ever All these aspects of his life and work and others such as his health are reflected in his letters which in this final volume cover Faraday s life to his death in August 1867 Also published here are letters that could not be dated and letters that should have been included in volumes one to five but which had not been located when those volumes were published In total just over 80% of the letters in this volume are previously unpublished The dominant topic of the 1860s covered in nearly 40% of the letters is Faraday s involvement with the lighthouse service relating in particular to his advice to Trinity House and the Board of Trade on matters such as electric light and the controversial issue of fog signals Also detailed is the complex process by which his various posts were transferred to John Tyndall Similar issues existed with Faraday s gradual withdrawal from his duties at the Royal Institution including the misguided attempt to make him President And of course running through many of the letters are comments on his declining health and impending death Major correspondents include the Astronomer Royal G B Airy the Secretary of Trinity House P H Berthon the Birmingham glassmaker J T Chance the Assistant Secretary of the Board of Trade T H Farrer the German mathematician Julius Plücker the Cambridge trained mathematical natural philosophers James Clerk Maxwell and William Thomson Faraday s colleagues at the Royal Institution Henry Bence Jones John Tyndall and Benjamin Vincent the Swiss chemist Christian Schoenbein and the astronomer James South
