Video Art Historicized Malin Hedlin Hayden, 2016-03-03 Video art emerged as an art form that from the 1960s and onwards challenged the concept of art hence art historical practices From the perspective of artists critics and scholars engaged with this new medium art was seen as too limiting a notion Important issues were to re think art as a means for critical investigations and a demand for visual reconsiderations Likewise art history was argued to be in crisis and in need of adapting its theories and methods in order to produce interpretations and thereby establish historical sense for moving images as fine art Yet as this book argues video art history has evolved into a discourse clinging to traditional concepts ideologies and narrative structures manifested in an increasing body of texts Video Art Historicized provides a novel insightful and also challenging re interpretation of this field by examining the discourse and its own premises It takes a firm conceptual approach to the material examining the conceptual theoretical and methodological implications that are simultaneously contested by both artists and authors yet intertwined in both the legitimizing and the historicizing processes of video as art By engaging art history s most debated concepts canon art and history this study provides an in depth investigation of the mechanisms of the historiography of video art Scrutinizing various narratives on video art the book emphasizes the profound and widespread hesitations towards but also the efforts to negotiate traditional concepts and practices By focusing on the politics of this discourse theoretical issues of gender nationality and particular themes in video art Malin Hedlin Hayden contests the presumptions that inform video art and its history

The Colonial Comedy:

Imperialism in the French Realist Novel Jennifer Yee, 2016-08-12 Nineteenth century French Realism focuses on metropolitan France with Paris as its undisputed heart Through Jennifer Yee s close reading of the great novelists of the French realist and naturalist canon Balzac Flaubert Zola Maupassant The Colonial Comedy reveals that the colonies play a role at a distance even in the most apparently metropolitan texts In what Edward Said called geographical notations of race and imperialism the presence of the colonies off stage is apparent as imported objects colonial merchandise and individuals whose colonial experience is transformative Indeed the realist novel registers the presence of the emerging global world system through networks of importation financial speculation and immigration as well as direct colonial violence and power structures The literature of the century responds to the last decades of French slavery and direct colonialism notably in Algeria but also economic imperialism and the extension of French influence elsewhere Far from imperialist triumphalism in the realist novel exotic objects are portrayed as fake or mass produced for the growing bourgeois market while economic imperialism is associated with fraud and manipulation The deliberate contrast of colonialism and exoticism within the metropolitan novel and ironic distancing of colonial narratives reveal the realist mode to be capable of questioning its own epistemological basis The Colonial Comedy argues for the existence in the nineteenth century of a Critical Orientalism characterized by critique of its own discursive foundations Using the tools of literary analysis within a materialist approach The Colonial Comedy opens up the domestic Paris Provinces axis to signifying chains pointing towards the colonial space

Influence and Intertextuality in Literary History Jay Clayton, Eric Rothstein, 1991 This important collection explores and clarifies two of the most contested ideas in literary theory today influence and intertextuality The study of influence tends to center on major authors and canonical works identifying prior documents as sources or contexts for a given author Intertextuality on the other hand is a concept unconcerned with authors as individuals it treats all texts as part of a network of discourse that includes culture history and social practices as well as other literary works In thirteen essays drawing on the entire spectrum of English and American literary history this volume considers the relationship between these two terms their rivalry their kinship their range of uses Debates about these two concepts have been crucial to the new historicism and the resurgence of interest in literary history The essays in this volume employ a refreshing array of examples from that history poetry of the Renaissance and the twentieth century novels of the eighteenth through twentieth centuries Old English texts and postmodernist productions that have served as recurrent intertexts for contemporary theory The contributors treat such currently vital questions as the role of the author canon formation gender causality and the social dimension of texts They illuminate old assumptions and new ideas about agency that lie behind notions of influence and they examine models of an anonymous textual field that lie behind notions of intertextuality The volume takes much of its character from its own intertextual origin as a group project of the English faculty at the University of Wisconsin Madison Though diverse in their academic interests concerns and experience the contributors participated in an ongoing intellectual exchange that is a model of how new scholarship can arise from dialogue

Comparative Criticism: Volume 5, Hermeneutic Criticism E. S. Shaffer, 1986-04-17 Addresses literary theory and criticism comparative studies in terms of theme genre movement and influence and interdisciplinary perspectives The Yale Critics Jonathan Arac, Wlad Godzich, Wallace Martin, 1983 The Yale Critics was first published in 1983 Minnesota

Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions A heated debate has been raging in North America in recent years over the form and function of literature At the center of the fray is a group of critics teaching at Yale University Harold Bloom Geoffrey Hartman Paul de Man and J Hillis Miller whose work can be described in relation to the deconstructive philosophy practiced by French philosopher Jacques Derrida For over a decade the Yale Critics have aroused controversy most often they are considered as a group to be applauded or attacked rather than as individuals whose ideas merit critical scrutiny Here a new generation of scholars attempts for the first time a serious broad assessment of the Yale group These essays appraise the Yale Critics by exploring their roots their individual careers and the issues they introduce Wallace Martin s introduction offers a brilliant compact account of the Yale Critics and of their relation to deconstruction and the deconstruction to two characteristically Anglo American enterprises Paul Bove explores the new criticism and Wlad Godzich the reception of Derrida in America Next come essays giving individual attention to each of the critics Michael Sprinker on Hartman Donald Pease on Miller Stanley Corngold on de Man and Daniel O Hara on Bloom Two essays then illuminate deconstruction in America through a return to modern continental philosophy Donald Marshall on Maurice Blanchot and Rodolphe Gasche on Martin Heidegger Finally Jonathan Arac s afterword brings the volume together and projects a future beyond the Yale Critics Throughout the contributors aim to provide a balanced view of a subject that has most often been treated polemically While useful as an introduction The Yale Critics also engages in a serious critical reflection on the uses of the humanities in American today

Narratives of the French Empire Kate Marsh, 2013-08-28 This study interrogates how the French empire was imagined in three literary representations of French colonialism the conquest of Tahiti and the established colonial systems in Martinique and in India The study is the first in either English or French to demonstrate that representations of power relations as well as the broader discourses with which they were linked were as closely concerned with probing the similarities and differences of rival European colonial systems as they were with reinforcing their imagined superiority over the colonized and that such power relations should not be conceptualized as a dualistic categorization of colonizer versus colonized In doing so it aims to go beyond examining the interaction between colonized and colonizer or between colonial centre and periphery and to interrogate instead the circulation of ideas and practices across different sites of European colonialism drawing attention to a historical complexity which has been neglected in the necessary race to recover voices previously occluded from academic analysis In exploring how the notion of the French empire overseas was construed and how it was infused with meaning at three different historical moments 1784 1835 and 1938 it demonstrates how precarious the French empire was perceived to be in terms of both European rivalry and resistance from the colonized and how the rhetoric of a French colonisation douce was pitted against the inscribed excesses of the more powerful British empire Rather than employing the sorts of recuperative agenda which focus on how the colonized were elided viz Subaltern

Studies or on the writings of the formerly colonized viz Francophone Studies the study concerns itself specifically with how French colonialism and imperialism were perceived and thus offers a further corrective to any generalizations about European colonialism and imperialism More particularly by examining how the representational strategy of nostalgia is used in these texts the study demonstrates how perceived loss and nostalgia for an imperial past played a role in dynamically shaping the French colonial enterprise across its various manifestations

The Shape of Motion Jordan Schonig, 2021-11-24 In The Shape of Motion Cinema and the Aesthetics of Movement author Jordan Schonig provides a new way of theorizing cinematic motion by examining cinema's motion forms structures patterns or shapes of movement unique to the moving image From the wild and unpredictable motion of flickering leaves and swirling dust that captivated early spectators to the pulsing abstractions that emerge from rapid lateral tracking shots to the bleeding pixel formations caused by the glitches of digital video compression each motion form opens up the aesthetics of movement to film theoretical inquiry By pairing close analyses of onscreen movement in narrative and experimental films with concepts from Maurice Merleau Ponty Henri Bergson and Immanuel Kant Schonig rethinks longstanding assumptions within film studies such as indexical accounts of photographic images and analogies between the camera and the human eye Arguing against the intuition that cinema reproduces our natural perception of motion The Shape of Motion shows how cinema's motion forms do not merely transpose the movements of the world in front of the camera they transform them

French Thought and Literary Theory in the UK Irving Goh, 2019-10-21 This collection presents a sort of counter history or counter genealogy of the globalization of French thought from the point of view of scholars working in the UK While the dominating discourse would attribute the US as the source of that globalization particularly through the 1966 conference on the Languages of Criticism and the Sciences of Man at Johns Hopkins University this volume of essays serves as a reminder that the UK has also been a principal motor of that globalization The essays take into account how French thought and literary theory have institutionally taken shape in the UK from the 70s to today highlight aspects of French thought that have been of particular pertinence or importance for scholars there and outline how researchers in the UK today are bringing French thought further in terms of teaching and research in this twenty first century In short this volume traces how the country has been behind the reception and development of French thought in Anglophone worlds from the late 70s to the present

Dreams in French Literature Tom Conner, 2023-10-16 The nine essays in this volume deal with several well known French authors through the ages for example Descartes Voltaire Mme de Sta l Nerval Verlaine and explore the problematic relationship between dreams and literature Generally speaking contributors are interested in the production of literary meaning How does various dream material ranging from the traditional dream to visions and hallucinations and day dreams come to be And how is the dream image transformed into discourse What exactly is the relationship between dream and narrative Each essay focuses on a different author and different period ranging from the Middle Ages to the late nineteenth century but also takes a unique critical and theoretical approach What the contributors have in common though is an analytical sensemaking strategy that characterizes the interpretation of dreams through the ages from ancients such as Artemidorus and Cicero to modern thinkers such as Freud Most of the texts studied here from the Chanson de Roland to Chateaubriand s Mmoires d outre tombe lend themselves to this type of approach because they promote narrative unity So too do Voltaire Mme de Sta l Nerval and Verlaine Many if not most texts however in the end turn out to be not quite so tightly knit as one may have supposed at first and in the case of Agrippa d Aubign and Descartes the reader is in for several surprises when the normal course of events leading from dream to text from signifier to signified is interrupted and subverted

