The New Zealand Journal of History, 2001

Broadcasting Empire Simon J. Potter, 2012-07-05 Broadcasting was born just as the British empire reached its greatest territorial extent and matured while that empire began to unravel Radio and television offered contemporaries the beguiling prospect that new technologies of mass communication might compensate for British imperial decline In Broadcasting Empire Simon J Potter shows how from the 1920s the BBC used broadcasting to unite audiences at home with the British settler diaspora in Canada Australia New Zealand and South Africa High culture royal ceremonial sport and even comedy were harnessed to this end particularly on the BBC Empire Service the predecessor of today's World Service Belatedly during the 1950s the BBC also began to consider the role of broadcasting in Africa and Asia as a means to encourage development and to combat resistance to continued colonial rule However during the 1960s as decolonization entered its final accelerated phase the BBC staged its own imperial retreat This is the first full length scholarly study to examine both the home and overseas aspects of the BBC's imperial mission Drawing on new archival evidence it demonstrates how the BBC's domestic and imperial roles while seemingly distinct in fact exerted a powerful influence over one another Broadcasting Empire makes an important contribution to our understanding of the transnational history of broadcasting emphasising geopolitical rivalries and tensions between British and American attempts to exert influence on the world's radio and television systems Migrant and Diasporic Film and Filmmaking in New Zealand Arezou

Zalipour,2019-01-01 This book is the first ever collection on diasporic screen production in New Zealand Through contributions by a diverse range of local and international scholars it identifies the central characteristics histories practices and trajectories of screen media made by and or about migrant and diasporic peoples in New Zealand including Asians Pacific Islanders and other communities It addresses issues pertinent to representation of migrant and diasporic life and experience on screen and showcases critical dialogues with directors scriptwriters producers and other key figures whose work reflects experiences of migration diaspora and multiculturalism in contemporary New Zealand With a foreword by Hamid Naficy the key theorist of accented cinema this comprehensive collection addresses essential questions about migrant multicultural and diasporic screen media policies of representation and the new aesthetic styles and production regimes emerging from New Zealand film and TV Migrant and Diasporic Film and Filmmaking in New Zealand is a touchstone for emerging work concerned with migration diaspora and multiculturalism in New Zealand's screen production and practice

Secret History Steven Loveridge,Richard S. Hill,2023-07-13 In 1900 a handful of New Zealand police detectives watched out for spies seditionists and others who might pose a threat to state and society The Police Force remained the primary instrument of such human intelligence in New Zealand until 1956 when a decade into the Cold War a dedicated Security Service was created Over the same period New Zealand's role within signals intelligence networks evolved from the Imperial Wireless Chain to the UKUSA intelligence alliance now known as Five Eyes The first of two volumes chronicling the history of state surveillance in New Zealand Secret History opens up the secret world of security intelligence through to 1956 It is the story of the surveillers who in times of war and peace turmoil and tranquillity monitored and analysed perceived threats to national interests It is also the story of the surveilled those whose association with organisations and movements led to their public and private lives being documented in secret files Secret History explores a hidden and intriguing dimension of New Zealand history one which sits uneasily with cherished national notions of an exceptionally fair and open society
