New Forms Of Work Organization In Europe:

New Forms of Work Organization in Europe Peter Grootings, Bjørn Gustavsen, Lajos Hécthy, A remarkable development in the sociology of work in recent years has been the explosion of brilliant cross national and cross cultural studies in Europe examining the conditions of labor against the background of different economic systems and differences within each of the major free market mixed welfare and planned economic systems that dot the European landscape In Vienna and Budapest in particular a group of intellectual workers have gotten together for what can only be described as breakthrough studies in the conditions and purposes of work in post industrial society The question of new forms of work organization focuses on job satisfaction participatory democracy in the work place levels of productivity and issues of health and safety in the occupational environment That these elements are important have long been known But what this collection of studies emphasizes is the specific mix that produced specific outcomes It does not shy away from dangerous and tough questions worker control and control of workers political participation in contexts of authoritarian regimes and personal rewards in contexts that once frowned upon private acquisition of capital The volume is rich in empirical studies and draws the theoretical implications that can and already have had vast policy consequences for workers in the modern context Issues relating to job rotation enrichment enlargement and autonomy and others related to new forms of organization starting with the shop floor and extending throughout the management of the enterprise as a whole are dealt with candidly The social character of labor long frowned upon as a mechanism for evading bread and butter issues is now recognized East and West as a dimension of concern that is growing precisely as the size and character of the labor sector is diminishing This is must reading for those interested in new forms of social and policy synthesis and ways of meliorating competing claims of different sectors in modern societies Work Organization and Europe as a Development Coalition John Richard Ennals, Björn Gustavsen, 1999-01-01 This text proposes a development project within the field of work organisation with participation from across Europe It includes chapters on the nature and history of the idea of development coalition largely rooted in the Scandinavian experience and case studies from other European countries Unions and Workplace Reorganization Bruce Nissen, 1997 The very fate of unions in this country may depend on their ability to deal effectively with the challenge of workplace restructuring UNIONS AND WORKPLACE REORGANIZATION addresses many of the most important issues currently facing the U S labor movement Europe's Utopias of Peace Bo Stråth, 2016-01-28 Europe s Utopias of Peace explores attempts to create a lasting European peace in the aftermath of the Napoleonic wars and the two world wars The book charts the 250 year cycle of violent European conflicts followed by new utopian formulations for peace The utopian illusion was that future was predictable and rules could prescribe behaviour in conflicts to come Bo Stråth examines the reiterative bicentenary cycle since 1815 where each new postwar period built on a design for a project for European unification He sets out the key historical events and the continuous struggle with nationalism linking them to legal political and economic thought Biographical sketches of the most prominent thinkers and actors provide the human element to this narrative Europe's Utopias of Peace presents a new perspective on the ideological legal economic and intellectual conditions that shaped Europe since the 19th century and presents this in a global context It challenges the conventional narrative on Europe's past as a progressive enlightenment heritage highlighting the ambiguities of the legacies that pervade the institutional structures of contemporary Europe Its long term historical perspective will be invaluable for students of contemporary Europe or modern European history

Action Research in Workplace Innovation and Regional Development

Werner Fricke,Peter Totterdill,2004-04-29 The past is an increasingly unreliable guide to the future European workplaces and the regions in which they are located face unprecedented pressures and challenges Whereas in recent decades incremental adaptation has largely been sufficient to cope with external change it is no longer clear that this remains the case Globalisation technological development and dissemination political volatility patterns of consumption and employee expectations are occurring at a rate which is hard to measure The rate of change in these spheres is far outstripping the rate of organisational innovation in both European enterprises and public governance leading to a serious mismatch between the challenges of the 21st Century and the organisational competence available to deal with them In this context there is no clear roadmap The contributors to this volume address these issues and demonstrate that building the knowledge base required by actors in this volatile environment requires continuous dialogue and learning a context in which social partners regional policy makers and other participants share diverse knowledge and reflect on experience rather than seeking and imitating any notion of best practice Action Research has a crucial role to play embedding shared learning within the process of innovation
