New Latin American Cinema

Volume One
Theory, Practices, and Transcontinental
Articulations

A black and white photograph showing a group of people, possibly in a social or political setting. In the foreground, a man with a beard and a beret is looking towards the camera. Behind him, another man is visible, and in the background, there are other figures and what appears to be a crowd or a gathering. The image has a grainy, historical quality.

Globalization and Latin American Cinema Sophia A. McClennen, 2018-05-25 Studying the case of Latin American cinema this book analyzes one of the most public and most exportable forms of postcolonial national culture to argue that millennial era globalization demands entirely new frameworks for thinking about the relationship between politics culture and economic policies Concerns that globalization would bring the downfall of national culture were common in the 1990s as economies across the globe began implementing neoliberal free market policies and abolishing state protections for culture industries Simultaneously new technologies and the increased mobility of people and information caused others to see globalization as an era of heightened connectivity and progressive contact Twenty five years later we are now able to examine the actual impact of globalization on local and regional cultures especially those of postcolonial societies Tracing the full life cycle of films and studying blockbusters like City of God Motorcycle Diaries and Children of Men this book argues that neoliberal globalization has created a highly ambivalent space for cultural expression one willing to market against itself as long as the stories sell The result is an innovative and ground breaking text suited to scholars interested in globalization studies Latin American studies and film studies

Slums on Screen Igor Krstic, 2016-04-26 Near to one billion people call slums their home making it a reasonable claim to describe our world as a planet of slums But how has this hard and unyielding way of life been depicted on screen How have filmmakers engaged historically and across the globe with the social conditions of what is often perceived as the world's most miserable habitats. Combining approaches from cultural globalisation and film studies, Igor Krstic outlines a transnational history of films that either document or fictionalise the favelas, shantytowns, barrios, poulares or chawls of our planet of slums, exploring the way accelerated urbanisation has intersected with an increasingly interconnected global film culture. From Jacob Riis' How The Other Half Lives (1890) to Danny Boyle's Slumdog Millionaire (2008), the volume provides a number of close readings of films from different historical periods and regions to outline how contemporary film and media practices relate to their past predecessors, demonstrating the way various filmmakers both north and south of the equator have repeatedly grappled with rejected or continuously modified documentary and realist modes to convey life in our planet of slums.

Screening Schillebeeckx A. Sison, 2006-11-13 The book is an exploration of the creative crossings between the liberative stream of the eschatology of Edward Schillebeeckx and the stylistic strategies of Third Cinema, political cinema dedicated to the representation of Third World liberation.

Hispanic and Lusophone women filmmakers Parvati Nair, Julian Gutierrez-Albilla, 2019-01-04 This volume examines the films of Hispanic and Lusophone women filmmakers from the 1930s to the present day. It establishes productive connections between film practices across these geographical areas by identifying common areas of concern on the part of these female filmmakers. Focusing on aesthetic, theoretical and socio-historical analyses, it questions the manifest or latent gender and sexual politics that inform and structure the emerging cinematic productions by women filmmakers in Portugal, Spain, Latin America and the US. With a combination of scholars from the UK, the US, Spain and Latin America, the volume documents and interprets a fascinating corpus of films made by Hispanic and Lusophone women and proposes research strategies and methodologies that can expand our understanding of socio-cultural and psychic constructions of gender and sexual politics. An essential resource to rethink notions of gender identity and subjectivity, it is a unique contribution to Spanish and Latin American Film Studies and Film Studies.

Cesare Zavattini's Neo-realism and the Afterlife of an Idea David Brancaleone, 2021-07-15 How many Zavattinis are there? During a life spanning most of the twentieth century, the screenwriter who wrote Sciusci, Bicycle Thieves, Miracle in Milan and Umberto D. was also a pioneering magazine publisher in the 1930s, Milan's public intellectual, a theorist, a tireless campaigner for change within the film industry, a man of letters, a painter and a poet. This intellectual biography is built on the premise that in order to understand Zavattini's idea of cinema and his legacy of ethical and political cinema, including guerrilla cinema, we must also tease out the multi-faceted strands of his interventions and their interplay over time. The book is for general readers, students and film historians and anyone with an interest in cinema and its fate.

African Cinema: Manifesto and Practice for Cultural Decolonization Michael T. Martin, Gaston Jean-Marie Kaboré, 2023-08-08

Challenging established views and assumptions about traditions and practices of filmmaking in the African diaspora, this three-volume set offers readers a researched critique on black film. Volume Three of this landmark series on African cinema spans the past century and is devoted to the documentation of decoloniality in cultural policy in both Africa and the Black diaspora worldwide A compendium of formal resolutions declarations manifestos and programmatic statements it chronologically maps the long history and trajectories of cultural policy in Africa and the Black Atlantic Beginning with the 1920 declaration of the Rights of the Negro Peoples of the World which anticipates cinema as we know it today and the formal oppositional assertions aspirational and practical The first part of this work references formal statements that pertain directly to cultural policy and cinematic formations in Africa while the next part addresses the Black diaspora Each entry is chronologically ordered to account for when the statement was created followed by where and in what context it was enunciated
