New Dimensions Of The European Landscape:

The New Dimensions of the European Landscapes R.H.G Jongman, 2005-05-09 The European Landscape is under stress of changing land use and a changing attitude of its users Globalization the disappearance of the iron curtain and the recent EU enlargement to 25 countries have changed the economic and environmental dimensions of Europe Europe is changing its face from a western and eastern part to one European Union and to fast connections between its centres of activity The rural and cultural heritage of Europe has to be adapted to cope with this change However its landscape is worth to be conserved as well because it represents the European history in the same way as castles and churches It even more represents the history of the common people because it has been the tradition of the rural population that made these landscapes It cannot be prevented that Europe is changing and it is good that Europe adapts to the new dimensions of the world We in Europe have to define what we think is important and what must be conserved what can be adapted to be used for new functions and what can be abolished because it has no value These decisions will determine the new dimensions of the European landscapes The Frontis Workshop on the New Dimensions of the European Landscape was held on 10 12 June 2002

Wageningen University and Research Centre organized this workshop aiming to develop visions on the landscape in Europe its development and design in the future and to strengthen the international network in landscape planning The New Dimensions of the European Landscapes R.H.G Jongman, 2004-12-09 The European Landscape is under stress of changing land use and a changing attitude of its users Globalization the disappearance of the iron curtain and the recent EU enlargement to 25 countries have changed the economic and environmental dimensions of Europe Europe is changing its face from a western and eastern part to one European Union and to fast connections between its centres of activity The rural and cultural heritage of Europe has to be adapted to cope with this change However its landscape is worth to be conserved as well because it represents the European history in the same way as castles and churches It even more represents the history of the common people because it has been the tradition of the rural population that made these landscapes It cannot be prevented that Europe is changing and it is good that Europe adapts to the new dimensions of the world We in Europe have to define what we think is important and what must be conserved what can be adapted to be used for new functions and what can be abolished because it has no value These decisions will determine the new dimensions of the European landscapes The Frontis Workshop on the New Dimensions of the European Landscape was held on 10 12 June 2002

European Landscape Convention Michael Jones, Marie Stenseke, 2011-02-09 This important and insightful book provides for the first time a broad presentation of ongoing research into public participation in landscape conservation management and planning following the 2000 European Landscape Convention which came into force in 2004 The book examines both the theory of participation and what lessons can be learnt from specific European examples It explores in what manner and to what extent the provisions for participation in the European Landscape Convention have been followed up and implemented It also presents and compares different experiences of participation in selected countries from northern southern eastern and western Europe and provides a critical examination of public participation in practice However while the book s focus is necessarily on Europe many of the conclusions drawn are of global relevance The book provides a valuable reference for researchers and advanced students in landscape policies and management as well as for professionals and others interested in land use planning and environmental management

Europe's Living Landscapes Bas Pedroli, Anne van Doorn, Geert de Blust, 2014-12-22 This book is the result of three symposia of the Dutch Society for Landscape Ecology The first symposium in 2005 was about the National Ecological Network in the Netherlands The reason was that the implementation of the NEN decided upon in 1990 was halfway The second symposium in 2006 was about urban ecology and the third one to be held in 2007 will be about civil infrastructure This book does not cover the conferences completely and new contributions are added The three themes are important contexts in which landscape ecologists do their research and apply their knowledge and skills Of course there are many more subjects to hold conferences about for example climate change urbanisation agriculture landscape ecology itself etc The focus of the conferences is on the Netherlands with its urbanisation intensive land use and water management as characteristic features Although many WLO members do their work abroad or in an international context these conferences offer a window on what happens in the Dutch context The experiences may be of value for other contexts and that is why we present the results in English The selected themes and the focus on the Dutch context are serious demarcations of what landscape ecology in the Netherlands is all about The book does not represent all research and applications of landscape ecology

