Bernard-Donals, Michael F. Bernard-Donals, Richard R. Glejzer, 1998-01-01 In this brilliant collection literary scholars philosophers and teachers inquire into the connections between antifoundational philosophy and the rhetorical tradition What happens to literary studies and theory when traditional philosophical foundations are disavowed What happens to the study of teaching and writing when antifoundationalism is accepted What strategies for human understanding are possible when the weaknesses of antifoundationalism are identified This volume offers answers in classic essays by such thinkers as Richard Rorty Terry Eagleton and Stanley Fish and in many new essays never published before The contributors to this book explore the nexus of antifoundationalism and rhetoric critique that nexus and suggest a number of pedagogical and theoretical alternatives The editors place these statements into a context that is both critical and evaluative and they provide for voices that dissent from the antifoundational perspective and that connect specific practical pedagogies to the broader philosophical statements For those with an interest in rhetoric philosophy comparative literature or the teaching of composition this book sets forth a wealth of thought provoking ideas I have nothing but praise for this work a masterful treatment of the question What positive intellectual projects are possible within a world that radically questions the existence of philosophical foundations Steven Mailloux University of California Irvine The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1893 National Union Catalog, 1973 Includes entries for maps and atlases *Catalog of Copyright Entries.
