Goddard Doug West, 2017-06-03 Dr Robert Goddard was the first scientist who not only realized the potential for rockets for space flight but also contributed directly in making them a reality His rare talent in both creative science and practical engineering placed Goddard well above the European rocket pioneers The dedicated research and experimentation into the development of rockets by the modest man went largely unrecognized in the United States until the dawn of the space age Richly deserved honor now comes to the name of Robert H Goddard and his amazing story      Discoveries and Inventions in Literature for Youth Joy L. Lowe, Kathryn I. Matthew, 2004-03-03 A compilation of books and other resources that are appropriate for students in kindergarten through twelfth grade      The Long Space Age Alexander MacDonald, 2017-04-25 An economic historian traces uncovers the story of privately funded space exploration from early 19th century astronomical observatories to SpaceX The standard historical narrative of American space exploration begins during the Cold War with the federal government's efforts to beat the Soviet Union in the Space Race Given this framing the more recent emergence of private sector space exploration appears to be a new and controversial phenomenon But as Alexander MacDonald argues in The Long Space Age privately funded space exploration had been happening in the United States long before we tried to put a man on the moon Since the early 19th century private observatories had been making discoveries and developing technologies that led directly to NASA's epochal 20th century achievements And their efforts were no less ambitious for their time than SpaceX and Blue Origin are in today's resurgent space industry The Long Space Age examines the economic history of this centuries long development from those first American observatories to the International Space Station      Literature Connections to American History K6 Lynda G. book shows was neither limited to the early twenty first century nor to current American space force rhetorics This New Ocean William E. Burrows, 2010-09-29 It was all part of man's greatest adventure landing men on the Moon and sending a rover to Mars finally seeing the edge of the universe and the birth of stars and launching planetary explorers across the solar system to Neptune and beyond The ancient dream of breaking gravity's hold and taking to space became a reality only because of the intense cold war rivalry between the superpowers with towering geniuses like Wernher von Braun and Sergei Korolyov shelving dreams of space travel and instead developing rockets for ballistic missiles and space spectacles Now that Russian archives are open and thousands of formerly top secret U S documents are declassified an often startling new picture of the space age emerges the frantic effort by the Soviet Union to beat the United States to the Moon was doomed from the beginning by gross inefficiency and by infighting so treacherous that Winston Churchill likened it to dogs fighting under a carpet there was more than science behind the United States suggestion that satellites be launched during the International Geophysical Year and in one crucial respect Sputnik was a godsend to Washington the hundred odd German V 2s that provided the vital start to the U S missile and space programs legally belonged to the Soviet Union and were spirited to the United States in a derring do operation worthy of a spy thriller despite NASA's claim that it was a civilian agency it had an intimate relationship with the military at the outset and still does a distinction the Soviet Union never pretended to make constant efforts to portray astronauts and cosmonauts as Boy Scouts were often contradicted by reality the Apollo missions to the Moon may have been an unexcelled political triumph and feat of exploration but they also created a headache for the space agency that lingers to this day This New Ocean is based on 175 interviews with Russian and American scientists and engineers on archival documents including formerly top secret National Intelligence Estimates and spy satellite pictures and on nearly three decades of reporting The impressive result is this fascinating story the first comprehensive account of the space age Here are the strategists and war planners engineers and scientists politicians and industrialists astronauts and cosmonauts science fiction writers and journalists and plain ordinary unabashed dreamers who wanted to transcend gravity's shackles for the ultimate ride The story is written from the perspective of a witness who was present at the beginning and who has seen the conclusion of the first space age and the start of the second
