Mind in Motion Barbara Tversky, 2019-05-21 An eminent psychologist offers a major new theory of human cognition movement not language is the foundation of thought When we try to think about how we think we can't help but think of words Indeed some have called language the stuff of thought But pictures are remembered far better than words and describing faces scenes and events defies words Anytime you take a shortcut or play chess or basketball or rearrange your furniture in your mind you've done something remarkable abstract thinking without words In Mind in Motion psychologist Barbara Tversky shows that spatial cognition isn't just a peripheral aspect of thought but its very foundation enabling us to draw meaning from our bodies and their actions in the world Our actions in real space get turned into mental actions on thought often spouting spontaneously from our bodies as gestures Spatial thinking underlies creating and using maps assembling furniture devising football strategies designing airports understanding the flow of people traffic water and ideas Spatial thinking even underlies the structure and meaning of language why we say we push ideas forward or tear them apart why we're feeling up or have grown far apart Like Thinking Fast and Slow before it Mind in Motion gives us a new way to think about how and where thinking takes place

The Joy of Movement Kelly McGonigal, 2021-03-02 Now in paperback The bestselling author of The Willpower Instinct introduces a surprising science based book that doesn't tell us why we should exercise but instead shows us how to fall in love with movement Exercise is health enhancing and life extending yet many of us feel it's a chore But as Kelly McGonigal reveals it doesn't have to be Movement can and should be a source of joy Through her trademark blend of science and storytelling McGonigal draws on insights from neuroscience psychology anthropology and evolutionary biology as well as memoirs ethnographies and philosophers She shows how movement is intertwined with some of the most basic human joys including self expression social connection and mastery and why it is a powerful antidote to the modern epidemics of depression anxiety and loneliness McGonigal tells the stories of people who have found fulfillment and belonging through running walking dancing swimming weightlifting and more with examples that span the globe from Tanzania where one of the last hunter gatherer tribes on the planet live to a dance class at Juilliard for people with Parkinson's disease to the streets of London where volunteers combine fitness and community service to races in the remote wilderness where athletes push the limits of what a human can endure Along the way McGonigal paints a portrait of human nature that highlights our capacity for hope cooperation and self transcendence The result is a revolutionary narrative that goes beyond familiar arguments in favor of exercise to illustrate why movement is integral to both our happiness and our humanity

Readers will learn what they can do in their own lives and communities to harness the power of movement to create happiness meaning and connection Autism and Neurotypicality Ingrid Manogg,2024-08-07 As humans we connect What role do inner images and emotions play in this Which sensory systems do we use are we hostile to thinking What seems beautiful to us what do we perceive as a reward What are favourite children what is the significance of feelings such as envy what functions do pride and shame have What are the differences between autistic people and neurotypes in all this We ask about deep structures and conditions of origin and look at how the neurotypical patterns interact with our social system A psycho logical analysis with new approaches The Rubber Arm DR JOHN R. MISHOCK,2017-04-11 Dr John R Mishock s dreams of playing beyond college were eliminated following injures to the wrist elbow and shoulder The setbacks led him to his true calling being a physical therapist and chiropractor now helping athletes of all ages enhance their athletic performance prevent and recover from injury Coaches parents and baseball players alike realize that in order to be an elite level pitcher they must throw with high velocity and control The excess amount of throwing poor pitching mechanics and inadequate physical training has led to shoulder and elbow injuries seen in baseball players Dr Mishock draws upon his experience as a baseball player and coach along with his high level understanding of anatomy functional movement and physical training to lend a unique perspective on baseball pitching Whether you re a coach parent or baseball player serious about reaching the highest levels of pitching or throwing success this book is a resource in enhancing ones baseball performance The Structure and Development of Self-consciousness Dan Zahavi,Thor Grünbaum,Josef Parnas,2004-01-01 Self consciousness is a topic of considerable importance to a variety of empirical and theoretical disciplines such as developmental and social psychology cognitive neuroscience psychiatry and philosophy This volume presents essays on self consciousness by prominent psychologists cognitive neurologists and philosophers Some of the topics included are the infants sense of self and others theory of mind phenomenology of embodiment neural mechanisms of action attribution and hermeneutics of the self A number of these essays argue in turn that empirical findings in developmental psychology phenomenological analyses of embodiment or studies of pathological self experiences point to the existence of a type of self consciousness that does not require any explicit I thought or self observation but is more adequately described as a pre reflective embodied form of self familiarity The different contributions in the volume amply demonstrate that self consciousness is a complex multifaceted phenomenon that calls for an integration of different complementary interdisciplinary perspectives Series B Specifications and Drawings of Patents Issued from the United States Patent Office United States. Patent Office,1904 See What I'm Saying Lawrence D. Rosenblum,2011-03-21 Eye opening memorable Rosenblum s enthusiasm is contagious and his prose accessible Kirkus Reviews In this revealing romp through the mysteries of human perception University of California psychologist Lawrence D Rosenblum explores the astonishing abilities of the five senses skills of which most of us are unaware Drawing on groundbreaking insights into the brain s plasticity and integrative powers Rosenblum examines how our brains use the subtlest information to perceive the world A blind person for example can see through bat like echolocation wine connoisseurs can actually taste the vintage of an obscure wine and pheromones can signal a lover s compatibility Bringing us into the world of a blind detective a sound engineer a former supermodel and other unforgettable characters Rosenblum not only illuminates the science behind our sensory abilities but also demonstrates how awareness of these abilities can enhance their power Demystifying the

Nehaniv,Kerstin

Dautenhahn,2009-04-09 Mechanisms of imitation and social matching play a fundamental role in development communication interaction learning and culture Their investigation in different agents animals humans and robots has significantly influenced our understanding of the nature and origins of social intelligence Whilst such issues have traditionally been studied in areas such as psychology biology and ethnology it has become increasingly recognised that a constructive approach towards imitation and social learning via the synthesis of artificial agents can provide important insights into mechanisms and create artefacts that can be instructed and taught by imitation demonstration and social interaction rather than by explicit programming This book studies increasingly sophisticated models and mechanisms of social matching behaviour and marks an important step towards the development of an interdisciplinary research field consolidating and providing a valuable reference for the increasing number of researchers in the field of imitation and social learning in robots humans and animals Making up the Mind Chris Frith,2013-05-20 Written by one of the world s leading neuroscientists Making Up the Mind is the first accessible account of experimental studies showing how the brain creates our mental world Uses evidence from brain imaging psychological experiments and studies of patients to explore the relationship between the mind and the brain Demonstrates that our knowledge of both the mental and physical comes to us through models created by our brain Shows how the brain makes communication of ideas from one mind to another possible