European Landscapes in Transition Teresa Pinto-Correia, Jørgen Primdahl, Bas Pedroli, 2018-01-25 European rural landscapes as we experience them today are the result of ongoing processes and interactions between nature and society These are changing fast the future landscapes will be different from those we know currently Written for academics policy makers and practitioners this book is the first to explore the complex histories of rural landscapes in Europe as a basis for their sound governance in future Tensions between the needs of agricultural spaces driven by economic incentives and a variety of non agricultural functions are explored to demonstrate current challenges and the shortfalls in the policies that address them Using inspiring case studies that highlight the roles of regional agents and communities the authors go further than the usual analyses to illustrate the importance of local context Written by experts currently working to revitalise the rural landscapes of Europe the text concludes with suggestions for improving landscape policy and planning practice

Landscape Perspectives Marc Antrop, Veerle Van Eetvelde, 2017-12-19 Climb a mountain and experience the landscape Try to grasp its holistic nature Do not climb alone but with others and share your experience Be sure the ways of seeing the landscape will be very different We experience the landscape with all senses as a complex dynamic and hierarchically structured whole The landscape is tangible out there and simultaneously a mental reality Several perspectives are obvious because of language culture and background Many disciplines developed to study the landscape focussing on specific interest groups and applications Gradually the holistic way of seeing became lost This book explores the different perspectives on the landscape in relation to its holistic nature We start from its multiple linguistic meanings and a comprehensive overview of the development of landscape research from its geographical origins to the wide variety of today's specialised disciplines and interest groups Understanding the different perspectives on the landscapes and bringing them together is essential in transdisciplinary approaches where the landscape is the integrating concept

Planning at the Landscape Scale Paul Selman, 2006-11-22 Traditionally landscape planning has involved the designation and protection of exceptional countryside However whilst this still remains important there is a growing recognition of the multi functionality of rural areas and the need to encourage sustainable use of the whole countryside rather than just its hotspots With an interdisciplinary assessment of the rural environment this book draws on theories of landscape values people place relationships sustainable development and plan implementation It focuses on the competing influences of globalization and localization seeing the role of planning as the reconciliation of these conflicting demands reinforcing character and distinctiveness without museumizing rural areas Taking a landscape scale approach to the topic this book responds to the interest sparked by concern for rural landscapes and by recent local and national policy shifts in this area

Island Landscapes Gloria Pungetti, 2016-11-10 Island Landscapes takes a critical look at the evolution of European islandscapes and seascapes to examine the conditions facing them in the twenty first century Considering island landscapes as an expression of European culture this book envisages future trends and presents clearly the need to find a balance between preservation and development to ensure sustainability Both large and small islands are illustrated in the book including the British Isles Malta and Cyprus as well as archipelagos in Norway Italy and Greece Their unique identities and values reveal the remarkable breadth of cultural heritage possessed by these diverse European islands An interdisciplinary approach is applied to the history perception characterisation and planning of islandscapes and seascapes in Europe to support culturally oriented strategies for these fragile landscapes

Natural Heritage Peter Howard, Thymio Papayannis, 2013-10-18 It has become more and more accepted that nature conservation is not possible without taking into account human activities Thus an integrated approach to both the natural and cultural heritage is being encouraged and developed Gathering a number of distinguished authors with diverse backgrounds from a religious leader to academics to conservation scientists the book aims to investigate the relationship between human beings and nature between nature and culture Looking at nature as heritage of the human race is a recognition both of the tremendous impacts both positive and negative that human activities have had on the natural environment as well as the acceptance of human responsibility for managing our planet in a sustainable and sensitive manner The texts included examine this interface between human beings and nature in specific places from the

