New Feminist Criticism Art Identity Action:

New Feminist Criticism Joanna Frueh, Cassandra L. Langer, Arlene Raven, 1994-01-02 Perspectives On Western Art Linnea Wren, 2018-02-22 This anthology of readings related to Western art history explains specific works of art illustrated in Janson's History of Art and De la Croix and Tansey's Gardner's Art Through the Ages in terms of the ideas, beliefs, and concerns of the people and cultures who created the art. It brings a new understanding of art because it shows the social and cultural basis of major works of art through history. The ten sections are Ancient Near East, Egyptian, Aegean, Greek, Etruscan, Roman, early Christian, Byzantine, and Islamic, early Medieval, Romanesque, and Gothic. The readings have been drawn from many areas of intellectual and social history, including religion, philosophy, literature, science, economics, and law. Each selection is preceded by an introductory note which discusses the readings in terms of its subject and theme, its source, and usage, and its relevance to the study of the work of art.

Renaissance And Renascences In Western Art Erwin Panofsky, 2018-05-04 Renaissance and Renascences in Western Art spans the period from the 10th to the 15th century, including discussion of the Carolingian renaissance and the 12th-century proto renaissance. Erwin Panofsky posits that there were renaissances prior to the widely known Renaissance that began in Italy in the 14th century. Whereas earlier renaissances can be classified as revivals, the Renaissance was a unique instance that led to a wider cultural transformation.

Practice as Research Estelle Barrett, Barbara Bolt, 2014-06-10 Practice-led research is a burgeoning area across the creative arts, with studio-informed doctorates frequently favoured over traditional approaches to research. Practice as Research Approaches to Creative Arts Enquiry is specifically designed as a training tool and is structured on the model used by most research programmes. A comprehensive introduction lays out the book's framework, and individual chapters provide concrete examples of studio-based research in art, film, and video, creative writing, and dance. Comprehensive in its approach, the volume draws on thinkers including Deleuze, Bourdieu, and Heidegger in its examination of the relationship between practice and theory, demonstrating how practice can operate as a valid alternative mode of enquiry to traditional scholarship.

Lynda Benglis Susan Richmond, 2015-03-13 In four decades of abstract art practice, Lynda Benglis has not merely challenged the status quo. She has tied it in knots, melted it down, and poured it across the floor, cast it in glass, clay, and bronze. Daring and sometimes outrageous, her intense and provocative practice has produced some of the most iconic pieces of art from the late twentieth century. Richmond gives serious critical attention to work often dismissed as trivial and rootless, recovering the themes that link the different phases of the artist's quest to capture the frozen gesture. Whether challenging popular tastes and definitions of art with her 1970s abstract knotwork or mocking puritanical aesthetics of gender with her colourful latex pourings and their allusions to corporeal topographies, Benglis never failed to provoke. Her sculptures commemorate and celebrate the processes of creation themselves, combining architectonic abstraction and feminized sensuality in a haunting, visceral theme of the strangeness of the body that runs through all her experiments in glass, video, metals, ceramics, gold leaf.

paper and plastics Lynda Benglis Beyond Process examines in depth the work and critical neglect of an artist who perhaps more than any of her contemporaries changed the face of American art in the 1960s and 1970s and continues to fetishise provoke and demand your attention Pictures of People Pamela Allara,2000 A vibrant chronicle of the life and work of a prolific painter and bohemian eccentric

