Rock Carving in Norway Anders Hagen, 1981-01-01 Rock Carvings in Norway Anders Hagen, 1965 Skiing Heritage Journal, 2007-06 Skiing Heritage is a quarterly Journal of original entertaining and informative feature articles on skiing history Published by the International Skiing History Association its contents support ISHA's mission to preserve skiing history and to increase awareness of the sport's heritage The Rock Art of Norway Trond Lødøen, Gro Mandt, 2010 For thousands of years people in all parts of the world have engraved images on rock panels and stones Images are found on large earth bound boulders on smaller movable stones or on rock panels in burial chambers A variety of images are conveyed including people animals objects used by humans abstract patterns and objects unrecognisable to us In Norway rock art has been found at more than 1100 sites Many motifs occur regularly across the region others are unique to certain sites The design and composition of even the most common motifs vary hugely in different parts of the country according to both the era and function of the particular site It has been a common practice to group Scandinavian rock art under two main categories the veidekunst hunter's art or the Northern Tradition associated with hunters and gatherers of the Stone Age in the period 9000-2000 B.C. and the jordbruksristninger agricultural petroglyphs or the Southern Tradition associated with people of the Bronze and early Iron Age from approximately 1800 B.C. until about 400 AD who practiced farming as a livelihood Whether the images of the hunter nomads and the farmers represent two distinct and independent traditions or whether they represent a continuous tradition encompassing changes in expression over time is still today an unresolved issue This book raises questions about the meanings that can be derived from the rock art of Norway and aims to study the images in the context of other traces found of the same society Through the sites explored and the stories told this book represents a voyage in time and space from the oldest images to the youngest from farthest north to farthest south of the country Skiing Heritage Journal, 2007-06 Skiing Heritage is a quarterly Journal of original entertaining and informative feature articles on skiing history Published by the International Skiing History Association its contents support ISHA's mission to preserve skiing history and to increase awareness of the sport's heritage Shadows of a Northern Past John M. Coles, 2005 This book is the outcome of a prolonged period of discovery and research into the Bronze Age rock carvings of Bohuslän in Sweden and Ostfold Norway Over 100 of the most complex and varied sites containing many thousands of images are presented in new plans and photographs The variety and precision of the methods of recording have revealed hitherto unknown carvings and new details on many of the sites including some of the best known sites in all of Sweden and Norway The images of boats humans wheeled vehicles wild and domesticated animals arms weapons and other symbols demonstrate great variability A structural analysis permits some identification of particular artists whilst the identification of dated styles of boat images allows some element of specific chronology to be presented Over 800 rock carving sites and their contemporary monuments are mapped and described in terms of the evolving landscapes of the period 1500-300 BC The current excavation programmes at the base of sites are outlined as well as the likely relationship between rock carvings and adjacent wetlands The area explored in the book includes the World Heritage region in western Sweden and the whole territory of rock carvings examined forms one of Europe s greatest prehistoric cultural treasures Culture and Customs of Norway Margaret Hayford O'Leary,2010-09-16 This thorough introduction to modern day Norway and Norwegian culture shows the impact a small country can have on the world in terms of peace building environmental issues technological innovation and more Culture and Customs of Norway provides an up to date view of Norway showcasing a nation that is part of modern Europe yet zealously maintains its own culture and identity Providing the most current information on a broad range of topics including cinema literature food art performing arts and architecture the book also places modern day Norway in a historical context that makes it possible to understand how Norwegian culture came to be as it is today Readers will discover a nation that is a fascinating juxtaposition of advanced technology especially in such fields as oil production and climate and some of the most spectacular natural beauty in the world They will read about such famous writers artists and composers as Henrik Ibsen Edvard Munch and Edvard Grieg And they will discover how Norway confronts the challenges of modern society without sacrificing its social democratic philosophy of social justice and shared responsibility both at home and globally News of Norway ,1953 The Sea-Craft of Prehistory Paul Johnstone,2013-11-12 The nautical dimension of prehistory has not so far received the attention it deserves It is also too often assumed that early man was land bound yet this is demonstrably not the case Recent research has shown that man travelled and tracked over greater distances and at a much earlier date than has previously been thought possible Some of these facts can be explained only by man s mastery of water transport from earliest times This book by an acknowledged expert on prehistoric sea craft examines these problems looking at the new archaeological information in the light of the author s nautical knowledge The result is a detailed account of man s use of inland and ocean going craft from earliest times until the dawn of recorded history All forms of evidence are critically assessed from the vessels of Ancient Egypt to the Chinese junk to present of comprehensive picture of the vessels men have built through the ages and of the variety of ways in which they have been used The Oxford Handbook of the European Bronze Age Anthony Harding,Harry Fokkens,2013-06-27 The Oxford Handbook of the European Bronze Age is a wide ranging survey of a crucial period in prehistory during which many social economic and technological changes took place Written by expert specialists in the field the book provides coverage both of the themes that characterize the period and of the specific developments that took place in the various countries of Europe After an introduction and a discussion of chronology successive chapters deal with settlement studies burial analysis hoards and hoarding monumentality rock art cosmology gender and trade as well as a series of articles on specific technologies and crafts such as transport metals glass salt textiles and weighing The second half of the book covers each country in turn From Ireland to Russia Scandinavia to Sicily every area is considered and up to date information on important recent finds is discussed in detail The book is the first

The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe Chris Fowler, Jan Harding, Daniela Hofmann, 2015-03-26 The Neolithic a period in which the first sedentary agrarian communities were established across much of Europe has been a key topic of archaeological research for over a century However the variety of evidence across Europe the range of languages in which research is carried out and the way research traditions in different countries have developed makes it very difficult for both students and specialists to gain an overview of continent wide trends The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe provides the first comprehensive geographically extensive thematic overview of the European Neolithic from Iberia to Russia and from Norway to Malta offering both a general introduction and a clear exploration of key issues and current debates surrounding evidence and interpretation Chapters written by leading experts in the field examine topics such as the movement of plants animals ideas and people including recent trends in the application of genetics and isotope analyses cultural change from the first appearance of farming to the first metal artefacts domestic architecture subsistence material culture monuments and burial and other treatments of the dead In doing so the volume also considers the history of research and sets out agendas and themes for future work in the
