Race and Racism Carolyn Fluehr-Lobban, 2005-12-15 In her newest book anthropologist Carolyn Fluehr Lobban examines the foundations of race in American society She demonstrates how race and racism are not openly confronted or challenged in American communities or educational settings Many families still live in segregated communities especially ethnic sub communities and attend largely segregated public and private schools The author offers a simple and accessible explanation of the biology of race and a cross cultural perspective on the social context of race color coding ethnicity and ethnocentrism There are few places in the world where race is not a factor in society and politics but the author finds abundant evidence that is a dynamic and pliable concept as seen in the overturning of the slave system in Haiti or the American civil rights movement Fluehr Lobban s book is a fascinating and thoughtful assessment of the nature of race and racism Her book will be of value to readers and instructors in anthropology sociology education and ethnic studies

In the Shadow of the Black Beast Andrew B. Leiter, 2010-05 Andrew B Leiter presents the first book length study of the sexually violent African American man or black beast as a composite literary phenomenon According to Leiter the black beast theme served as a fundamental link between the Harlem and Southern Renaissances with writers from both movements exploring its psychological cultural and social ramifications Indeed Leiter asserts that the two groups consciously engaged one another s work as they struggled to define roles for black masculinity in a society that viewed the black beast as the raison d tre for segregation Leiter begins by tracing the nineteenth century origins of the black beast image and then provides close readings of eight writers who demonstrate the crucial impact anxieties about black masculinity and interracial sexuality had on the formation of American literary modernism James Weldon Johnson s The Autobiography of an Ex Colored Man Walter White s The Fire in the Flint George Schuyler s Black No More William Faulkner s Light in August Margaret Mitchell s Gone with the Wind Allen Tate s The Fathers Erskine Caldwell s Trouble in July and Richard Wright s Native Son as well as other works provide strong evidence that perceptions of black male sexual violence shaped segregation protest traditions and the literature that arose from them Leiter maintains that the environment of southern race relations which allowed such atrocities as the Atlanta riot of 1906 numerous lynchings Virginia s Racial Integrity Act and the Scottsboro trials influenced in part the development of both the Harlem and Southern Renaissances While the black beast image had the most pernicious impact on African American individual and communal identities he says the threat of black masculinity also shaped concepts of white national and communal identities as well as white femininity and masculinity In the Shadow of the Black Beast signals a fresh interpretation of a literary stereotype within its social and historical context

Human Rights and Relative Universalism Marie-Luisa Frick,2019-01-31 This book argues that human rights cannot go global without going local This important lesson from the winding debates on universalism and particularism raises intricate questions what are human rights after all given the dissent surrounding their foundations content and scope What are legitimate deviances from classical human rights law and where should we draw red lines Making a case for balancing conceptual openness and distinctness this book addresses the key human rights issues of our time and opens up novel spaces for deliberation It engages philosophical reasoning with law politics and religion and demonstrates that a meaningful relativist account of human rights is not only possible but a sorely needed antidote to dogmatism and polarization

Understanding Race Rob DeSalle,Ian Tattersall,2022-07-07 The human species is very young but in a short time it has acquired some striking if biologically superficial variations across the planet As this book shows however none of those biological variations can be understood in terms of discrete races which do not actually exist as definable entities Starting with a consideration of evolution and the mechanisms of diversification in nature this book moves to an examination of attitudes to human variation throughout history showing that it was only with the advent of slavery that considerations of human variation became politicized It then embarks on a consideration of how racial classifications have been applied to genomic studies demonstrating how individualized genomics is a much more effective approach to clinical treatments It also shows how racial stratification does nothing to help us understand the phenomenon of human variation at either the genomic or physical levels

Prove It Elizabeth Finkel,2025-08-12 A compelling journey through science s big breakthroughs by an award winning Australian science writer Humans developed the scientific method over centuries Its departure from what came before was that theories should be fuelled by data not opinion Today the institutions that underpin democracy the law academia government journalism all rely on its central idea seeking facts and interrogating them through robust discussion and real world testing Yet in the post truth era public conversations can feel far from scientific In Prove It Elizabeth Finkel describes how the scientific method plays out in a series of controversies from proving the existence of Einstein s gravitational waves to identifying the origins of Covid 19 from understanding human origins to defining consciousness Through these tales of dispute and discovery she breaks down the key elements of scientific thinking Full of politics prejudice obsession heroism and eccentricity Prove It captures the drama and excitement of scientific discovery and debate and argues compellingly that its lessons are more crucial now than ever

