beginning of World War II The charge was that Indians lacked leadership qualities and could not fly military aircraft and technically maintain them In just three years IAF technicians and pilots imbibed the discipline of the Air Force and performed magnificently in the North West Frontier Province By 1939 when the war broke out there was just one squadron In 1941 42 the Japanese onslaught on Burma provided the IAF with an opportunity to show its competence and leadership in battle As the Allied armies were retreating along with the RAF the IAF provided air cover By 1944 45 there were nine squadrons and till the end of the war there were constantly in action History records events taking an impersonal view What our younger generations need to know is people Without people there are no units and no organization This narrative is an effort to bring to the reader the fierce joy at fighting for the country the professional pride of doing one's duty and finally the personal touch I did it Through the mouths of youngsters who are no longer youngsters and some who have passed away the reader can imagine himself to be there whether in the North West tribal region or flying over the thick jungles of Burma It is the first person account that provides the flesh and blood to history by describing hopes fears and pride in facing death and the enemy at close quarters on the frontier or in Burma The narrative has interviews with those who took part in operations This is a story of the Indian Air Force coming of age after being bloodied in war Air Force Magazine, 2017 Short Stirling Units of World War 2 Jonathan Falconer, 2018-04-19 Of the RAF's trio of four engined heavy bombers in World War 2 the mighty Short Stirling was the first to enter service in August 1940 From its first raid in February 1941 the Stirling was at the forefront of the British night bombing offensive against Germany before unacceptably high losses forced its relegation to second line duties later in the war In its modified form as the Mark IV the Stirling fulfilled vital roles with the RAF as a paratroop transport and glider tug on D Day at Arnhem and on the Rhine crossing as well as flying countless Special Duties operations over Occupied Europe and Norway Its last gasp was in 1948 49 when a handful of Mk Vs were acquired by the Royal Egyptian Air Force to bomb Israel in the First Arab Israeli War Containing numerous first hand combat accounts from the crews that flew the bomber and detailed profile artwork Short Stirling Units of World War 2 uncovers the history of one of the RAF's greatest World War 2 bombers The Challenges of High Command G. Sheffield, G. Till, 2002-12-13 The command and control of military operations is a difficult art The Challenges of High Command explores British ideas of how this should be done and with the guidance of some of Britain's leading military historians looks at the practicalities of British experience in the First and Second World Wars The contributors cast new light on themes as diverse as the trench warfare of the First World War the conduct of the Gallipoli and Norway campaigns and the command performance of Bomber Harris and Bill Slim The Challenges of High Command concludes with a major review of how military operations should be conducted in the new political and technological conditions of today and includes an informal and frank commentary by General Sir Mike Jackson on his experience in Bosnia and Kosovo
