Cities Peter M. Ward, Edith R. Jiménez Huerta, María Mercedes Di Virgilio, 2015-06-03 After the 1960s rapid urbanization in developing regions in Latin America Africa and Asia was marked by the expansion of low income irregular settlements that developed informally and which by the 2000s often constituted between 20 60 percent of the built up area of metropolitan areas and other large cities There has been a variety of research directed at the housing policies involved with these informal settlements yet apart from the activities of Latin American Housing Network LAHN there has been minimal attention directed at the earliest portion of settlements that formed some 25 40 years ago that now form a large part of the intermediate ring of the cities This volume breaks new ground by opening up a new generation of housing policy in Latin America cities with broader application for other developing countries Its editors bring unique perspectives Peter Ward coordinates the LAHN and Edith Jim nez and Mar a Di Virgilio are founding members of the network who have led project teams in Guadalajara and Buenos Aires respectively Developed as a coordinated collaborative research project the volume encompasses nine Latin American countries and eleven cities The editors and contributors offer original perspectives on the policy challenges facing much of the low income housing of Latin American cities document the changing nature of the first suburbs present comparative survey findings in order to better understand the types of consolidated settlements that exist today describe the physical nature of the dwellings themselves identify the reasons behind market dysfunction that impede the operation of consolidated housing informal markets in Latin American cities and outline a new generation of housing policies that will support the processes of densification rehabilitation and regeneration of these settlements This book is the first and only composite overview of the research findings and advocacy of the generic policy lines that the LAHN identifies as central to a new generation of housing strategies and approaches Researchers and practitioners working on housing theory housing policy comparative spatial and sociological research and urban development issues will find the book highly significant      American Housing Production, 1880-2000 Mason C. Doan, 1997 American Housing Production 1880 2000 presents a concise history of nonfarm housing production progress and policy in the United States This century has been divided into a 14 part chronological structure with irregular time intervals in contrast to conventional decade time periods This arrangement is intended to reflect more fully the economic and political forces causing short run movements in housing output This book treats housing production within a broad economic demographic and political context Special relative measures of housing production mortgage debt and household formation have been developed to provide historical perspective over the period covered Strong emphasis is placed on the growth and improved quality of the housing stock and on the evolution of community facilities essential to safe and sanitary housing and of a mortgage credit system capable of supporting rising levels of production and home ownership It analyzes the uneven results of Federal housing legislation including the effort to assure equal access for all citizens to housing and mortgage markets and the unfortunate experience of the Department of Housing and Urban Development A look ahead to future prospects for housing production concludes the book

A New Housing Policy for America David C. Schwartz, Richard C. Ferlauto, Daniel N. Hoffman, 1988 This book proposes a comprehensive innovative and largely self financing plan to meet America s housing needs in the 1990s Showing how current housing policies and housing needs are diametrically opposed the authors analyze more than two hundred new state national and international housing efforts to derive a plan that will meet the challenge of U S housing and demographic trends in the 1990s Projecting the special needs of young families single parent families and low and moderate income families in the 1990s David Schwartz Richard Ferlauto and Daniel Hoffman propose new roles for non profit organizations and employers Their new plan advocates a federal down payment assistance loan program a lease purchase home buying program an employer assisted homeownership plan a mortgage interest rate buydown fund shared equity mortgages a new National Housing Investment Corporation and a Federal Housing Trust Fund to construct needed rental units In addition special programs are suggested to provide housing help to elderly people single parent families and the homeless Author note David C Schwartz is Professor of Political Science at Rutgers University and a member of the New Jersey General Assembly Richard C Ferlauto is a community organizer and legislative analyst who concentrates on housing and community economic development issues Daniel N Hoffman is a consultant on housing and urban economic development with The Atlantic Group in New Jersey

Race, Poverty, and American Cities John Charles Boger, Judith Welch Wegner, 1996 Precise connections between race poverty and the condition of America s cities are drawn in this collection of seventeen essays Policymakers and scholars from a variety of disciplines analyze the plight of the urban poor since the riots of the 1960s an

