The Harlequin Eaters Janet Beizer, 2024-04-02 How representations of the preparation sale and consumption of leftovers in nineteenth century urban France link socioeconomic and aesthetic history The concept of the harlequin refers to the practice of reassembling dinner scraps cleared from the plates of the wealthy to sell repacked to the poor in nineteenth century Paris In The Harlequin Eaters Janet Beizer investigates how the alimentary harlequin evolved in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries from the earlier similarly patchworked Commedia dell'arte Harlequin character and can be used to rethink the entangled place of class race and food in the longer history of modernism By superimposing figurations of the edible harlequin taken from a broad array of popular and canonical novels newspaper articles postcard photographs and lithographs Beizer shows that what is at stake in nineteenth century discourses surrounding this mixed meal are representations not only of food but also of the marginalized people the harlequin eaters who consume it at this time when a global society is emerging She reveals the imbrication of kitchen narratives and intellectual aesthetic practices of thought and art presenting a way to integrate socioeconomic history with the history of literature and the visual arts The Harlequin Eaters also offers fascinating background to today's problems of food inequity as it unpacks stories of the for-profit recycling of excess food across class and race divisions

I'm Not an Artist Giovanni Alois, 2025-01-23 Romanticized notions of how one becomes an artist have long been questioned so why do we still fetishize them in popular culture turning a blind eye to the politics of exclusionism that characterize the art world and conforming our creative potential to well-trodden stereotypes I'm Not an Artist is a critical appraisal of the role of the artist through time and an account of how successful artists have conquered their spot in the history of art from the rise of the Renaissance artist star to the multiplicity of artistic identities we see in the creative landscape today Entertaining informative and packed with important but lesser-known stories about how artists became famous it examines the cultural importance of the professional label artist and invites readers to give up the artist myth in order to rediscover creativity beyond the stronghold of institutions markets trends and cultural clichés It's a book about art artists art history and the art market as well as the role creativity plays in our lives and how outdated power structures and professional labels are a hindrance to unlocking creative potential Openly engaging with the contradictions and paradoxes that currently define the relationship between artists the education system and the art market the book proposes an eco-cultural model that can allow artists to reconfigure their identities and in the process tilt the artworld's axis By turns a critical framework for examining what constitutes the term artist an alternative art historical account and a no-holds-barred guide to how the art world really works this boundary-breaking book challenges existing practices methodologies and metrics of success calling for a fairer art world that is non-elitist and multicultural It allows readers to critically position themselves in today's art world in a clear ethically grounded and responsible way the material history of reading in the period from 1815 to 1848 No Mercy Eleanor Learmonth, Jenny Tabakoff, 2013-07-24

Disaster strikes A ship goes down a plane crashes a party of travellers is cut off But when the panic and confusion subside and the dead are counted the survivors must find a way to keep surviving And in desperation unconstrained by law or conventional authority the tactics they resort to can be both horrifying and ultimately self destructive Learmonth and Tabakoff outline the physical and neurological changes that typically affect the victims of disaster Then using true stories from history as case studies they investigate the scenario famously imagined by William Golding in Lord of the Flies and borne out by the extraordinary Robbers Cave experiments of the 1950s As this fascinating book unfolds the awful truth becomes clear In extremis humans are capable of a swift descent into murderous savagery that is both hard to believe and impossible to forget Eleanor Learmonth has worked as a teacher and freelance journalist in Japan and Australia She has a reputation as a magnet for natural disasters Jenny Tabakoff has been a senior journalist in Australia and Britain for The Times the Sydney Morning Herald and AAP She is the co author of Australian Style Eleanor and Jenny live in Sydney with their husbands and children They met at the school gate Succinct yet considered accessible yet authoritative Learmonth and Tabakoff strike a happy balance between scholarliness and readability throughout cogent presentation of some truly harrowing subject matter which less responsible hands might have milked for vulgar sensationalism Bookseller and Publisher Well researched and well argued lively and energetic No Mercy is full of insights into leadership loyalty sacrifice and compassion that will challenge readers to wonder what they might do if similarly tested Booktopia Buzz Sometimes adversity brings out the best in people at other times it does the opposite This is about those other times excellent reading when you're safely at home Weekend Herald A fascinating post mortem of how certain groups manage to survive while others flailed about in drunken murderous chaos Daily Telegraph This fascinating book shines light on an awful truth Get Reading
