Moonshine to Moonbloom Barbara Knott, 2023-12-22. Aradella Stark came into a world beautifully rooted in nature but limited in cultural development. How she transcends that limitation is the overarching theme of the book, set during the mid 1900s in a cotton mill village located in Northwest Georgia where her mother is a nightshift spinner at the mill and her father a house painter who makes most of his income from bootlegging moonshine whiskey. Nurtured by her angelic uncle, often referred to as peculiar, she learns to love nature and experiences racial harmony with nearby neighbors. This story of Aradella Stark's coming of age is surrounded and supported by story chapters that enrich the sense of her emerging from a strongly imagined particular place and community and family. Her own intelligence and compassion, discerned and brought into bloom by a church pastor who links her to work and college in Atlanta, make possible her eventual doctoral education and her return to reclaim her roots. Despite the absence of cultural advantages known to city dwellers, what was not absent from her youth were the alternating tragic and comic motifs found in the best Southern fiction tradition, designed to bring to the reader deep engagement and moments of great delight.

The Girls of Ennismore Patricia Falvey, 2025-02-25. Set in Ireland during the turbulent early 20th century, Patricia Falvey's sweeping novel tells the story of one country and two very different worlds, exploring an unlikely friendship between two girls of vastly different backgrounds as each tries to overcome the barriers set by class and birthright. A sweeping novel of unlikely friendship set in turbulent 20th century Ireland. June 1900, Rosie Killeen crosses the road that divides her family's County Mayo farm from the estate of Lord and Lady Ennis and makes her way to the big house for the first time. Barely eight years old, Rosie joins the throng of servants preparing for the arrival of Queen Victoria. But while the royal visit is a coup for Ennismore, a chance meeting on the grounds proves even more momentous for Rosie. Victoria Bell, the Ennis's young daughter, is desperately lonely. Though the children of the gentry seldom fraternize with locals, Lord Ennis arranges for Rosie to join in

Victoria's school lessons For Rosie the opportunity is exhilarating yet isolating Victoria's governess and aunt objects to teaching a peasant girl The other servants resent Rosie's escape from the drudgery of life below stairs Bright strong-willed Rosie finds herself caught between her own people and the rarefied air of Ennismore especially as she grows closer to Victoria's older brother Valentine As they near womanhood the girls' friendship is interrupted Victoria is bound for a coming-out season in Dublin and Rosie must support her family But Ireland is changing too The country's struggle for Home Rule the outbreak of the Great War and a looming Easter rebellion in Dublin all herald a new era Not even Ennismore can escape unscathed And for Rosie family loyalty love friendship and patriotism will collide leading her through heartbreak and loss in search of her own triumphant independence
