Sex Inequalities In Urban Employment In The Third World:

Sex Inequalities in Urban Employment in the Third World Richard Anker, Catherine Hein, 1986-11-10 Extrait du revers de couverture Great inequality exists between men and women with respect to occupations career paths and earnings This volume presents an overview of the current situation on developing countries along with results from ILO UNFPA Insights are provided into the disadvantages women on the Third World face in the employment market based on this unique set of interviews with several thousand employers male employees and female employees which reveal why factors such as recruitment wages promotion absenteeism and turnover differ by sex of worker

Women in the Third World Lynne Brydon, 1989 Women in the Third World provides an up to date general account and review of research on the roles and status of women in contemporary Third World societies The book focuses on four major themes of underdevelopment which have particular relevance for gender roles and relations the household production reproduction and policy These issues are illustrated with material from rural and urban areas in all parts of the Third World The book summarizes significant ideas and findings Lynne Brydon and Sylvia Chang have avoided a narrow focus on particular regions and countries to provide a synoptic overview In addition to being a valuable source of reference for scholars interested in gender and development in the Third World the book also attempts to pinpoint fundamental aspects of gender inequality which apply to women everywhere The overriding conclusion of the book is that women s experiences of development are generally negative and that intervention is urgently required to prevent their positions relative to men s deteriorating still further

Sex Inequalities in Urban Employment in the Third World Richard Anker, Catherine Hein, 1986 Gender Inequality in the Labour Market Janet Siltanen, Jennifer Jarman, Robert Martin Blackburn, International Labour Office, 1995 This user friendly manual which can be used as a self learning or as a teaching tool guides readers through all stages in producing data on occupational concentration and segregation It clarifies concepts and measures discusses quality and availability of information and reviews various methodological tools using well known statistical software packages It should be of interest to researchers and analysts of occupational data

Women's Work And Child Welfare In The Third World Joanne Leslie, 2021-11-18 Recent trends in women s work and child survival and development in developing countries raise concerns about the relationship between these two key elements of development This paper reviews and analyzes the methodology and findings of 50 studies of both women s work and infant feeding practices and women s work and child nutritional status Although the pattern of findings is complex and occasionally contradictory the paper concludes that overall there is little evidence of a negative effect of maternal employment on child nutrition and therefore no justification for limiting women s labor force participation on the grounds of promoting child welfare

Women and Development in the Third World Janet Momsen, 2008-02-21 For all societies the common denominator of gender is female subordination For women of the Third World the effects of this position are worsened by economic crisis the legacy of colonialism as well as patriarchal attitudes and economic crises Feminist critique has introduced the gender factor to development theory arguing that the equal distribution of the benefits of economic development can only be achieved through a radical restructuring of the process of development This important new book reviews both policy and practice in Latin America Africa and Asia and raises thought provoking questions concerning the role of development planning and the empowerment of women

Reversed Realities Naila Kabeer,1994-07-17 A dynamic reassessment of development theory with a focus on gender this book examines alternative frameworks for analyzing gender hierarchies identifies the household as the primary site for the construction of power relations assesses the inadequacy of the poverty line as a measuring tool and provides a critical overview of population control