The New Housing Shortage Graham Hallett, 2021-06-29 Originally published in 1993 this book is a detailed comparative examination of the housing issue by housing experts looking at the USA UK Germany the Netherlands and France The volume offers an excellent blend of critical analysis and practical policy recommendations including a better targeting of tax concessions a move back to social housing more diverse than in the past and measures for reducing homelessness Perennial issues which remain as pertinent today as when the book was first published are also discussed homelessness housing affordability for people on low incomes changes in housing markets

Housing America Emily Tumpson Molina, 2017-03-16 In an effort to explain why housing remains among the United States most enduring social problems Housing America explores five of the U S s most fundamental recurrent issues in housing its population affordability of housing homelessness segregation and discrimination in the housing market homeownership and home financing and planning It describes these issues in detail why they should be considered problems the history and fundamental social debates surrounding them and the past current and possible policy solutions to address them While this book focuses on the major problems we face as a society in housing our population it is also about the choices we make about what is valued in our society in our attempts to solve them Housing America is appropriate for courses in urban studies urban planning and housing policy The

American Housing Question Randolph Hohle,2021-10-20 The American Housing Question reframes the question of affordable housing through the concepts of urban citizenship and racism Randolph Hohle argues that when we consider who benefits from affordable housing we end up with a complex story of inclusion and exclusion and of privilege and mobility centered around race and social class Historically affordable housing s underlying logic was to create the conditions for white people to exercise the privilege of mobility Affordable housing policy was first and foremost about granting white people the ability to live in racially segregated neighborhoods within and across urban areas When the beneficiaries of affordable housing policy were predominately white the state proceeded with a comprehensive and multifaceted plan to supply housing including public housing subsidizing the construction of market rate housing rental vouchers and rent control The white response to the Civil Rights era the precursor to neoliberal urban policy privatized public housing switched the responsibility to provide affordable housing to the market and created the conditions for the financialization of housing in the twenty first century that have made housing unaffordable for everyone As the author aptly demonstrates solving America s housing question means addressing both racism and revaluing the notion of the public Housing, Community

