Rewriting the Newspaper Thomas R. Schmidt, 2019-06-19 Between the 1970s and the 1990s American journalists began telling the news by telling stories They borrowed narrative techniques transforming sources into characters events into plots and their own work from stenography to anthropology This was more than a change in style It was a change in substance a paradigmatic shift in terms of what constituted news and how it was being told It was a turn toward narrative journalism and a new culture of news propelled by the storytelling movement Thomas Schmidt analyzes the expansion of narrative journalism and the corresponding institutional changes in the American newspaper industry in the last quarter of the twentieth century In doing so he offers the first institutionally situated history of narrative journalism s evolution from the New Journalism of the 1960s to long form literary journalism in the 1990s Based on the analysis of primary sources industry publications and oral history interviews this study traces how narrative techniques developed and spread through newsrooms advanced by institutional initiatives and a growing network of practitioners proponents and writing coaches who mainstreamed the use of storytelling Challenging the popular belief that it was only a few talented New York reporters Tome Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Joan Didion and others who revolutionized journalism by deciding to employ storytelling techniques in their writing Schmidt shows that the evolution of narrative in late twentieth century American Journalism was more nuanced more purposeful and more institutionally based than the New Journalism myth suggests

The Gang That Wouldn't Write Straight Marc Weingarten, 2010-03-31 In Cold Blood The Electric Kool Aid Acid Test Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas Slouching Towards Bethlehem The Armies of the Night Starting in 1965 and spanning a ten year period a group of writers including Tom Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Hunter S Thompson Joan Didion John Sack and Michael Herr emerged and joined a few of their pioneering elders including Truman Capote and Norman Mailer to remake American letters The perfect chroniclers of an age of frenzied cultural change they were blessed with the insight that traditional tools of reporting would prove inadequate to tell the story of a nation manically hopscotching from hope to doom and back again from war to rock assassination to drugs hippies to Yuppies Kennedy to the dark lord Nixon Traditional just the facts reporting simply couldn t provide a neat and symmetrical order to this chaos Marc Weingarten has interviewed many of the major players to provide a startling behind the scenes account of the rise and fall of the most revolutionary literary outpouring of the postwar era set against the backdrop of some of the most turbulent and significant

years in contemporary American life These are the stories behind those stories from Tom Wolfe s white suited adventures in the counterculture to Hunter S Thompson s drug addled invention of gonzo to Michael Herr s redefinition of war reporting in the hell of Vietnam Weingarten also tells the deeper backstory recounting the rich and surprising history of the editors and the magazines who made the movement possible notably the three greatest editors of the era Harold Hayes at Esquire Clay Felker at New York and Jann Wenner at Rolling Stone And finally Weingarten takes us through the demise of the New Journalists a tragedy of hubris miscalculation and corporate menacing This is the story of perhaps the last great good time in American journalism a time when writers didn t just cover stories but immersed themselves in them and when journalism didn t just report America but reshaped it Within a seven year period a group of writers emerged seemingly out of nowhere Tom Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Hunter S Thompson Joan Didion John Sack Michael Herr to impose some order on all of this American mayhem each in his or her own distinctive manner a few old hands like Truman Capote and Norman Mailer chipped in as well They came to tell us stories about ourselves in ways that we couldn t stories about the way life was being lived in the sixties and seventies and what it all meant to us The stakes were high deep fissures were rending the social fabric the world was out of order So they became our master explainers our town criers even our moral conscience the New Journalists from the Introduction

Factual Fictions Leonora Flis,2010-08-11 Factual Fictions Narrative Truth and the Contemporary American Documentary Novel focuses on contemporary American documentary narratives specifically the documentary novel as it re emerged in the 1960s and later developed into various other forms The book explores the connections between the documentary novel and the concurrent rise of New Journalism a k a literary journalism in the United States situating the two genres in the cultural context of the tumultuous 1960s and an emerging postmodern ethos Flis makes a comprehensive analysis of texts by Truman Capote Norman Mailer John Berendt and Don DeLillo while tackling discussions on various theoretical complexities with assurance and rigor Interested in the precarious divide between fact and fiction the author productively complicates traditional notions of the two poles Furthermore the book examines parallels between contemporary Slovene documentary narratives and their American counterparts Flis s work with its systematic and innovative approach to the subject matter adds an important historical dimension to the developing field of literary journalism studies as well as to the more established area of 20th Century American literature

Narrative Means to Journalistic Ends Nora Berning,2010-11-01 Nora Berning grasps the narrative potential of journalistic reportages via a set of narratological categories Spurred by an interdisciplinary framework she builds on transgeneric narratological research and shows that journalistic reportages can be described analyzed and charted with categories that originate in structuralist narratology The author spells out minimal criteria for particular types of reportages and challenges the argument that journalism and literature have distinct non overlapping communicative goals By showing that the reportage is a hybrid text type that seeks to inform educate and entertain this study advances a re conceptualization of journalism and literature as two fields with permeable borders

Baby Boomers and Popular Culture Brian Cogan,Thom Gencarelli Ph.D.,2014-11-25 The Boomers are the generation that changed everything from economics to politics to popular culture This book examines the myriad ways and long reaching consequences of the now fully grown up Baby Boomer generation on America Once upon a time the members of the Baby Boomer generation were young idealistic and hungry to change the world And they did create sweeping irreversible changes throughout American society but probably not in the ways their younger selves imagined they would Now that the Boomers are in their late adult or retirement years their tremendous legacy can clearly be perceived In retrospect the paths the members of this generation took to come to power and how they came to terms with that power are also apparent This single volume work supplies a broad yet detailed critical guide to the Boomer Generation containing essays on key people moments and phenomena not only during the Boomers 1960s heyday but also their extensive influences on American culture decades afterward The contributors address key topics such as the rise of feminism Civil Rights the Vietnam War and the anti war movement the Beatles the Grateful Dead and rock n roll gay rights idealism narcissism and materialism the influence of television on America and vice versa and the transition of Boomers from being Yuppies to Yuppies This work is an ideal text for students in undergraduate or graduate courses in television studies media studies cultural studies and American studies and is highly appropriate as a supplemental text in literature history and philosophy surveys

The South African Short Story in English, 1920-2010 Marta Fossati, 2024-09-05 Through detailed close readings alongside investigations into the history of print culture Marta Fossati traces the development of the South African short story in English from the late 1920s to the first decade of the twenty first century She examines a selection of short stories by important Black South African writers Rolfes and Herbert Dhlomo Peter Abrahams Can Themba Alex La Guma Mtutuzeli Matshoba Ahmed Essop and Zo Wicomb with an alertness to the dialogue between ethics and aesthetics performed by these texts This new history of Black short fiction problematises and interrogates the often polarised readings of Black literature in South Africa that can be torn between notions of literariness protest and journalism Due to material constraints short fiction in South Africa circulated first and foremost through local print media which Fossati analyses in detail to show the cross fertilisation between journalism and the short story While rooted in the South African context the short stories considered also hold a translocal dimension allowing us to explore the ethical and aesthetic practice of intertextuality These are writings that complicate the aesthetics ethics binary generic classifications and the categories of the literary and the political Theoretically eclectic in its approach although largely underpinned by a narratological analysis The South African Short Story in English 1920 2010 When Aesthetics Meets Ethics offers a fresh perspective on the South African short story in English spotlighting several hitherto marginalised figures in South African literary studies
