The True Story of Alice B. Toklas Anna Linzie, 2006-04 In this original and intriguing study Anna Linzie examines three mid twentieth century texts never before treated as interrelated in a book length work of literary criticism Gertrude Stein's The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas 1933 and Alice B. Toklas's The Alice B. Toklas Cook

Book 1954 and What Is Remembered 1963 Taking these three texts as intertexts or as an assemblage of the true story of Alice B Toklas Linzie challenges assumptions about primary authorship and singular identity that have continued to limit lesbian and feminist rereadings of autobiography as a genre and of Stein and Toklas as writers and historical figures The True Story of Alice B Toklas explores how the concept of autobiography as a primarily referential genre is challenged and transformed in relation to autobiographical texts written about the same person the same life but differently by different writers at different points in time The concept of one true story is deconstructed in the process as Linzie modifies Homi K Bhabha's almost the same but not quite not white for the purposes of this particular study as almost the same but not quite not straight The investigation moves simultaneously on the planes of textuality and sexuality in order to provisionally articulate a lesbian autobiographical subject in Linzie's reading of these three texts Linzie's study fills a gap in literary criticism where Stein's companion and her work have been more or less neglected conceptualizing the Stein Toklas sexual textual relationship as fundamentally reciprocal The True Story of Alice B Toklas provides a new critical perspective on Toklas as indispensable to Stein's literary production a cultural laborer in her own right and a writer of her own books Making a significant contribution to recent lesbian feminist reconceptualizations of the genre of autobiography this study will fascinate Stein and Toklas scholars as well as those interested in queer and autobiography studies Radicalism, Populism, Interventionism Sergiu Misoiu, 2008-01-01 Transgenerational Colonialism Karel James Bouse, 2021-04-14 In Transgenerational Colonialism Karel James Bouse offers an alternative and holistic model for the analysis of colonialism and its effects on humanity Using the current anti colonialist struggle in Northern Ireland as a representative case study Bouse illustrates her theoretical model by tracing the onset of trauma to the eventual overcoming period evidenced by a cultural renaissance a reconstruction of collective positive identity and political self determination This book is recommended for students and scholars of psychology history political science and cultural studies as well as those interested in the cyclical nature of colonial experience Reinventing Sound Enrique Encabo, 2015-10-28 Recent years have witnessed a true technological revolution with a global impact upon all areas of society from entertainment to education Technology changing and evolving at increasing speed undoubtedly shapes ways of seeing the world something which requires profound reflection in terms of how reality is understood It is undeniable that in this audiovisual world music plays a leading and prominent role This is particularly notable when considering the importance of music in relation to the way it is featured on mobile devices and as manifested in terms of other communication technologies its impact on new narrative forms and the prominence of audiovisual fiction in advertising and the new ways of creating receiving and disseminating music on the Internet This book is divided into two sections New Media New Audiences and Music Cinema and Audiovisual Practices New Approaches and the sixteen essays brought together here are the work of an international group of scholars who deal with different geographical and cultural contexts One of the highlights of this volume is its interdisciplinary re-reading of a complex phenomenon that is undoubtedly a fundamental part of contemporary culture As such this collection will be of particular interest to both scholars and non specialist readers

Salsa, Language and Transnationalism Britta Schneider, 2014-05-29 What happens in globalised social contexts if people identify with a language that is not traditionally considered to be their language This unique contribution to the field of sociolinguistics scrutinises language ideologies of German and Australian Communities of Practice constituted by Salsa dance and asks what languages symbolise in transnational non ethnic cultures Using ethnographic methodology and a deconstructive approach to language it examines these different Salsa communities and gives insight into the interaction of social discourses from local national and transnational realms examining differences similarities and a simultaneous multiplicity of languages symbolic functions This book will be welcomed by postgraduates professional sociolinguists and linguistic anthropologists as well as scholars of cultural anthropology sociology and cultural studies who are interested in the development of modernist categories in transnational culture Negotiating Tradition Stefan Groth, 2012 Communicative interactions in international negotiations on cultural property not only provide information about the emergence and proliferation of arguments rhetorics and registers but also permit valuable insights into actors positions strategies and alliances They significantly influence local and national practices and views related to cultural property debates What can be gained from a deep analysis of the communicative patterns and strategies that actors engage in the entailing text and talk of negotiations is a better understanding of the process itself how do different actors argue what kind of strategies and rhetorics do they use to which instruments and institutions do they refer and in what way do actors react to each other An analysis of communicative interactions contributes to the question of how international negotiations work The analytic inclusion of sociolinguistic practices allows insights into positions strategies and perspectives pertaining to cultural property By looking at not only what actors say but also at how and in what contexts they do so it is possible to make more accurate statements about their positions and perceptions in cultural property debates As these communicative interactions influence outcomes considerably an approach from linguistic anthropology is not only beneficial for an understanding of specific negotiations but also for the analysis of broader cultural property issues Provided by publisher
