absence that inspired this book As Akerstrom notes betrayal is something that most people have encountered at some point in their lives She defines betrayal as a breach of trust when information is shared beyond an agreed upon boundary of relations whether that boundary is a pair of friends or a nation Taking as a point of departure Simmers work on secrets and secrecy Akerstrom discusses categories of betrayal and conditions that influence its intensity Sometimes the betrayer is seen as a hero and at other times a traitor and sometimes there are competing loyalties In certain situations she reminds us it is difficult to avoid betrayal or the perception of betrayal Akerstrom discusses strategies people employ to avoid betraying ranging from not telling to making sure one does not know about something in the first place With deft precision she clarifies distinctions and in the process broadens our understanding Initially inspired by insights arising from her research on the criminal informer for which she had done in depth interviews Akerstrom supplements these with interviews with policemen She has also drawn from her experiences in the field of social work particularly with women s and crime shelters Using biographies autobiographies and a broad range of literature related to spies World War II the McCarthy era and recent literature on whistle blowing Akerstrom has defined a fascinating theme While her illustrations are sometimes dramatic she hopes that readers will perceive obvious parallels with their own experiences Social psychologists sociologists criminologists and others interested in secrecy secrets and those who betray them to others will find this an unusual and absorbing volume

Death Row Women Mark Gado, 2007-11-30 During the 20th century only six women were legally executed by the State of New York at Sing Sing Prison In each case the condemned faced a process of demonization and public humiliation that was orchestrated by a powerful and unforgiving media When compared to the media treatment of men who went to the electric chair for similar offenses the press coverage of female killers was ferocious and unrelenting Granite woman black eyed Borgia roadhouse tramp sex mad and lousy prostitute are just some of the terms used by newspapers to describe these women Unlike their male counterparts females endured a campaign of expulsion and disgrace before they were put to death Not since the 1950s has New York put another woman to death Gado chronicles the crimes the times and the media attention surrounding these cases The tales of these death row women shed light on the death penalty as it applies to women and the role of the media in both the trials and executions of these convicts In these cases the press affected the prosecutions the judgements and the decisions of authorities along the way Contemporary headlines of the era are revealing in their blatant bias and leave little doubt of their purpose Using family letters prison correspondence photographs court transcripts and last minute pleas for mercy Gado paints a fuller picture of these cases and the times
