The contributors trace the evolution of Anglo-American culture from its origins as a product of the British North Atlantic Empire through to its persistence in the post-Independence world of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. While transatlanticism is a well-established field in history and literary studies, this volume recognizes the wider diversity and interactions of transatlantic cultural production across material and visual cultures as well as literature. As such, while encompassing a range of fields and approaches within the humanities, the ten chapters are all concerned with understanding and interpreting the same Anglo American culture within the same social contexts. The chapters integrate the literary with the material, offering alternative and provocative perspectives on topics ranging from the child-made book to representations of domestic slaves in literature, by way of history painting, travel writing, architecture, and political plays. By focusing on cultural exchanges between Britain and the north-eastern maritime United States over nearly two centuries, the collection offers an in-depth study of Britain's relationship with a single region of North America over an extended historic period. Contributors have resisted the temptation to prioritize the relationship between New England and England in particular, by placing this association within the contexts of Atlantic exchanges with other northeastern states as well as with the South, the Caribbean, and Scotland. Intended for researchers in literature, visual, and material culture, this collection challenges single subject boundaries by redefining transatlantic studies as the collective examination of the complex and interrelated cultural t

Adventure stories produced and consumed in vast quantities in eighteenth, nineteenth, and twentieth-century Europe narrate encounters between Europeans and the non-European world. They map both European and non-European people and places. In the exotic, uncomplicated, and malleable settings of stories like Robinson Crusoe, they make it possible to imagine and to naturalise and normalise identities that might seem implausible closer to home. This book discusses the geography of literature and looking at where adventure stories chart colonies and empires, projecting European geographical fantasies onto non-European real geographies, including the Americas, Africa, and Australasia. The Bihar & Orissa Gazette, 1921