The Cambridge Handbook of Linguistic Anthropology N. J. Enfield,Paul Kockelman,Jack Sidnell,2014-09-11 The field of linguistic anthropology looks at human uniqueness and diversity through the lens of language our species special combination of art and instinct Human language both shapes and is shaped by our minds societies and cultural worlds This state of the field survey covers a wide range of topics approaches and theories such as the nature and function of language systems the relationship between language and social interaction and the place of language in the social life of communities Promoting a broad vision of the subject spanning a range of disciplines from linguistics to biology from psychology to sociology and philosophy this authoritative handbook is an essential reference guide for students and researchers working on language and culture across the social sciences Adaptive Origins Peter LaFrenière,2011-01-07 In this text students are invited to rethink psychology by grounding it in the natural sciences with the understanding that evolutionary and developmental processes work together with culture to solve problems of human adaptation These processes are cast as interdependent Development cannot be understood except in the light of evolutionary theory and the best proof of evolution is the fact of development For students of evolutionary psychology all the central topics such as evolved mental modules for theory of mind or language require an understanding of the developmental processes that lead to their expression Genes as important as they are are never the whole story The role of biological factors is explored in chapters outlining evolution development genetics human origins hormones and the brain Then the integrative value of this evolutionary developmental vision in understanding key topics in psychology is illustrated by applying it to traditional area of inquiry including infancy and attachment emotions and their expression social relations with peers cognitive and language development sex differences courtship and mating violence and aggression and cooperation and competition The Fifth Petition A Thing Not as End in Itself,2019-05-20 His great grandfather was a monkey The Primitive Savage grew up on a tree in Africa His parents were poor and their tree was not a big tree All his education was under the small tree He was told if he walked upright his brain will grow but he could never understand why He tried unsuccessfully to walk just like his parents and grandparents before him in order to grow a bigger brain but all his could do is to lean on a tree to support himself standing on two But walking was extremely difficult He only managed to grow a small brain Now he is a thing People, Plants and Genes Denis J Murphy,2007-07-19 This book provides a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of human plant interactions and their social consequences from the hunter gatherers of the Palaeolithic Era to the 21st century molecular manipulation of crops It links the latest advances in molecular genetics climate research and archaeology to give a new perspective on the evolution of agriculture and complex human societies across the world Even today our technologically advanced societies still rely on plants for basic food needs not to mention clothing shelter medicines and tools This special relationship has tied together people and their chosen plants in mutual dependence for well over 50 000 years Yet despite these millennia of intimate contact people have only domesticated and cultivated a few dozen of the tens of thousands of potentially available edible plants This limited domestication process led directly to the evolution of the complex urban based societies that have dominated much of human development over the past ten millennia Thanks to the latest genomic studies we can now begin to explain how when and where some of the most important crops came to be domesticated and the crucial roles of plant genetics climatic change and social organisation in these processes Indeed it was their unique genetic organisations that ultimately determined which plants eventually became crops rather than any conscious decisions by their human cultivators The book is aimed at a wide audience ranging from plant specialists such as geneticists molecular biologists and agronomists to a more general readership of archaeologists anthropologists historians and others who wish to explore the complex processes that have shaped the often crucial relationships between plants and human societies over the past hundred millennia

The Powers of the False Doro Wiese, 2014-11-30 Can literature make it possible to represent histories that are otherwise ineffable Making use of the Deleuzian concept of the powers of the false Doro Wiese offers readings of three novels that deal with the Shoah with colonialism and with racialized identities She argues that Jonathan Safran Foer's Everything Is Illuminated Richard Flanagan's Gould's Book of Fish and Richard Powers's The Time of Our Singing are novels in which a space for unvoiced silent or silenced difference is created Seen through the lens of Deleuze and his collaborators philosophy literature is a means for mediating knowledge and affects about historical events Going beyond any simple dichotomy between true and untrue accounts of what really happened in the past literature's powers of the false incite readers to long for a narrative space in which painful or shameful stories can be included

Sport, Difference and Belonging James Rosbrook-Thompson, 2013 This book combines historical and ethnographic components in examining the ideas about human variation subscribed to by coaches commentators and sportspeople themselves The book begins by interrogating the idea of the 'impulsive' black sportsman and the 'impulsive' black male more generally documenting how it came into being and gathered momentum throughout the course of British history Drawing on the work of Paul Gilroy and Ian Hacking the author then investigates whether such raciological ideas figure within the everyday behaviours of a group of young footballers Presenting an original ethnographic study undertaken at Oldfield United a semi professional football club situated in London he explores how raciological ideas and other notions of human variation shape the self understandings of the club's players and thereby influence the possibilities for action available to them In conceptualising the sense of feeling alien experienced by club personnel in relation to mainstream discourses of nationhood to politics to the basic functioning of the nation state and at bottom to the qualifications and requirements of British citizenship the Sport Difference and Belonging challenges the ability of the cosmopolitan tradition to make sense of contemporary urban phenomena and seeks to develop the sociological concept of denizenship This book will be of interest to academics and students in the fields of sociology and social policy race and ethnic studies urban studies the ethnographic method and the sociology of sport It may also appeal to politicians policy makers and those working in the field of race relations