Critical Condition Susan Gubar, 2000-03-07 Is feminism dead as has been claimed by notable members of the media and the academy Has feminist knowledge with its proliferation of methodologies and fields been purchased at the price of power Are the conflicts among feminists evidence of self destructive infighting or do they herald the emergence of innovative modes of inquiry Given a feminism now ensconced within higher education as specialized or fractious scholarship Susan Gubar's Critical Condition Feminism at the Turn of the Century demonstrates that an invigorated concentration on activism and artistry can accentuate not the clinical or disparaging meaning of critical but its sense of compelling urgency and irreverent vitality As a pioneer of feminist studies and the object of some of the more rancorous criticism lodged against early feminist scholars Gubar stands in a unique position to comment on current dilemmas Moving beyond defensiveness produced by generational rivalry the impasse propagated by smug deployments of identity politics and the obscurity of poststructuralist theory she claims that the very controversies that undermine feminism's unity also prove its resilience Gubar begins by considering the volatile impact of gender on recent redefinitions of race sexuality religion and class proposed by four important groups in contemporary feminism African American performance and visual artists lesbian creative writers Jewish American women and newly institutionalized female academics She then addresses major divisions including the rifts between various area studies and women's studies as well as strains between generations that both threaten and invigorate feminist inquiry Gubar's forays into art and activism politics and the profession provide a sometimes distressing sometimes comical sometimes optimistic view of feminism emerging from a time of contention into a lively period of pluralized perspectives and disciplines

Back to the Drawing Board Njoki Nathani Wane, Katerina Deliovsky, Erica Lawson, 2002 What are the fundamental tenets of African Canadian feminism What are the elements of feminist theory that have contributed to African Canadian feminist thought African American feminists have influenced thinking and writing in Canada As well Black Canadian feminists have published on a wide range of issues relating to Black women's lives history and experience Back to the Drawing Board builds on this existing literature and maps out a new space in which to articulate a stronger vision of African Canadian feminism While the essays focus on key concepts and debates that underlie Black feminist theory and challenge the dominant structures that continue to exclude Black women the objective is to bring the plurality of African Canadian women's voices and experiences into the centre of analysis To accomplish this the editors draw on different theories and insights The fourteen contributors come from different race and gender backgrounds and are committed to creating an empowering space where Black women can speak to and about each other and find a home for their words They write on the subjects of Black Canadian feminist thought African Canadian feminist historiography Black feminist political activism white mainstream feminism as a liberatory movement Black women in the white feminism and anti racist education Native education and spirituality that form and shape identity how the media and law construct Black identity the social consequences of interracial relationships Includes a Glossary Bibliography and Index Back to the Drawing Board initiates a dialogue critical for defining feminisms that validate the contributions and experiences of African Canadian women

Watching Rape Sarah Projansky, 2001-08-01 Looking at popular culture from 1980 to the present feminism appears to be over that is according to popular critics we are in an era of postfeminism in which feminism has supposedly already achieved equality for women Not so says Sarah Projansky In Watching Rape Projansky undermines this complacent view in her fascinating and thorough analysis of depictions of rape in U S film television and independent video Through a cultural studies analysis of such films as Thelma and Louise Daughters of the Dust and She's Gotta Have It and television shows like ER Ally McBeal Beverly Hills 90210 and various made for tv movies Projansky challenges us to see popular culture as a part of our everyday lives and practices and to view that culture critically How have media defined rape and feminism differently over time How do popular narratives about rape also communicate ideas about gender race class nationality and sexuality And what is the future of feminist politics theory and criticism with regard to issues of sexual violence postfeminism and popular media The first study to address the relationship between rape and postfeminism and one of the most detailed and thorough analyses of rape in 25 years Watching Rape is a crucial contribution to contemporary feminism

The Happy Stripper Jacki Willson, 2007-11-06 If the burlesque stripper with her bawdy spirit and unruly insubordination has emerged for many as a new empowering model for the sexually aware woman then she also strikes horror in the heart of second wave feminism Embodied by high profile artistes such as Dita von Teese and Catherine D Lish the explosive revival of striptease burlesque and overt female sexual performance has proved no less alluring to a new generation of women artists familiar with the provocative work of 70's performance artists such as Hannah Wilke and Carolee Schneeman Eloquent on prettiness and power desire and knowingness money sex and class and with an extensive knowledge of burlesque's rich tradition Willson raises long overdue questions about women's erotic expression within a postfeminist condition The new burlesque demands above all a response this fresh brazen provocative book at last provides it
