George A. Cevalasco, Lorne Hammond, Richard Harmond, Keir B. Sterling, 1997-12-09 Casting a wide net this volume provides personal and professional information on some 445 American and Canadian naturalists and environmentalists who lived from the late 15th century to the late 20th century It includes explorers who published works on the natural history of North America conservationists ecologists environmentalists wildlife management specialists park planners national park administrators zoologists botanists natural historians geographers geologists academics museum scientists and administrators military personnel travellers government officials political figures and writers and artists concerned with the environment Some of the subjects are well known The accomplishments of others are little known Each entry contains a succinct but careful evaluation of the subject's career and contributions Entries also include up to date bibliographies and information concerning manuscript sources In the Field, Among the Feathered Thomas R. Dunlap, 2011-12-14 Thomas Dunlap shows how bird guides have changed with science and popular interest and how birding's twin activities conservation and recreation have over the last 120 years shaped our understanding of nature and supported its preservation as part of the nation and our lives Smithsonian Year Smithsonian Institution, 1985 The Art of the Bird Roger J.

Lederer, 2019-09-25 The human history of depicting birds dates to as many as 40 000 years ago when Paleolithic artists took to cave walls to capture winged and other beasts But the art form has reached its peak in the last four hundred years In The Art of the Bird devout birder and ornithologist Roger J Lederer celebrates this heyday of avian illustration in forty artists profiles beginning with the work of Flemish painter Frans Snyder in the early 1600s and continuing through to contemporary artists like Elizabeth Butterworth famed for her portraits of macaws Stretching its wings across time taxa geography and artistic style from the celebrated realism of American conservation icon John James Audubon to Elizabeth Gould's nineteenth century renderings of museum specimens from the Himalayas to Swedish artist and ornithologist Lars Jonsson's ethereal watercolors this book is feathered with art and artists as diverse and beautiful as their subjects A soaring exploration of our fascination with the avian form The Art of the Bird is a testament to the ways in which the intense observation inherent in both art and science reveals the mysteries of the natural world More Than Birds Val Shushkewich, 2012-11-17 Once people encounter the natural world and become aware of its intricacy fragility beauty and significance they will recognize the need for conservation The fascinating development of natural history studies in North

America is portrayed through the life stories of 22 naturalists The 19th century saw early North American naturalists such as Alexander Wilson the Father of American Ornithology John James Audubon and Thomas Nuttall describing and illustrating the spectacular flora and fauna they found in the New World Scientists of the Smithsonian Institution and the Canadian Museum of Nature worked feverishly to describe and catalogue the species that exist on the continent Great nature writers such as Florence Merriam Bailey Cordelia Stanwood Margaret Morse Nice Louise de Kiriline Lawrence and Roger Tory Peterson wrote in depth about the lives and behaviours of birds Early conservationists such as Jack Miner the Father of Conservation created nature preserves Today noted naturalists such as Robert Nero Robert Bateman Kenn Kaufman and David Allen Sibley do everything they can to encourage people to experience nature directly in their lives and to care about its protection and preservation

Committee on Science, Space, and Technology,1989 A Passion for Birds Mark V. Barrow, Jr.,2021-08-10 In the decades following the Civil War as industrialization urbanization and economic expansion increasingly reshaped the landscape many Americans began seeking adventure and aesthetic gratification through avian pursuits By the turn of the century hundreds of thousands of middle and upper class devotees were rushing to join Audubon societies purchase field guides and keep records of the species they encountered in the wild Mark Barrow vividly reconstructs this story not only through the experiences of birdwatchers collectors conservationists and taxidermists but also through those of a relatively new breed of bird enthusiast the technically oriented ornithologist In exploring how ornithologists struggled to forge a discipline and profession amidst an explosion of popular interest in natural history A Passion for Birds provides the first book length history of American ornithology from the death of John James Audubon to the Second World War Barrow shows how efforts to form a scientific community distinct from popular birders met with only partial success The founding of the American Ornithologists Union in 1883 and the subsequent expansion of formal educational and employment opportunities in ornithology marked important milestones in this campaign Yet by the middle of the twentieth century when ornithology had finally achieved the status of a modern profession its practitioners remained dependent on the services of birdwatchers and other amateur enthusiasts Environmental issues also loom large in Barrow s account as he traces areas of both cooperation and conflict between ornithologists and wildlife conservationists Recounting a colorful story based on the interactions among a wide variety of bird lovers this book will interest historians of science environmental historians ornithologists birdwatchers and anyone curious about the historical roots of today s birding boom Air & Space Smithsonian ,1999 *Summary of Activities of the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology, U.S. House of Representatives for the ...
