Aesthetics of Displacement in Jhumpa Lahiri's Fiction Nadia Anwar, 2015-03-23 This study is a new exploration of Lahiri's fiction through the lens of postmodern aesthetics with reference to the main text The Lowland and the secondary text The Namesake The Lowland is a narrative of home displacement and a vague attempt of resettlement in a new world yet the prime objective of this thesis is to explore how the desire to break with the barriers of tragic past and seeking survival in another world gives a new perspective of Diaspora The Lowland and The Namesake explore the aesthetics of displacement rather than touching upon the pains of displacement and dislocation It is not the existence in the new world which causes the disaster of individuals rather it is the tragic past which destroys their lives totally Moreover the rejection of old habits traditions and conditioning and a merging with the culture of the new context is an existing issue of the post modern transcultural world The new world not only offers professional opportunity and financial betterment but also provides a chance to obliterate the haunted memories of the tragic past And immigration or displacement is a kind of rebirth in a new culture The feeling of home is like something haunting and dark which frightens the people Their quest of survival in a transcultural world and their will to sacrifice their relations for that reason is an insight into situations of fast changing social fabric in India This research explores how the male and the female agency works in order to build an individual identity and it constructs individual realities based on personal experiences of the old world and the changing perceptions of the new world

Anthropology and the Human Subject Brian Morris, 2014-04-07 The German philosopher Immanuel Kant famously defined anthropology as the study of what it means to be a human being Following in his footsteps Anthropology and the Human Subject provides a critical comprehensive and wide ranging investigation of conceptions of the human subject within the Western intellectual tradition focusing specifically on the secular trends of the twentieth century. Encyclopaedic in scope, lucidly and engagingly written, the book covers the many and varied currents of thought within this tradition. Each chapter deals with a specific intellectual paradigm ranging from Marx's historical materialism and Darwin's evolutionary naturalism and their various offshoots through to those currents of thought that were prominent in the late twentieth century such as, for example, existentialism, hermeneutics, phenomenology and poststructuralism. With respect to each current of thought, a focus is placed on their main exemplars, outlining their biographical context, their mode of social analysis and the ontology of the subject that emerges from their key texts. The book will appeal not only to anthropologists but to students and scholars within the human sciences and philosophy as well as to any person interested in the question: What does it mean to be human? Ambitious in scope and encyclopaedic in execution, his style is always lucid. He makes difficult work accessible. His prose conveys the unmistakable impression of a superb and meticulous lecturer at work. Anthony P. Cohen, Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute. There is a very little I can add to the outstanding criticism. Brian Morris, Levels at Deep Ecology. Insightful as well as incisive, I have found his writings an educational experience. Murray Bookchin, Institute of Social Ecology.
