Reckson, 2020-01-28 Honorable Mention Barnard Hewitt Award from the American Society for Theater Research Explores the intersection and history of American literary realism and the performance of spiritual and racial embodiment Recovering a series of ecstatic performances in late nineteenth and early twentieth century American realism Realist Ecstasy travels from camp meetings to Native American ghost dances to storefront church revivals to explore realism's relationship to spiritual experience In her approach to realism as both an unruly archive of performance and a wide ranging repertoire of media practices including literature photography audio recording and early film Lindsay V Reckson argues that the real was repetitively enacted and reenacted through bodily practice Realist Ecstasy demonstrates how the realist imagining of possessed bodies helped construct and naturalize racial difference while excavating the complex shifting and dynamic possibilities embedded in ecstatic performance its production of new and immanent forms of being beside Across her readings of Stephen Crane James Weldon Johnson and Nella Larsen

among others Reckson triangulates secularism realism and racial formation in the post Reconstruction moment Realist Ecstasy shows how post Reconstruction realist texts mobilized gestures especially the gestures associated with religious ecstasy to racialize secularism itself Reckson offers us a distinctly new vision of American realism as a performative practice a sustained account of how performance lives in and through literary archives and a rich sense of how closely secularization and racialization were linked in Jim Crow America The Literature of Reconstruction Brook Thomas,2017-01-17

Reconstruction era literature helped shape an ongoing national debate about proper remedies to racial wrongs In this powerful book Brook Thomas revisits the contested era of Reconstruction He evokes literature s immediacy to recreate arguments still unresolved today about state versus federal authority the government s role in education the growing power of banks and corporations the paternalism of social welfare efforts to combat domestic terrorism and the difficult question of who should rightly inherit the nation s past Literature Thomas argues enables us to re experience how Reconstruction was and remains a moral economic and political debate about which world should have emerged after the Civil War to mark the birth of a new nation Drawing on neglected nineteenth century historiographies and recent scholarship that extends the dates of Reconstruction in time while stretching its geographic reach beyond the South The Literature of Reconstruction uses literary works to trace the complicated interrelations among the era s forces Thomas also explores how these works bring into dialogue competing visions of possible worlds through chapters on reconciliation federalism the Ku Klux Klan railroads and inheritance He contrasts well known writers including W E B Du Bois Thomas Dixon and Charles W Chesnutt with relatively neglected ones including Albion W Tourg e Mar a Amparo Ruiz de Burton and Constance Fenimore Woolson Some authors opposed Reconstruction others supported it and still others struggled with mixed feelings The world Thomas conjures up in this groundbreaking new study is one in which successful remedies to racial wrongs remain to be imagined

Deadly Musings Michael Kowalewski,1993-07-26 Violent scenes in American fiction are not only brutal bleak and gratuitous writes Michael Kowalewski They are also by turns comic witty poignant and sometimes strangely enough even terrifyingly beautiful In this fascinating tour of American fiction Kowalewski examines incidents ranging from scalplings and torture in The Deerslayer to fish feeding off human viscera in To Have and Have Not to show how highly charged descriptive passages bear on major issues concerning a writer s craft Instead of focusing on violence as a socio cultural phenomenon he explores how writers including Cooper Poe Crane Hemingway Faulkner Wright Flannery O Connor and Pynchon draw on violence in the realistic imagining of their works and how their respective styles sustain or counteract this imagining Kowalewski begins by offering a new definition of realism or realistic imagining and the rhetorical imagination that seems to oppose it Then for each author he investigates how scenes of violence exemplify the stylistic imperatives more generally at work in that writer s fiction Using violence as the critical occasion for exploring the distinctive qualities of authorial voice Deadly Musings addresses the question of what literary criticism is and ought to be and how it might apply more usefully to
