Rowdy Rhymes:

Rowdy Rhymes and Rec-im-itations Vincent Caprani, 2011-09-09 For about 300 years Dubliners have been creating ballads rec im itations and parodies commenting in verse form with a mischievous disregard for both the laws of libel and the canons of poetry on everything from social events public affairs the city s monuments and institutions politics murder cases and sporting events to their fellow citizens and street characters Many of the ballads in addition to showing the Dubliner s instinct for the value of words and wit also provide an easily accessible guide to the ordinary occurrences of life in the city and a glimpse into traditions of the past This is the tradition in which Vincent Caprani writes So if you want to be reminded of what happened to Gough s Statue in the Phaynix Park to learn more about The Whore of Hackballscross or if you want to be entertained by pomes that are by turns funny touching and nostalgic this is the very book for you Vulgar Verse &

Facing the Other Borbála Faragó, Moynagh Sullivan, 2008-12-18 This collection offers a multi-faceted investigation of the critical issue of the creation and place of the Other in Ireland The extraordinarily rapid recent economic development of Ireland has effected a profound transformation in the island's social and cultural life In the process old verities and assumptions concerning the nature of Irish society and culture have been called into question with a whole variety of new challenges coming to light The developments of the last two decades have transformed questions of what and who constitutes the Other within Irish society but in the process older societal faultlines based on gender disability and religious difference have not disappeared and historical processes of Othering continue to play a critical role in influencing and moulding the social contours of the new Ireland of the twenty-first century Drawing on a number of different disciplinary perspectives this collection presents a number of key analyses of social and cultural practices and policies that reflect anxieties about and negotiations of these changes examining historical and contemporary representation of fears about the porousness of national borders the increasing racialization of the Irish state through social and juridical proscriptions and the popular and official narrative of progress The Bombing of Dublin's North Strand by German Luftwaffe Kevin C.
