Conspiracy Theories in the United States and the Middle East Michael Butter, Maurus Reinkowski, 2014-02-27 Conspiracy Theories in the United States and the Middle East is the first book to approach conspiracy theorizing from a decidedly comparative and interdisciplinary perspective Whereas previous studies have engaged with conspiracy theories within national frameworks only this collection of essays draws attention to the fact that conspiracist visions are transnational narratives that travel between and connect different cultures It focuses on the United States and the Middle East because these two regions of the world are entangled in manifold ways and conspiracy theories are currently extremely prominent in both The contributors to the volume are scholars of Middle Eastern Studies Anthropology History Political Science Cultural Studies and American Studies who approach the subject from a variety of different theories and methodologies However all of them share the fundamental assumption that conspiracy theories must not be dismissed out of hand or ridiculed Usually wrong and frequently dangerous they are nevertheless articulations of and distorted responses to needs and anxieties that must be taken seriously Focusing on individual case studies and displaying a high sensitivity for local conditions and the cultural environment the essays offer a nuanced image of the workings of conspiracy theories in the United States and the Middle East

America's current War on Terror science fiction has proved a subtle vehicle for the hopes fears and preoccupations of a nation at war The definitive introduction to American science fiction this is also the first study to analyse SF across both film and TV Throughout the discussion is illustrated with critical case studies of key films and television series including The Day the Earth Stood Still Planet of the Apes Star Trek The Next Generation The X Files and Battlestar Galactica Racial Spectacles Jonathan Markovitz, 2011-06-01 Racial Spectacles Explorations in Media Race and Justice examines the crucial role the media has played in circulating and shaping national dialogues about race through representations of crime and racialized violence Jonathan Markovitz argues that mass media racial spectacles often work to shore up racist stereotypes but that they also provide opportunities to challenge prevalent conceptions of race and can be seized upon as vehicles for social protest This book explores a series of mass media spectacles revolving around the news prime time television Hollywood cinema and the internet that have either relied upon reconfigured or helped to construct collective memories of race crime and in justice The case studies explored include the Scottsboro interracial rape case of the 1930s the Kobe Bryant rape case the Los Angeles Police Department's Rampart scandal the Abu Ghraib photographs and a series of racist incidents at the University of California This book will prove to be important not only for courses on race and media but also for any reader interested in issues of the media's role in social justice Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood Hauke Lehmann, 2019-12-02 How is affective experience produced in the cinema And how can we write a history of this experience By asking these questions this study by Hauke Lehmann aims at rethinking our conception of a critical period in US film history the New Hollywood as a moment of crisis that can neither be reduced to economic processes of adaption nor to a collection of masterpieces Rather the fine grained analysis of core films reveals the power of cinematic images to affect their audiences to confront them with the new The films of the New Hollywood redefine the divisions of the classical genre system in a radical way and thereby transform the way spectators are addressed affectively in the cinema The study describes a complex interplay between three modes of affectivity suspense paranoia and melancholy All three each in their own way implicate spectators in the deep seated contradictions of their own feelings and their ways of being in the world their relations to history to society and to cultural fantasy On this basis Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood projects an original conception of film history as an affective history which can be re-written up to the present day East-West Montage Sheng-mei Ma, 2007-11-06 East West Montage possesses a unique vision that promises to push discussions of globalization cultural production ethnic identity and bodily metaphors in powerful new directions Ma is to be praised for his sound scholarship and innovative interpretations Indeed where others specialize in either the collection of details or the unpacking of text Ma weaves a strong analytic exegesis rooted in thorough research Richard King Washington State University Approximately twelve hours difference lies between New York and Beijing The West and the East are literally night and day apart Yet East West Montage crosscuts the two in the manner of adjacent filmic shots to accentuate their montage like complementarity It examines the intersection between East and West the Asian diaspora or more specifically Asian bodies in diaspora and the cultural expressions by and about people of Asian descent on both sides of the Pacific Following the introduction Establishing Shots the book is divided into seven intercuts which in turn subdivide into dialectically paired chapters focusing on specific body parts or attributes The range of material examined is broad and rich the iconography of the opium den in film noir the writings of Asian American novelists the swordplay and kung fu film Japanese anime the Korean Wave including soap operas like Winter Sonata and the cult thriller Oldboy Rogers and Hammerstein s Orientalist musicals the comic Blackhawk the superstar status of the Dalai Lama and the demise of Hmong refugees and Chinese retirees in the U S Highly original and immensely readable East West Montage will appeal to many working in a range of disciplines including Asian studies Asian American studies cultural studies ethnic studies film studies popular culture and literary criticism

Visual Paranoia in Rear Window, Blow-Up and The Truman Show Eva Schwarz, 2012-02-27 Against the backdrop of recent postmodern discourse on cultural theory Eva Schwarz provides a gripping analysis of the concept of what she describes as visual paranoia Her study is based on a detailed analysis of three films Alfred Hitchcock s Rear Window USA 1954 Michelangelo Antonioni s Blow up GB 1966 and Peter Weir s The Truman Show USA 1998 The starting point of all three analyses is the representation of the postmodern media and information age as an incisive culture of the visual which coincides with the general socio political trend of cultural paranoia the roots of which are to be found in American politics and society of the late 1940s and which has since permeated Anglo American culture The discourse on the truthfulness of images the reality of visual representations and the visual as such forms the context out of which the theory of the development of visual paranoia arises While other paranoia films usually thrillers or science fiction films concern themselves with the sociopolitical manifestation of cultural paranoia the three films chosen for Schwarz s study focus on the fundamental crisis of the visual as such from scopophilic paranoia in Rear Window to photographic paranoia in Blow Up culminating in the scopophobic manifestation of visual paranoia in The Truman Show The once valid saying seeing is believing can no longer be taken for granted In postmodern times the visual cannot be trusted any more