The Nordic Languages Oskar Bandle, Lennart Elmevik, Gun Widmark, 2002 Annotation This handbook is conceived as a comprehensive history of the North Germanic languages from the oldest times up to the present day Whereas most of the traditional presentations of Nordic language history are confined to individual languages and often concentrate on purely linguistic data the present work covers the history of all Nordic languages in its totality embedded in a broad culture historical context The Nordic languages are described both individually and in their mutual dependence as well as in relation to the neighboring non Nordic languages The handbook is not tied to a particular methodology but keeps in principle to a pronounced methodological pluralism encompassing all aspects of actual methodology Moreover it combines diachronic with synchronic systematic aspects longitudinal sections with cross sections periods such as Old Norse transition from Old Norse to Early Modern Nordic Early Modern Nordic 1550 1800 and so on The description of Nordic language history is built upon a comprehensive collection of linguistic data it consists of more than 200 articles written by a multitude of authors from Scandinavian and German and English speaking countries The organization of the handbook combines a central part on the detailed chronological developments and some chapters of a more general character chapters on theory and methodology in the beginning and on overlapping spatio temporal topics in the end The Columbia History of Twentieth-century French Thought Lawrence D. Kritzman, Brian J. Reilly, 2006 Unrivalled in its scope and depth The Columbia History of Twentieth Century French Thought assesses the intellectual figures movements and publications that helped shape and define fields as diverse as history and historiography psychoanalysis film literary theory cognitive and life sciences literary criticism philosophy and economics More than two hundred entries by leading intellectuals discuss developments in French thought on such subjects as pacifism fashion gastronomy technology and urbanism Contributors include prominent French thinkers many of whom have played an integral role in the development of French thought and American British and Canadian scholars who have been vital in the dissemination of French ideas Maryse Conde and the Space of Literature Eva Sansavior, 2017-12-02 The Guadeloupean writer and critic Maryse Conde has for the last twenty five years divided her time between her native Guadeloupe and the United States If the author's work has attracted much critical attention in the United States it is the fictional works that have been the focus of this attention with these predominantly read in the light of political themes such as identity and resistance In these intelligent and sensitive readings Eva Sansavior argues in favour of adopting a broader thematic and generic approach to the author's work Sansavior accounts for the multiple and oblique uses of literature in the Conde's literary and critical work tracking its complex interactions with tradition reception politics and autobiography and also the singular possibilities that these interactions present for re imagining the ideas of politics literature identity and ultimately the nature of critical practice itself A Poisoned Chalice Jeffrey Freedman, 2020-11-10 A Poisoned Chalice tells the story of a long forgotten criminal case the poisoning of the communion wine in Zurich's main cathedral in 1776 The story is riveting and mysterious full of bizarre twists and colorful characters an anti clerical gravedigger a hard drinking drifter a defrocked minister who come to life in a series of dramatic criminal trials But it is also far more than just a good story In the wider world of German speaking Europe writes Jeffrey Freedman the affair became a cause célèbre the object of a lively public debate that focused on an issue much on the minds of intellectuals in the age of Enlightenment the problem of evil Contemporaries were unable to ascribe any rational motive to an attempt to poison hundreds of worshippers Such a crime pointed beyond reason to moral depravity so radical it seemed diabolic By following contemporaries as they struggled to comprehend an act of inscrutable evil this book brings to life a key episode in the history of the German Enlightenment an episode in which the Enlightenment was forced to interrogate the very limits of reason itself Twentieth century horrors have familiarized us with the type of evil that so shocked the men and women of the eighteenth century Does this familiarity give us any special insight into the affair of the poisoned chalice In its final chapter the book takes up this question reflecting on the nature of historical knowledge through an imaginary dialogue with Enlightenment era interlocutors But it does not reach any definitive conclusion about what happened in the Zurich cathedral in 1776 To search for the truth about such a mystery is merely to extend a dialogue begun in the eighteenth century and that dialogue is as open ended as the process of Enlightenment itself

Ecofeminist Literary Criticism Greta Claire Gaard, Patrick D. Murphy, 1998 Ecofeminist Literary Criticism is the first collection of its kind a diverse anthology that explores both how ecofeminism can enrich literary criticism and how literary criticism can contribute to ecofeminist theory and activism Ecofeminism is a practical movement for social change that discerns interconnections among all forms of oppression the exploitation of nature the oppression of women class exploitation racism colonialism Against binary divisions such as self other culture nature man woman humans animals and white non white ecofeminist theory asserts that human identity is shaped by more fluid relationships and by an acknowledgment of both connection and difference Once considered the province of philosophy and women s studies ecofeminism in recent years has been incorporated into a broader spectrum of academic discourse Ecofeminist Literary Criticism assembles some of the most insightful advocates of this perspective to illuminate ecofeminism as a valuable component of literary criticism
