Great French Films Roger Ebert, 2012-05-08 The famed film writer and critic reviews twenty five essential French films featuring Amélie Belle du Jour La Vie en Rose and Au Revoir les Enfants Like a full bodied Bordeaux wine Roger Ebert's e book original 25 Great French Films will reward you with a rich variety of full length reviews of cinematic experiences From such classics as Belle de Jour Day for Night and The 400 Blows to the sweeping drama and beautiful scenery of Jean de Florette and its sequel Manon of the Spring this e book provides a perfect primer for those new to French films and a welcome refresher course for true Francophiles And as an added attraction most of the reviews are accompanied with a clip of the movies trailers including gems like Mr Hulot's Holiday and Jules and Jim In Search of La Grande Illusion Nicholas Macdonald, 2013-11-08 This is an extended analysis of the film from different perspectives The first half is largely a discussion of the cinematic technique with key sequences analyzed shot by shot The second half approaches the film from many other angles including its history the critical reception Renoir's life and career and film theory e.g. film in relation to music. A case is made that Renoir's career was inconsistent especially after La Règle du jeu but also during the 1930s. And rather than emphasizing the humanist anti-war thrust of La Grande Illusion the film is approached as a work of art that is deeply expressive cinematically.

The A to Z of French Cinema Dayna Oscherwitz, MaryEllen Higgins, 2009-09-02 It can be argued that cinema was created in France by Louis Lumière in 1895 with the invention of the cinématographe the first true motion picture camera and projector. While there were other cameras and devices invented earlier that were capable of projecting intermittent motion of images the cinématographe was the first device capable of recording and externally projecting images in such a way as to convey motion. Early films such as Lumière's La Sortie de l'usine a minute long film of workers leaving the Lumière factory captured the imagination of the nation and quickly inspired the likes of Georges Méliès Alice Guy and Charles Pathé. Through the years French cinema has been responsible for producing some of the world's best directors Jean Renoir Jean-Luc Godard François Truffaut and Louis Malle and actors Charles Boyer Catherine Deneuve Gérard Depardieu and Audrey Tautou. The A to Z of French Cinema covers the history of French film from the silent era to the present in a concise and up-to-date volume detailing the development of French cinema and major theoretical and cultural issues related to it. This is done through a chronology an introduction photographs a bibliography and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on many of the major actors directors films movements producers and studios associated with French cinema. Going beyond mere biographical information entries also discuss the impact and significance of each individual film movement or studio included. This detailed scholarly analysis of the development of film in France is useful to both the novice and the expert alike.

French Cinema Dudley Andrew, 2023-09-26 It is often claimed that the French invented cinema. Dominating the production and distribution of cinema until World War 1 when they were supplanted by Hollywood the French cinema industry encompassed all genres from popular entertainment to avant-garde practice. The French invented the auteur and the cin-club they incubated criticism from the 1920s to our own day that is unrivalled and they boast more film journals fan magazines TV shows and festivals devoted to film than anywhere else. This Very Short Introduction opens up French cinema through focusing on some of its most notable works using the lens of the New Wave decade 1958-1968 that changed cinema worldwide. Exploring the entire French cinematic oeuvre Dudley Andrew teases out distinguishing themes tendencies and lineages to bring what is most crucial about French Cinema into alignment. He discusses how style has shaped the look of female stars and film form alike analysing the made-up aesthetic of many films and the paradoxical penchant for French cinema to cruelly unmask surface beauty in quests for authenticity. Discussing how French cinema as a whole pits strong-willed characters against auteurs with high-minded ideas of film art funded by French cinema's close rapport to literature painting and music Dudley considers how the New Wave emerged from these struggles becoming an emblem of ambition for cinema that persists today. He goes on to show how the values promulgated by the New Wave directors brought the three decades that preceded it into focus and explores the deep resonance of those values today fifty years later ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable *Catalog of Copyright Entries.
