The New Crusades Emran Qureshi, Michael Anthony Sells, 2003 In these essays twelve of the most influential thinkers in Middle Eastern and religious studies examine the idea of an emergent Cold War between Islam and the West and fears of an ongoing clash of civilizations Cover 4      The New Crusades Emran Qureshi, Michael Anthony Sells, 2005      At War with Metaphor Erin Steuter, Deborah Wills, 2009-07-15 When photographs documenting the torture and humiliation of prisoners at Abu Ghraib came to the attention of a horrified public national and international voices were raised in shock asking how this happened At War with Metaphor offers an answer arguing that the abuses of Abu Ghraib were part of a systemic continuum of dehumanization This continuum has its roots in our public discussions of the war on terror and the metaphors through which they are repeatedly framed Arguing earnestly and incisively that these metaphors if left unexamined bind us into a cycle of violence that will only be intensified by a responsive violence of metaphor Steuter and Wills examine compelling examples of the images of animal insect and disease that inform shape and limit our understanding of the war on terror Tying these images to historical and contemporary uses of propaganda through a readable accessible analysis of media filters At War with Metaphor vividly explores how news media including political cartoons and talk radio are enmeshed in these damaging dehumanizing metaphors Analyzing media through the lenses of race and Orientalism it invites us to hold our media and ourselves accountable for the choices we make in talking war and making enemies      Jerusalem Falls John D. Making Peace In and With the World Heon Kim,John Raines,2011-12-08 Making Peace In and With the World The Green Movement and Eco Justice is a representative study and working analysis of contemporary Islamic thought on eco justice It cuts through problems facing humanity today ranging from inequality and violence in the smaller globalized world to the end death of nature as signaled by various environmental and ecological crises Addressing these problems this volume sheds light on two dimensions of peace in the earth community making peace between differing human communities and making peace between humanity and nature The phrase Eco Justice in this volume signifies this dual reality thereby offering a unique and insightful view that justice in the world must go hand in hand with ecological justice if peace is to be made. With its dual foci of peace, this volume contributes to multi-disciplinary academic areas. It adds to a burgeoning field of religious ecology by exploring the dynamics at play in the interaction between religion, human communities, and nature, and by providing natural scientific works with considerable theoretical, philosophical, and ethical implications. This volume also corresponds to studies in the interdisciplinary field of war and peace. Since it deals centrally with the question of religion and eco-justice, this volume challenges assumptions of exclusivist religion, religion-oriented violence, and the religion-based Clash of Civilizations. The contributors of this volume, from diverse academic backgrounds, take G. I. and the G. I. movement as the case study. Muhammed Fethullah G. I. is one of the most significant Islamic theologians in the contemporary world, and his inspired G. I. movement is the fastest growing Islamic civic movement worldwide. This volume provides a key reference to studies in G. I. and his movement for new discussions and criticisms. And by taking this figure and his movement as a case, it reveals a new dimension of peace among differing human communities and between humanity and nature.

Domestic Extremism and the Case of the Toronto 18
Jeremy Kowalski, 2016-09-30 This book examines domestic extremism and what is popularly referred to as radicalization. The fear of domestic extremism has been used to dismantle democracy and erect national security states throughout North America, Western Europe, and beyond. Yet despite the enormous costs citizens have paid in the name of security, society has become less secure and less safe. In many respects, this situation has resulted from the misapprehension of the conditions that make the emergence of this threat probable. Kowalski focuses on the macro social relations and structures that make radicalization probable. As demonstrated through an analysis of the so-called Toronto 18, an extremist group arrested in June of 2006 for activities that contravened the Canadian Anti-Terrorism Act (ATA), macro social relations and structures served a significant role in creating the conditions through which the process of radicalization became probable. If a comprehensive understanding of the processes of radicalization are to be reached and effective counter-terrorism policies developed, then the consideration this book provides of greater macro social relations and structures that make the emergence of extremist subjectivities probable is needed.

Challenging Identities
Peter Madsen, 2016-08-12 Identity is a keyword in a number of academic fields as well as in public debate and in politics. During the last decades, references to identity have proliferated, yet there is no simple definition available that corresponds to the use of the notion in all contexts. The significance of the notion depends on the conceptual or ideological constellation in which it takes part. This volume, on one hand, demonstrates the role of notions of identity in a variety of European contexts, and on the other hand, highlights how there may be reasons to challenge the use of the term and corresponding social, cultural, and political practices. Notions of national identity and national politics are challenged by European integration as well as by the increasing demographic heterogeneity due to migration and migrants experience conflicts of identification stemming from clashes between cultural heritage and the cultures of the new habitat European horizons frames of mind historical memories and expectations at the level of groups or communities at the national level and at the general European level are at odds Analyzing a series of issues in European countries from Turkey to Spain and from Scandinavia to the

Balkans the contributions demonstrate uses and abuses of the notion of identity Religious Othering Mark

Juergensmeyer, Kathleen Moore, Dominic Sachsenmaier, 2022-09-19 Perhaps the most disturbing feature of globalization is the emergence of a new tribalism an attitude expressed in the common phrase thank God we re not like them Religious Othering Global Dimensions explores this political and religious phenomenon Why are these new xenophobic movements erupting around the world at this moment in history and what are the features of religious identity that seem to appeal to them How do we make sense of the strident forms of religious exclusion that have been a part of the past and re emerged around the world in recent years This book brings together research scholars from different fields who have had to answer these questions in their own ground breaking research on religious othering movements Written in an engaging personal style these essays share these scholars attempts to get inside the worldviews of these neo nationalists through such research approaches as participant observation empathetic interviews and close textual reading Religious Othering Global Dimensions is of interest to students and scholars in religious studies and the social sciences In addition anyone concerned about the rise of religious extremism in the contemporary world will be fascinated with these journeys into the mindsets of dogmatic and sometimes violent religious groups The Inner Life of Race Leerom Medovoi, 2024-08-09 Leerom Medovoi traces the

The Invention of Race in the European Middle Ages Geraldine Heng, 2018-03-08 In The Invention of Race in the European Middle Ages Geraldine Heng questions the common assumption that the concepts of race and racism only began in the modern era Examining Europe's encounters with Jews Muslims Africans Native Americans Mongols and the Romani Gypsies from the 12th through 15th centuries she shows how racial thinking racial law racial practices and racial phenomena existed in medieval Europe before a recognizable vocabulary of race emerged in the West Analysing sources in a variety of media including stories maps statuary illustrations architectural features history saints lives religious commentary laws political and social institutions and literature she argues that religion so much in play again today enabled the positing of fundamental differences among humans that created strategic essentialisms to mark off human groups and populations for racialized treatment Her ground breaking study also shows how race figured in the emergence of homo europaeus and the identity of Western Europe in this time
