Publication ,1994 Engineering News-record ,1921 Waterloo Sunrise John Davis,2024-03-26 This is an urban history of London during the pivotal years of the 1960s and 1970s when the metropolis was transformed from an industrial city that the Victorians might have recognised to an embryonic modern world city Previous work on London in these years has tended to focus upon the 1960s in particular the Swinging London phenomenon Mary Quant Carnaby Street and the King s Road Chelsea all appear in these pages but it is argued that the swinging moment of the mid sixties was a passing symptom of a much broader transformation from an industrial to a service based city and it is that transformation which this book examines London is too complex and diverse a city to be comprehended in a simple linear narrative this book adopts instead an innovative approach to urban history by which London life and London s transformation are examined through a number of case studies looking at specific themes and areas of the city Consumerism and the experience economy home ownership and gentrification deindustrialisation and deprivation racial tension and unemployment the attrition of public services and the steady loss of confidence in public agencies national and local emerge as overarching themes from the individual case studies in this book Their combined effect it is argued was to prepare the ground for the Britain that Margaret Thatcher is usually held to have created after 1979 without Thatcher herself having anything to do it The Enterprise Culture and the Inner City Nicholas Deakin, John Edwards, 2005-06-28 Offers a vigorous and critical investigation of government policy for inner city regeneration during the 1980s and 90s and in light of Canary Wharf presents a credible prediction for the future or lack of of the inner city The Ecclesiologist ,1845 Heritage Politics in Adelaide Sharon Mosler, Sharon Ann Mosler, 2011 In the 1970s the Australian Commonwealth Government and three States Victoria 1974 New South Wales 1977 and South Australia 1978 passed legislation to protect the built heritage within their jurisdictions The legislation was primarily a response to two factors a large number of public protests against the demolition of historic buildings in all Australian states by the 1970s and the influence of the UNESCO World Heritage Convention which the Whitlam Government 1972 75 embraced enthusiastically The other states with governments that were more influenced by development interests were slow to follow the federal lead In this study Sharon Mosler examines heritage issues and conflicts in Adelaide from enactment of the first South Australian Heritage Act in 1978 to its successor in 1993 and also analyses issues leading from that period into the twenty first century State legislation introduced by the Labor government of Premier Mike Rann 2002 present has affected the built environment significantly since this book began The Rann government has given the built heritage a low priority in its strategic plan compared to population growth while the Adelaide City Council has become more balanced in the past decade although the council too has focussed on increasing Adelaides population The result has been more high rise buildings at the expense of heritage conservation and historic precincts
