A Second Class Citizen Lyman E. Starks, Writing Across Cultures Omar Sougou, 2021-10-25 This is a timely and comprehensive study combining various critical approaches to the fiction of Buchi Emecheta one of Africa's most illustrious and contentious women writers Feminist Showalter Cixous Kristeva and postcolonial approaches writing back are taken to Emecheta's texts to illuminate the personal political and aesthetic ramifications of the production of this born writer Poststructural programmes of analysis are shown to be less relevant to this writer's fiction than Marxist and Bakhtinian perspectives Emecheta is shown to be a bridge builder between two cultures and two worlds in narratives both challenging and popular characterized by ambiguity ambivalence and double voiced discourse all of which evince the writer's determination to expose imaginatively the colonial heritage of centre periphery conflicts cultural corruption ethnic discrimination gender oppression and the migrant experience in multiracial communities

My Time as a Second-Class Citizen E E Stevens, 2021-01-25 Prison The word conjures up thoughts of oppression violence and misery An apt description Follow along the personal experiences of a former police officer who found out firsthand what it means when the law does not factor the intent of the criminal forcing him to plead guilty to a crime that was unwittingly committed From a corrupt system to vile living conditions from apathetic corrections officers to a system that does nothing to rehabilitate men learn one man's experience just trying to survive the Michigan Department of Corrections all while keeping his sanity attempting to piece together a failing marriage and hoping to be reunited with a father he just met before it's too late 1

Alexander,2024-01-23 Black British writing in the decades after the Windrush generation was marked by a significant change more immigrant women were published in the UK in these decades than ever before This book is a collection of essays examining the texts of some of these women writers Included are essays on Black British women writers such as Warshan Shire Eintou Pearl Springer Beryl Gilroy Buchi Emecheta and Barbara Jenkins which span the literary period from the 1970s to the early 2000s The essays in this collection propose that these women writers represent the voices of another subgenre of Black British writing and they are connected through immigration or temporary migration to the UK Yet they also remain firmly attached to their geographical and cultural origins The essays included in this collection explore what it means to be a Black British woman writer and how members of this group were able to conceptualise home in their fiction Africa Wo/Man Palava Chikwenye Okonjo Ogunyemi,1996-04-15 Ogunyemi uses the novels to trace a Nigerian women s literary tradition that reflects an ideology centered on children and community Of prime importance is the paradoxical Mammywata figure the independent childless mother who serves as a basis for the postcolonial woman in the novels and in society at large Ogunyemi tracks this figure through many permutations from matriarch to writer her multiple personalities reflecting competing loyalties This sustained critical study counters prevailing masculinist theories of black literature in a powerful narrative of the Nigerian world □□□□4 shi qingyao,2024-12-09 With the appearance of the first spaceship and the discovery of hyperspace channel the distance between galaxies is no longer out of reach

Aristotle on Political Community David J. Riesbeck,2016-08-02 Aristotle's claims that man is a political animal and that political community exists for the sake of living well have frequently been celebrated by thinkers of divergent political persuasions The details of his political philosophy however have often been regarded as outmoded contradictory or pernicious This book takes on the major problems that arise in attempting to understand how the central pieces of Aristotle's political thought fit together can a conception of politics that seems fundamentally inclusive and egalitarian be reconciled with a vision of justice that seems uncompromisingly hierarchical and authoritarian Riesbeck argues that Aristotle's ideas about the distinctive nature and value of political community political authority and political participation are coherent and consistent with his aristocratic standards of justice The result is a theory that while not free of problems remains a potentially fruitful resource for contemporary thinking about the persistent problems of political life

Crisis and Creativity in the New Literatures in English ,2022-07-11 Chicago Daily News Almanac ,1918 British Experimental Women's Fiction, 1945—1975 Andrew Radford,Hannah Van Hove,2021-08-23 This book scrutinizes a range of relatively overlooked post WWII British women writers who sought to demonstrate that narrative prose fiction offered rich possibilities for aesthetic innovation What unites all the primary authors in this volume is a commitment to challenging the tenets of British mimetic realism as a literary and historical phenomenon This collection reassesses how British female novelists operated in relation to transnational vanguard networking clusters debates and tendencies both political and artistic The chapters collected in this volume enquire for example whether there is something fundamentally different or politically dissident about female experimental procedures and perspectives This book also investigates the processes of canon formation asking why in one way or another these authors have been sidelined or misconstrued by recent scholarship Ultimately it seeks to refine a new research archive on mid century British fiction by female novelists at least as diverse as recent and longer established work in the domain of modernist studies

Maternal Modernism Elizabeth Podnieks,2022-12-01 Drawing on the figure and discourses of the Victorian fin de siècle New Woman this book examines women writers who struggled with conservative patriarchal ideologies of motherhood in novels periodicals and life writings of the long modernist period It shows how these writers challenged resisted adapted and negotiated traditional ideas with their own versions of new motherhood with needs for identities and experiences beyond maternity Tracing the period from the end of the nineteenth century through the twentieth this study explores how some of the numerous elements and forces we identify with modernism are manifested in equally diverse and often competing representations of mothers mothering and motherhood It investigates how historical personages and fictional protagonists used and were constructed within textual spaces where they engaged critically with the maternal as institution identity and practice from perspectives informed by gender sexuality nationhood race and class The matrifocal literatures examined in this book exemplify how feminist motherhoods feature as a prominent thematic of the long modernist era and how rebellious New Woman mothers provocatively wrote maternity into text and history
