The Solitary Vice Mikita Brottman, 2008-02-28 Mikita Brottman wonders just why is reading so great. It's a solitary practice, one that takes away from time that could be spent developing important social networking skills. Reading's not required for health, happiness, or a loving family. And if reading is so important, why are catchy slogans like "Reading Changes Lives" and "Champions Read" needed to hammer the point home? Fearlessly tackling the notion that nonreaders are doomed to lives of despair and mental decay Brottman makes the case that the value of reading lies not in its ability to ward off Alzheimer's or that it's a pleasant hobby Rather she argues that like that other well known solitary vice masturbation reading is ultimately not an act of pleasure but a tool for self exploration one that allows people to see the world through the eyes of others and lets them travel deep into the darkness of the human condition The Blackwell Guide to Mill's Utilitarianism Henry West, 2008-04-15 The Blackwell Guide to Mill's Utilitarianism volume is an ideal commentary for students on Mill's classic essay Contains the complete text of Utilitarianism and twelve related essays Essays cover the background to Mill's classic essay analyses of the arguments and contemporary debates within the utilitarian tradition Also includes a case study demonstrating the application of utilitarian theory to military or non violent responses to terrorism Each contribution is an original essay written by a specialist at the cutting edge of philosophical scholarship

The Fictions of Language and the Languages of Fiction Monika Fludernik, 2003-12-16 Monika Fludernik presents a detailed analysis of free indirect discourse as it relates to narrative theory and the crucial problematic of how speech and thought are represented in fiction Building on the insights of Ann Banfield's Unspeakable Sentences Fludernik radically extends Banfield's model to accommodate evidence from conversational narrative non fictional prose and literary works from Chaucer to the present Fludernik's model subsumes earlier insights into the forms and functions of quotation and aligns them with discourse strategies observable in the oral language Drawing on a vast range of literature she provides an invaluable resource for researchers in the field and introduces English readers to extensive work on the subject in German as well as comparing the free indirect discourse features of German French and English This study effectively repositions the whole area between literature and linguistics opening up a new set of questions in narrative theory Fictions of Home Martin Mühlheim, 2018-04-23 This study aims to counter right wing discourses of belonging It discusses key theoretical concepts for the study of home focusing in particular on Marxist feminist postcolonial and psychoanalytic contributions The book also maintains that postmodern celebrations of nomadism and exile tend to be incapable of providing an alternative to conservative xenophobic appropriations of home In detailed readings of one film and six novels a view is developed according to which home as a spatio temporal imaginary is rooted in our species being and as such constitutes the inevitable starting point for any progressive politics Official Directory Oregon.