The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary Thomas W Benson, Brian J Snee, 2008-05-23 The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary explores the most visible and volatile element in the 2004 presidential campaign the partisan documentary film This collection of original critical essays by leading scholars and critics including Shawn J and Trevor Parry Giles Jennifer L Borda and Martin J Medhurst analyzes a selection of political documentaries that appeared during the 2004 election season The editors examine the new political documentary with the tools of rhetorical criticism combining close textual analysis with a consideration of the historical context and the production and reception of the films The essays address the distinctive rhetoric of the new political documentary with the films typically having been shot with relatively low budgets in video and using interviews and stock footage rather than observation of uncontrolled behavior The quality was often good enough and interest was sufficiently intense that the films were shown in theaters and on television which provided legitimacy and visibility before they were released soon afterwards on DVD and VHS and marketed on the Internet The volume reviews such films as Michael Moore's Fahrenheit 9/11 two refutations of Moore's film Fahrenheit 9/11 and Celsius 41/11 Unprecedented The 2000 Presidential Election and George W Bush Faith in the White House films that experimented with a variety of angles and rhetorics from a mix of comic disparagement and earnest confrontation to various emulations of traditional news and documentary voices The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary represents the continued transformation of American political discourse in a partisan and contentious time and showcases the independent voices and the political power brokers that struggled to find new ways to debate the status quo and employ surrogate independents to create a counter-rhetoric

The Astronaut Dario Llinares, 2011-05-25 The Astronaut Cultural Mythology and Idealised Masculinity interrogates the historical and cultural dynamics of one of the most revered icons of the 20th century Analysing a diverse range of cultural representations the book postulates the construction of an intertextual mythology through which the astronaut becomes an embodiment of American ideological values and heroic manhood The discursive processes at work in the range of media texts examined serve to embed the astronaut into the cultural imaginary as a largely coherent and uncontested exemplar of idealised masculinity Using a range of interdisciplinary analytical tools the book examines how the social construction of this masculine ideal iterates and naturalises gender hegemony The book situates the astronaut within the context of a modern postmodern theoretical framework linking shifts in gender perspectives to the contradictory narratives and characterisations that inform the mediation of the astronaut In so doing the book argues for a re-evaluation of the often oversimplified use of the term hegemonic masculinity as an anchoring point for the critique of masculinity The strength of this work is its interdisciplinary diversity and its interconnection of a range of themes including gender representation history ideology the postmodern and the media Drawing upon contemporary theoretical debates while redeploying seminal theoretical texts the book offers new cultural interrogations of a highly familiar historical subject A Genre Approach to Celebrity Politics

Nahuel Ribke, 2015-03-17 Exploring the transition of celebrities into institutional electoral politics the book argues that many insights developed by genre theorists could be highly instrumental to understand the celebrity politics phenomenon It analyzes the historical and cultural specificity of celebrity politics as it evolved through different countries and cultures

Paul Robeson and the Cold War Performance Complex Tony Perucci,2012-04-18 Actor and singer Paul Robeson s performances in Othello Show Boat and The Emperor Jones made him famous but his midcentury appearances in support of causes ranging from labor and civil rights to antilynching and American warmongering made him notorious When Robeson announced at the 1949 Paris Peace Conference that it was unthinkable for blacks to go to war against the Soviet Union the mainstream American press declared him insane Notions of Communism blackness and insanity were interchangeably deployed during the Cold War to discount activism such as Robeson s just a part of an array of social and cultural practices that author Tony Perucci calls the Cold War performance complex Focusing on two key Robeson performances the concerts in Peekskill New York in 1949 and his appearance before the House Committee on Un American Activities in 1956 Perucci demonstrates how these performances and the government s response to them are central to understanding the history of Cold War culture in the United States His book provides a transformative new perspective on how the struggle over the politics of performance in the 1950s was also a domestic struggle over freedom and equality The book closely examines both of these performance events as well as artifacts from Cold War culture including congressional documents FBI files foreign policy papers the popular literature on mental illness and government propaganda films to study the operation of power and activism in American Cold War culture

Philip K Dick Christopher Palmer,2003-03-01 Once the sole possession of fans and buffs the SF author Philip K Dick is now finding a much wider audience as the success of the films Blade Runner and Minority Report shows The kind of world he predicted in his funny and frightening novels and stories is coming closer to most of us shifting realities unstable relations uncertain moralities Philip K Dick Exhilaration and Terror of the Postmodern examines a wide range of Dick s work including his short stories and posthumously published realist novels Christopher Palmer analyses the puzzling and dazzling effects of Dick s fiction and argues that at its heart is a clash between exhilarating possibilities of transformation and a frightening lack of ethical certainties Dick s work is seen as the inscription of his own historical predicament the clash between humanism and postmodernism being played out in the complex forms of the fiction The problem is never resolved but Dick s ways of imagining it become steadily more ingenious and challenging
