overlooked aspect of Orwell's life journeys through his writing and his actions from going deep into the coal mines of England fighting in the Spanish Civil War critiquing Stalin when much of the international left still supported him and then critiquing that left to his analysis of the relationship between lies and authoritarianism Through Solnit's celebrated ability to draw unexpected connections readers are drawn onward from Orwell's own work as a writer and gardener to encounter photographer Tina Modotti's roses and her politics agriculture and illusion in the USSR of his time with forcing lemons to grow in impossibly cold conditions Orwell's slave owning ancestors in Jamaica Jamaica Kincaid's examination of colonialism and imperialism in the flower garden and the brutal rose industry in Colombia that supplies the American market The book draws to a close with a rereading of Nineteen Eighty Four that completes Solnit's portrait of a more hopeful Orwell as well as offering a meditation on pleasure beauty and joy as acts of resistance
