New Institutional Economics And Third World Development:

The New Institutional Economics and Third World Development John Harriss, Janet Hunter, Colin M. Lewis, 1995 A major contribution to an area of debate still in its formative phase It offers new perspectives on both the micro foundations of economics and the long run dynamics of economic development

The Companion to Development Studies, 2nd Edition Vandana Desai, Robert B Potter, 2013-01-22 The Companion to Development Studies is an essential one stop reference for anyone with an interest in development studies Over 100 international experts have been brought together to present a comprehensive overview of the key theoretical and practical issues dominating contemporary development studies Building on the success of the first edition the second edition of the Companion has been thoroughly revised and updated and includes new chapters on a range of topics including ageing culture and development corruption and development and global terrorism Each chapter summarises current debates and provides guidance for further reading and research The Companion to Development Studies is indispensable for students of development studies at all levels from undergraduate to postgraduate and beyond in departments of development studies geography politics international relations sociology social anthropology and economics

Of Poverty and Plastic Kaveri Gill, 2009-10-28 Of Poverty and Plastic applies an interdisciplinary field economics approach to poverty analysis using a mix of survey and ethnographic data to challenge received notions of the nature and extent of narrow income poverty and multiple deprivations experienced by those working in the informal waste recovery and plastic recycling economy of Delhi A detailed analysis of specialization capital and value in various segments of this labour intensive green informal market is undertaken with explicit recognition of its wider social and political institutional context and how it is shaped by unequal interactions with civil society and the state In particular the book focuses on the identity and agency of subordinate scheduled caste groups living literally and metaphorically on the edge of the city in negotiating a decent life in today's neoliberal environment The case studies of the ban on recycled polythene bags and the industrial relocation order illustrate the channels through which these actors collectively seek to resist the perceived anti urban poor status quo driven by powerful middle class coalitions through legislation or judicial fiat with varying degrees of success In doing so the book exposes the complex and at times contrary policy reality binding poverty and deprivation formal and informal markets the state and citizenship in contemporary urban India International Development Bruce Currie-Alder, Ravi Kanbur, David M. Malone, Rohinton Medhora, 2014 A central premise is that an objective and universally accepted measure of success in development and paths to it does not exist

The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics: Context and concepts Célestin Monga, Justin Yifu Lin, 2015 For a long time economic research on Africa was not seen as a profitable venture intellectually or professionally few researchers in top ranked institutions around the world chose to become experts in the field This was understandable the reputation of Africa centered economic research was not enhanced by the well known limitations of economic data across the continent

Moreover development economics itself was not always fashionable and the broader discipline of economics has had its ups and downs and has been undergoing a major identity crisis because it failed to predict the Great Recession Times have changed many leading researchers including a few Nobel laureates have taken the subject of Africa and economics seriously enough to devote their expertise and creativity to it They have been amply rewarded the richness complexities and subtleties of African societies civilizations rationalities and ways of living have helped renew the humanities and the social sciences and economics in particular to the point that the continent has become the next major intellectual frontier to researchers from around the world In collecting some of the most authoritative statements about the science of economics and its concepts in the African context this handbook the first of two volumes opens up the diverse acuity of commentary on exciting topics and in the process challenges and stimulates the quest for knowledge Wide ranging in its scope themes language and approaches this volume explores examines and assesses economic thinking on Africa and Africa's contribution to the discipline The editors bring a set of powerful resources to this endeavor most notably a team of internationally renowned economists whose diverse viewpoints are complemented by the perspectives of philosophers political scientists and anthropologists

No Miracle Mitchell Wigdor, 2016-05-23 No Miracle examines the role of institutions in bridging the digital divide between rich and poor nations and what that means for the country's integration into a global economy Shifting the debate from whether institutions are important to economic development to which institutions are important and how to build them Mitchell Wigdor expertly addresses fundamental shortcomings in the existing development literature by identifying specific institutions that mediate the relationship between Information and Communications Technology ICT and economic growth In doing so he challenges those concerned with development to shift their gaze from whether institutions are important to economic development to which institutions might be the focus of government efforts and how to build them Detailed case studies of the economic development strategies of Singapore and Malaysia from 1960 demonstrate that institution building and economic development may be as much about process as the specific policies governments pursue Written in accessible non technical language this book should be read by everyone concerned with economic growth both in less economically developed countries and the more prosperous including those in government international organizations NGOs universities policy makers and the private sector