Everglades in Florida and Mont Saint Michel in Atlantic France to the UK Europe and the Mediterranean as well as on a theoretical basis and in the context of the international biodiversity conventions The Carpathians: Integrating Nature and Society Towards Sustainability Jacek Kozak,Katarzyna Ostapowicz,Andrzej Bytnerowicz,Bartłomiej Wyżga,2013-04-15 The book includes a broad spectrum of perspectives from different scientific disciplines both the natural and social sciences as well as practical knowledge It gives a new insight into the Carpathian mountain region Landscape and Sustainability John Benson,Maggie Roe,2007-08-07 This unique book addresses the issue of sustainability from the point of view of landscape architecture dealing with professional practices of planners designers and landscape managers This second edition contains updated and new material reflecting developments during the last five years and comprehensively addresses the relationship between landscape architecture and sustainability Much in the text is underpinned by landscape ecology in contrast to the idea of landscape as only appealing to the eye or aspiring cerebrally to be fine art Landscape and Sustainability establishes that the sustainability agenda needs a new mindset among professionals the driving question must always be is it sustainable Developing theory into practice from the global to the local scale and from issues of policy and planning through to detailed design and implementation and on to long term maintenance and management the contributors raise and re examine a complex array of research policy and professional issues and agendas to contribute to the necessary ongoing debate about the future of both landscape and sustainability Livestock in a Changing Landscape, Volume 1 Henning Steinfeld,Harold A. Mooney,Fritz Schneider,Laurie E. Neville,2013-03-06 The rapidly changing nature of animal production systems especially increasing intensification and globalization is playing out in complex ways around the world Over the last century livestock keeping evolved from a means of harnessing marginal resources to produce items for local consumption to a key component of global food chains Livestock in a Changing Landscape offers a comprehensive examination of these important and far reaching trends The books are an outgrowth of a collaborative effort involving international nongovernmental organizations including the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization UN FAO the International Livestock Research Institute ILRI the Swiss College of Agriculture SHL the French Agricultural Research Centre for International Development CIRAD and the Scientific Committee for Problems of the Environment SCOPE Volume 1 examines the forces shaping change in livestock production and management the resulting impacts on landscapes land use and social systems and potential policy and management responses Volume 2 explores needs and draws experience from region specific contexts and detailed case studies The case studies describe how drivers and consequences of change play out in specific geographical areas and how public and private responses are shaped and implemented Together the volumes present new sustainable approaches to the challenges created by fundamental shifts in livestock management and production and represent an essential resource for policy makers industry managers and academics involved with this issue Placemaking and Cultural Landscapes Rana P. B. Singh,Olimpia Niglio,Pravin S. Rana,2023-02-07 Placemaking and cultural landscapes are worldwide multidisciplinary global concerns that cover many points of view of the common impacts of socio economic cultural and rights jurisprudence planning wellbeing and related advancements Concerned with the complex interactions between the development and environment of those factors it is important to seek ways paths and implications for framing sustainability in all social activities This book is mostly based on the 10th ACLA Asian Cultural Landscape Association International Webinar Symposium that took place during September 26 27 2020 in the Banaras Hindu University Varanasi India It examines contemporary social cultural issues in the context of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals UN SDGs and associated cultural and sacred landscapes There the emphasis is on awakening deeper cultural sensitivity in harmonizing the world and the role of society and spiritual systems drawing upon multi disciplinary and cross cultural interfaces all within the scope of the future of the earth The book s chapters add a new dimension of cultural understanding in the broad domain of emerging human geoscience considered as key policy science for contributing towards sustainability and survivability science together with future earth initiatives

Renewable Energies and European Landscapes Marina Frolova, María-José Prados, Alain Nadaï, 2015-06-09 This book provides timely multidisciplinary cross national comparison of the institutional and social processes through which renewable energy landscapes have emerged in Southern Europe On the basis of case studies in these countries it analyzes the way in which and the extent to which the development of renewable energies has affected landscape forms and whether or not it has contributed to a reformulation of landscape practices and values in these countries Landscape is conceived broadly as a material social political and historical process embedded into the local realm going beyond aesthetic The case studies analyze renewable energy landscapes in Southern Europe on different political and geographical scales and compare different types of renewable energy such as wind hydro solar and biomass power The contributors are leading experts from Spain France Italy and Portugal The book is intended for researchers graduate students and professionals interested in geography landscape and planning

Trees, Forested Landscapes and Grazing Animals Ian D. Rotherham, 2013 In this comprehensive book the critical components of the European landscape forest parkland and other grazed landscapes with trees are addressed The book considers the history of grazed treed landscapes of large grazing herbivores in Europe and the implications of the past in shaping our environment today and in the future Debates on the types of anciently grazed landscapes in Europe and what they tell us about past and present ecology have been especially topical and controversial recently This treatment brings the current discussions and the latest research to a much wider audience The book breaks new ground in broadening the scope of wood pasture and woodland research to address sites and ecologies that have previously been overlooked but which hold potential keys to understanding landscape dynamics Eminent contributors including Oliver Rackham and Frans Vera present a text which addresses the importance of history in understanding the past landscape and the relevance of historical ecology and landscape studies in providing a future vision

