Joseph Husband, 1911      Stone Age without Stones Raiko Krauß, Dan Ciobotaru, 2024-10-21 This volume deals with the results of the excavations from 2010 to 2015 at the Early Neolithic settlement of Bucova Pusta IV near Săniolău Mare in northern Banat. After the end of the Early Neolithic settlement, a large burial mound was erected at this site in the early 3rd millennium BC, the main burial of which was also documented during the excavations. The site was subsequently inhabited once again during the transition from the Late Bronze Age to the Early Iron Age. In medieval times, the site served as a burial ground for a nomadic equestrian population. The flat landscape of northern Banat is characterised by numerous watercourses. This is why the utilisation of aquatic resources played an important role in the Neolithic period. Another special feature is the lack of natural stones, which is reflected in the special character of the Early Neolithic finds.      Building Superintendence for Steel Structures Edgar Stanton Belden, 1917      Structural Engineering: Loads in structures. The Long Morning of Medieval Europe Jennifer R. Davis, 2016-12-05 Recent advances in research show that the distinctive features of high medieval civilization began developing centuries earlier than previously thought. The era once dismissed as a Dark Age now turns out to have been the long morning of the medieval millennium: the centuries from AD 500 to 1000 witnessed the dawn of developments that were to shape Europe for centuries to come. In 2004, historians, archaeologists, and literary specialists from Europe and North America convened at Harvard University for an interdisciplinary conference exploring new directions in the study of that long morning of medieval Europe: the early Middle Ages. Invited to think about what seemed to each the most exciting new ways of investigating the early development of western European civilization, this impressive group of international scholars produced a wide-ranging discussion of innovative types of research that define tomorrow's field today. The contributors, many of whom rarely publish in English, test approaches extending from using ancient DNA to deducing cultural patterns signified by thousands of medieval manuscripts of saints' lives. They examine the archaeology of slave labor, economic systems, disease history, transformations of piety, the experience of power and property, exquisite literary sophistication, and the construction of the meaning of palace spaces or images of the divinity. The book illustrates in an approachable style the vitality of research into the early Middle Ages and the signal contributions of that era to the future development of western civilization. The chapters cluster around new approaches to five key themes: the early medieval economy, early medieval holiness, representation and reality in early medieval literary art, practices of power in an early medieval empire, and the intellectuality of early medieval art and architecture. Michael McCormick's brief introductions open each part of the volume; synthetic essays by accomplished specialists conclude them. The editors summarize the whole in a synoptic introduction. All Latin terms and citations and other foreign language quotations are translated, making this work accessible even to undergraduates. The Long Morning of Medieval Europe New Directions in Early Medieval Studies presents innovative research across the wide spectrum of study of the early Middle Ages. It exemplifies the promising questions and methodologies at play in the field today and the directions that beckon tomorrow.

Anglo-Saxon Keywords Allen J. Frantzen, 2012-03-08 Anglo Saxon Keywords presents a series of entries that reveal the links between modern ideas and scholarship and the central concepts of Anglo Saxon literature, language and material culture. Reveals important links between central concepts of the Anglo Saxon period and issues we think about today. Reveals how material culture, the history of labor, medicine, technology, identity, masculinity, sex, food, land use is as important as the history of ideas. Offers a richly theorized approach that intersects with many disciplines inside and outside of medieval studies.

Interdisciplinary Research into Iron Metallurgy along the Drava River in Croatia Tajana Sekelj Ivančan, Tena Karavidović, 2021-10-07 Presenting the results of the TransFER project, this study uses a wide ranging methodology to examine the evidence for and nature of iron production in the lowland area of the central Drava River basin in Croatia during late Antiquity and the early Middle Ages. The results testify to the importance and longevity of iron production in the area.

Configuring SAP ERP Financials and Controlling Peter Jones, John Burger, 2011-02-11 SAP is the world leader in Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software. Of the software's modules, the FI (Finance) and CO (Controlling) are by far the most popular and are widely implemented. This book has no competition; it is the only book on the market on how to configure and implement SAP's FI and CO modules to maximize functionality and features. Hands-on, step-by-step instructions and real world examples that provide immediate and practical solutions. Updated for SAP's ECC 6.0, the book covers FI enterprise structure, general ledger, substitutions and validations, automatic account assignments, accounts payable and receivable, asset accounting, accrual engine, closing entries, credit management, lockbox, CO enterprise structure, profitability analysis, CO PA and more.

Metropolitan Research Jens Martin Gurr, Rolf Parr, Dennis Hardt, 2022-09-01 Metropolitan research requires multidisciplinary perspectives in order to do justice to the complexities of metropolitan regions. This volume provides a scholarly and accessible overview of key methods and approaches in metropolitan research from a uniquely broad range of disciplines including architectural history, art history, heritage conservation, literary and cultural studies, spatial planning and planning theory, geoinformatics, urban sociology, economic geography, operations research, technology studies, transport planning, aquatic ecosystems research and urban epidemiology. It is this scope of disciplinary and increasingly also interdisciplinary approaches that allows metropolitan research to address recent societal challenges of urban life such as mobility, health, diversity or sustainability.