Handbook on the Politics of International Development Deciancio, Melisa, Nemiña, Pablo, Tussie, Diana, 2022-05-24 This innovative book sets out to rethink corporate social responsibility CSR in global value chains

Governance and Civil Society in Myanmar Helen James, 2005-03-21 Most international attention on Myanmar has focused on the political situation where the military in power since 1962 continues to refuse to acknowledge the results of democratic elections and on related human rights issues This book by focusing on education health and environment and on the institutions which formulate and deliver policy in these fields shows how the international community can make a significant difference to strengthening Myanmar's civil society and to supporting a future democratic form of government by encouraging institutional developments in these fields. Such developments in turn the author argues will re-skill the younger generation, promote economic development and poverty alleviation and through a participatory approach to policy making nurture the conditions from which democracy will grow. Routledge Handbook of International Statebuilding David Chandler, Timothy D. Sisk, 2013-09-02. This new Handbook offers a combination of theoretical, thematic and empirical analyses of the statebuilding regime written by leading international scholars. Over the past decade international statebuilding has become one of the most important and least understood areas of international policy making. Today there are around one billion people living in some 50-60 conflict-affected fragile states vulnerable to political violence and civil war. The international community grapples with the core challenges and dilemmas of using outside force and aid and persuasion to build states in the wake of conflict and to prevent such countries from lapsing into devastating violence. The Routledge Handbook of International Statebuilding is a comprehensive resource for this emerging area in International Relations. The volume is designed to guide the reader through the background and development of international statebuilding as a policy area as well as exploring in depth significant issues such as security, development, democracy and human rights. Divided into three main parts, this Handbook provides a single source overview of the key topics in international statebuilding: Part One: Concepts and Approaches; Part Two: Security, Development and Democracy; Part Three: Policy Implementation. This Handbook will be essential reading for students of statebuilding, humanitarian intervention, peacebuilding, development, war and conflict studies and IR. Economists and Poverty Daniel Rauhut, Neelambar Hatti, Carl-Axel Olsson, 2005. Industrialization and Globalization John Weiss, 2002-03-28. In a refreshingly accessible style John Weiss presents a survey of industrialization in developing countries since 1945 as well as a study of the predominant theories of industrial growth in the Third World. This authoritative text analyzes the possibility of different paths to industrialization: the dominant neoclassical view and the challenges. Governance Theory and Practice V. Chhotray, G. Stoker, 2008-11-12. Confusion about governance abounds. Many lack appreciation of how different traditions of thought in the social sciences contribute to our understanding. This book tackles these weaknesses head-on and aims to provide a wider vision of the area, examining three critical areas of practice: environmental, corporate and participatory governance. The Cultural Foundations of Economic Development Emily Chamlee-Wright, 2002-11. This book argues that international aid programmes are unsuccessful for indigenous African institutions because they are based on mainstream economic theory which is fundamentally acultural and does not understand their cultural context. The Wealth of Refugees Alexander Betts, 2021. Displacement is one of the most pressing issues facing humanity and it will become more so in the coming years as climate change and the impact of the coronavirus increase the extent of forced migration. The author confronts this head-on with a set of realistic policy recommendations. Providing Global Public Goods Inge Kaul, Pedro Conceicao, Katell Le Goulven, Ronald U. Mendoza, 2003-01-16 Elaborating on the concepts first introduced in Global Public Goods this book addresses the long overdue issue of how to adjust the concept of public goods to today's economic and political realities The production of global public goods requires the orchestration of initiatives by a large number of diverse actors across different levels and sectors It may require the collaboration of governments business and civil society and in most cases it almost certainly calls for an effective linkage of the local national regional and global levels In light of today s new realities this book examines a series of managerial and political challenges that pertain to the design and implementation of production strategies and the monitoring and evaluation of global public goods provision As participatory decision making enhances the political support for and thus the effectiveness of certain policy decisions this volume offers suggestions on a number of pragmatic policy reforms for bringing the global public more into public policy making on global issues Nine case studies examine the importance of the global public good concept from the viewpoint of developing countries exploring how and where the concerns of the poor and the rich overlap Providing Global Public Goods offers important and timely suggestions on how to move in a more feasible and systematic way towards a fairer process of globalization that works in the interests of all Agricultural Trade and Poverty Making Policy Analysis Count OECD,2003-01-10 This conference proceedings examines how trade liberalisation and rich country farming practices affect the world s poor