Urban Ecology Kevin J. Gaston, 2010 This is the urban century in which for the first time the majority of people live in towns and cities Understanding how people influence and are influenced by the green component of these environments is therefore of enormous significance Providing an overview of the essentials of urban ecology the book begins by covering the vital background concepts of the urbanisation process and the effect that it can have on ecosystem functions and services Later sections are devoted to examining how species respond to urbanisation the many facets of human ecology interactions and the issues surrounding urban planning and the provision of urban green spaces Drawing on examples from urban settlements around the world it highlights the progress to date in this burgeoning field as well as the challenges that lie ahead Provided by publisher Geographies of Religious Spaces and Sacred Landscapes Darius

Liutikas,2025-07-15 This illuminating book explores the pivotal role of sacred landscapes in today's globalized world analysing the latest research of how political social and historical factors influence their creation preservation and transformation It examines the significance of sacred landscapes in shaping social identity and community history providing valuable insights into their rich heritage and evolving traditions Demographic Change in Australia's Rural Landscapes

Gary W. Luck,Digby Race,Rosemary Black,2010-11-30 The distribution and re distribution of people across the landscape has significant implications for ecological economic and social dynamics Movement of people to urban centres mostly from rural landscapes especially in the developing world is a major global phenomenon This can result in the depopulation of rural landscapes Conversely population growth and a changing demographic profile have been identified for particular rural landscapes with notable examples from North America Europe and Australia Yet we know little of the factors that drive demographic changes in rural landscapes and even less about the implications of these changes This book examines broad and local scale patterns of demographic change in rural landscapes identifies some of the drivers of these changes using Australian case studies or comparisons between Australian and international contexts and outlines the implications of changes for society and the environment This book makes a valuable contribution to the literature because it adopts an integrated and interdisciplinary approach by explicitly linking demographic change with environmental land use social and economic factors This integrated approach was achieved by encouraging interaction among authors writing on similar topics to ensure coherency and complementarity among chapters and cross pollination of ideas and perspectives Chapters are presented as interactive and reflective discussions that address the findings of other contributors yet each chapter contains enough background to stand alone as a unique contribution Towards Sustainable Rural Regions in Europe John M.

Bryden,Sophia Efstratoglou,Tibor Ferenczi,Karlheinz Knickel,Tom Johnson,Karen Refsgaard,Kenneth J. Thomson,2012-03-28 This book presents the methodology and results of a three year eleven country science to policy research project Toward a Policy Model of Multifunctional Agriculture and Rural Development undertaken between 2005 and 2008 and financed under the European Union's Sixth Framework program It deals with an important contemporary policy issue how best to ensure that an agriculturally based policy can contribute to the development of rural regions It tackles this problem in a number of different but complementary ways primarily by the development of a unique and innovative dynamic systems model POMMARD a Policy Model of Multifunctional Agriculture and Rural Development Urban Ecology Jari Niemelä, Jürgen H. Breuste, Glenn Guntenspergen, Nancy E. McIntyre, Thomas Elmqvist, Philip James, 2011-11-17 Urbanization is a global phenomenon that is increasingly challenging human society It is therefore crucially important to ensure that the relentless expansion of cities and towns proceeds sustainably Urban ecology the interdisciplinary study of ecological patterns and processes in towns and cities is a rapidly developing field that can provide a scientific basis for the informed decision making and planning needed to create both viable and sustainable cities Urban Ecology brings together an international team of leading scientists to discuss our current understanding of all aspects of urban environments from the biology of the organisms that inhabit them to the diversity of ecosystem services and human social issues encountered within urban landscapes The book is divided into five sections with the first describing the physical urban environment Subsequent sections examine ecological patterns and processes within the urban setting followed by the integration of ecology with social issues The book concludes with a discussion of the applications of urban ecology to land use planning The emphasis throughout is on what we actually know as well as what we should know about the complexities of social ecological systems in urban areas in order to develop urban ecology as a rigorous scientific discipline