Development, and Homelessness Prevention Act of 1987 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs. Subcommittee on Housing and Community Development,1987 History of US Economy Since World War II John F. Walker,Harold G. Vatter,2015-06-11 A collection of articles covering the economic history of the US over the last 50 years It is selective in its coverage of important issues not often treated historically such as the economics of medical care and the educational system Housing America in the 1980s John S. Adams,1988-05-16 Housing provides shelter in a variety of forms but it is also resonant with meaning on many other levels as a financial asset a status symbol an expression of private aspirations and identities a means of inclusion or exclusion and finally as a battleground for social change John Adams impressive new study explores this complex topic in all its dimensions Using census data and other housing surveys Adams describes the recent history of housing in America the nature of housing supply and demand patterns of housing use and selected housing policy questions Adams supplements this national and regional analysis with a remarkable set of small area analyses revealing how neighborhood settings affect housing use and how market forces and other trends interact to shape a neighborhood These analyses focus on a sample of over fifty urbanized areas including the nation s three largest cities New York Los Angeles and Chicago Special two color maps illustrate the dynamics of housing use in each of these communities Clearly and insightfully this volume paints a unique picture of the American housing landscape a landscape that reflects and regulates significant aspects of our national life A Volume in the Russell Sage Foundation Census Series Housing America Randall G. Holcombe, 2017-07-05 Housing policy not only affects all Americans quality of life but has a direct impact on their financial well being About 70 percent of American households own their own homes and for most their homes represent the majority of their net worth Renters are affected by housing policy Even the small minority of Americans who are homeless are affected by housing policies specifically targeted to low income individuals The government's increasing involvement in housing markets fed by popular demand that government do something to address real problems of mortgage defaults and loans provides good reason to take a new look at the public sector in housing markets Crises in prime mortgage lending may lower the cost of housing but the poor and homeless cannot benefit because of increases in unemployment Even the private market is heavily regulated Government policies dictate whether people can build new housing on their land what type of housing they can build the terms allowed in rental contracts and much more This volume considers the effects of government housing policies and what can be done to make them work better It shows that many problems are the result of government rules and regulations Even in a time of foreclosures the market can still do a crucial job of allocating resources just as it does in other markets Consequently the appropriate policy response may well be to significantly reduce not increase government presence in housing markets Housing America is a courageous and comprehensive effort to examine housing policies in the United States and to show how such policies affect the housing market A Right to Housing Rachel Bratt, Michael Stone, Chester Hartman, 2006-02-15 How can we explain the persistent inability of the United States to meet the housing needs of a large portion of its people What can we do about the problem In this important new work leading progressive housing activists and thinkers examine the state of housing the housed and housing policy in the United States and then provide a comprehensive and detailed program for solving the problem under the goal of a Right to Housing Cities and Economic Inequality in Latin America Lena Simet, 2022-04-19 This book examines trends and determinants of economic inequality in cities in Latin America the world's most unequal region It explores how the gap between the haves and the have nots manifests in every part of urban life from housing to schooling to employment It asks why some cities have higher inequality than others and what we can learn from these differences as we push back against inequality The book starts with reviewing the policies and forces that explain the rise and fall of inequality in Latin America since the 1990s and why progress in reducing inequality has stalled It then focuses on Argentina's cities and applies a set of quantitative tools to identify inequality determinants It finds that intra urban inequality generally mirrors national level trends but local idiosyncrasies related to a city's labor market informal employment and social protection systems matter The book discusses the pitfalls of privatizing public services that turned access to water in metropolitan Buenos Aires more unequal It explores the promises and unintended consequences of slum upgrading initiatives in Buenos Aires Villa 20 The book presents lessons that can inform policies and practices in the region and beyond Developing a strategy against inequality that incorporates local features and resists the temptation to rely on the free market for solutions to urban problems offers a powerful opportunity Drawing from the field of economics and social and urban policy this book shows that the battle against inequality is not only won and lost in cities but also requires a uniquely public and urban response As such it will be of interest to advanced students researchers and policymakers across development economics urban studies and Latin American studies      Modern Housing for America Gail Radford,2008-10-03 In an era when many decry the failures of federal housing programs this book introduces us to appealing but largely forgotten alternatives that existed when federal policies were first defined in the New Deal Led by Catherine Bauer supporters of the modern housing initiative argued that government should emphasize non commercial development of imaginatively designed compact neighborhoods with extensive parks and social services The book explores the question of how Americans might have responded to this option through case studies of experimental developments in Philadelphia and New York While defeated during the 1930s modern housing ideas suggest a variety of design and financial strategies that could contribute to solving the housing problems of our own time      The Crisis of America's Cities Randall Bartlett,2015-05-20 An original work on American cities and the ongoing urban crisis Using the metaphor of the socially constructed organization of space Bartlett takes a broad view of the evolution of urban America from its historical roots to the present he then examines the way in which current policies have responded to and affected the organization of space covering housing transportation government and other urban problems He concludes with a look to the future of American cities how they will impact and be impacted on by changing commercial and labor markets by the problems of poverty and cultural change In an epilogue he explores possible ways to overcome the social dilemmas while recognizing the difficulty of this undertaking A thoroughly unique perspective to the study of cities this book is about how space is used in America and how it changes as the logic of location evolves historically Starting with the assumption that cities are fundamentally unnatural phenomena it unravels the interactions of technological advances that have made them possible and policies that have given them shape      Our national forests at risk : the 1872 mining law and its impact on the Santa Rita Mountains of Arizona : oversight field hearing ,      Issues for Debate in American Public Policy CQ Researcher,2021-08-26 Written by award winning CQ Researcher journalists this collection of non partisan reports offers an in depth examination of today s most pressing policy issues
