new ways of thinking about our past He shows how recent work in evolution and paleohistory makes it possible to join the deep past with the recent past and abandon once and for all the idea of prehistory Making an enormous literature accessible to the general reader he lays out a bold new case for bringing neuroscience and neurobiology into the realm of history

World Economic Historical Statistics Carlos Sabillon, 2005 Since the earliest of times human beings have endeavored to uncover the causes of prosperity History is the best tool that society possesses for identifying and analyzing the factors that contribute to economic growth yet economic statistics that lend themselves to comparison are hard to come by Even academics who specialize in individual countries almost never present a set of statistics covering the whole 20th century and for the previous centuries the data is even more chaotic Here for the first time the economic statistics of the world are presented in a rationalized format that allows for an easy comparison across countries and through time Part One analyzes the most relevant ideas and theories that have been considered as causal variables of economic growth It summarizes these ideas pedagogically and tests them against the historical data The results of such analyses are highly troubling because they reveal an absence of correlation between theory and reality Part Two presents a collection of statistics illustrating the development of the world economy during the last centuries The data was extracted from economic history and economic history books from the publications of the World Bank the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development the International Monetary Fund the World Trade Organization the United Nations specialized agencies research institutes and country statistical publications and other books and journals Analyzing the data over geography and time Sabillon concludes that contrary to contemporary wisdom left to market forces alone the economy will not and does not flourish The factors that cause growth he says still need to be studied with a fresh eye This orderly and consistent presentation of statistics may be just the tool that helps future economic theorists to identify a reliable path to sustained growth This analysis of the long term historical development of the nations of the world is the culmination of a fourteen year research project funded in part by the Swiss National Fund for Scientific Research the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva Switzerland and by the Geneva Business Institute Carlos Sabillon has an advanced degree from the Institute of International Studies Geneva Switzerland in Economic History His book Manufacturing Technology and Economic Growth was published by M E Sharpe Inc 2000

A Global History of Modern Historiography Georg G Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2013-09-13 So far histories of historiography have concentrated almost exclusively on the West This is the first book to offer a history of modern historiography from a global perspective Tracing the transformation of historical writings over the past two and half centuries the book portrays the transformation of historical writings under the effect of professionalization which served as a model not only for Western but also for much of non Western historical studies At the same time it critically examines the reactions in post modern and post colonial thought to established conceptions of scientific historiography A main theme of the book is how historians in the non Western world not only adopted or adapted Western ideas but also explored different approaches rooted in their own cultures

Port State Jurisdiction and the Regulation of International Merchant Shipping Bevan Marten, 2013-08-31 This book examines the concept of port state jurisdiction in the context of international maritime law In particular the book focuses on situations where port states have used their jurisdiction over visiting foreign flagged vessels to apply unilateral domestic law as compared with the internationally agreed standards enforced by regional port state control organisations To illustrate the legal issues involved three recent pieces of legislation are analysed in detail the United States Cruise Vessel Security and Safety Act 2010 the EU's liability insurance directive of 2009 and Australia's Fair Work Act 2009 Key issues include the legality of port states' attempts to regulate aspects of a vessel's structure or equipment or even certain activities that may take place before a vessel's arrival in port The author argues that examples of unilateral measures being imposed by way of port state jurisdiction are growing and that without active protests from flag states this concept will continue to expand in scope As international law currently presents very few restrictions on the actions of ambitious port states such developments may have a significant impact on the future of international maritime regulation

The Rise and Fall of Civic Education Michael Learn, 2024-09-16 Social studies is a field in crisis The crisis stems from failure to establish the very foundation of social studies purpose in public education civic education Social studies advocates have never put forth a coherent method for teaching civic education because policymakers and the public have been unable to agree upon a general definition of civic education This issue has disrupted the field since the early days As educators sought to include civic education within public schools as a dedicated field social studies evolved into a blending of history social sciences and civic education Social studies evolution never resolved the differences between the three with each discipline striving to control the narrative Instead of creating a unified field the disciplines devalued social studies and thus any discipline associated with it

The Rise and Fall of Civic Education The Battle for Social Studies in a Shifting Historical Landscape investigates the changing definitions and purposes ascribed to social studies in the United States through time This result is viewed through the rising tensions from culture wars as America's divisive politics fight to control the narrative of the disciplines within social studies
