JOHN A. LIVINGSTON

"ROGUE PRIMATE is one hell of a book, written by one of the most perceptive primatologists of our species. John Livingston cuts through all the bunk and tells us exactly what we're thinking about man and his place in nature, and tells us the whole truth."

Rogue Primate An Exploration Of Human Domestication:

Rogue Primate John A. Livingston, 1994 Winner of the 1994 Governor General's Award If you buy only one book this decade let it be Rogue Primate The Toronto Star 1994 Rogue Primate John A. Livingston, 2001 In the 1970s environmentalist John Livingston began to find serious flaws in the conventional conservation argument He began to challenge the belief that the survival of undomesticated plants and animals in a world dominated by humans could be enabled through resource conservation managed by humans He argues that our dependence on ideas in effect our own domestication has cut us off from the natural world and led us to believe that our domination over nature is itself natural Rooted in the Land William Vitek, Wes Jackson, 1996-01-01 This book is dedicated to the notion that human lives are enriched by participation in a social community that is integrated into the natural landscape of a particular place The writers explore the loss of community the philosophical foundations of communities Amish communities and the current renewal of community life In Other Words Anna Porter, 2018-09-25 In Other Words is a lively charming gossipy memoir of life in the publishing trenches and how one restlessly curious young woman sparked a creative awakening in a new country she chose to call home We need our own dreams Anna Porter When Anna Porter arrived in Canada in early 1968 with one battered suitcase little money and a head full of dreams she had no idea that this country would become her home for the rest of her life or that she would play a major role in defining what it means to be Canadian And where better to become a Canadian than at the dynamic publishing house McClelland of prima donnas such as Roloff Beny and Harold Town whose excesses threatened to sink the company of exhausted editors dealing with intemperate writers of crazy schemes to interest Canadians in buying books She recalls the thrilling days at the helm of the company she founded in the 1980s when Canada's writers were suddenly front page news As president of Key Porter Books she dodged lawsuits argued with bank managers and fought to sell Canadian authors around the world This intriguing memoir brings to life that time in our history when finally the voices Canadians craved to hear were our own In Other Words is a love letter to Canada's authors and creative agitators who against almost impossible odds have sustained and advanced the nation's writing culture Moving effortlessly from the boardrooms of Canada's elite and the halls of power in Ottawa to the threadbare offices of idealistic young publishers and ultimately to her own painful yet ever present past in Hungary Porter offers an unforgettable insider's account of what is gained and lost in a lifetime of championing our stories Religion and Dangerous Environmental Change Dieter Gerten, 2010 Given the increasing threats of environmental changes to human societies it is imperative to complement technological and economical problem solutions with alternative perspectives from the humanities and the arts This pioneering book attempts to advance climate and environmental sciences by including religion as a microcosm of cultural response to environmental change The authors are renowned in disciplines as diverse as hydrology religious studies theology cultural studies philosophy and visual arts They exemplify how religion can contribute to sustainable mitigation of climate change and to creative adaption to its impacts thus preparing for a deep cultivation of research on religion in environmental change

Environmental Anthropology Engaging Ecotopia Joshua Lockyer, James R. Veteto, 2013-04-01 In order to move global society towards a sustainable ecotopia solutions must be engaged in specific places and communities and the authors here argue for re orienting environmental anthropology from a problem oriented towards a solutions focused endeavor Using case studies from around the world the contributors scholar activists and activist practitioners examine the interrelationships between three prominent environmental social movements bioregionalism a worldview and political ecology that grounds environmental action and experience permaculture a design science for putting the bioregional vision into action and ecovillages the ever dynamic settings for creating sustainable local cultures

A New Approach to Conservation Gill

Aitken,2018-01-18 Conservationists assume a set of underlying values which guide their decision making and action The safeguarding or promotion of biodiversity it is believed is the means by which nature is best protected This book examines and challenges these general conservation assumptions While reinforcing the need to halt extinction and value biodiversity it shows that biodiversity needs to be more clearly understood perhaps being replaced by the notion of wildness It examines how biodiversity is a holistic term and how individual species need to be assessed and their own contribution to wildness has to be recognized The book proposes a new way of conservation one which makes more room for neglected rather than endangered or rare species It also asserts that wildness is not incompatible with certain kinds of human intervention The Ecological Hoofprint Tony Weis,2013-11-14 The exploding global consumption of meat is implicated in momentous but greatly underappreciated problems and industrial livestock production is the driving force behind soaring demand Following his previous ground breaking book The Global Food Economy Tony Weis explains clearly why the growth and industrialization of livestock production is a central part of the accelerating biophysical contradictions of industrial capitalist agriculture The Ecological Hoofprint provides a rigorous and eye opening way of understanding what this system means for the health of the planet how it contributes to worsening human inequality and how it constitutes a profound but invisible aspect of the violence of everyday life Environmental Ethics Bob Jickling,Heila Lotz-Sisitka,Lausanne Olvitt,Rob O'Donoghue,Ingrid Schudel,Dylan McGarry ,Blair Niblett,2021-12-07 This well constructed and highly original sourcebook integrates educational materials for teaching environmental ethics with theoretical reflections The book is set to contribute immensely to its aim of taking ethics out of philosophy departments and putting it into the streets into villages and on the Earth to make ethics an everyday activity not something left to experts and specialists Context based activities are presented in almost every chapter While it acknowledges foundational theories in environmental ethics and the work that they continue to do it wholeheartedly embraces a growing body of literature that emphasises contextual process oriented and place based approaches to ethical reflection deliberation and action It walks on the ground and isn't afraid to get a little dirty or to seek joy in earthly relationships And it ultimately breaks with much Western academic tradition by framing ethics in a storied world thus making room to move beyond Euro American perspectives in environmental issues This work will be of interest to school teachers and other non formal and informal educators teacher educators college instructors university professors and other professionals who wish to bring environmental ethics to the forefront of their pedagogical practices The Subjugation of Canadian Wildlife Max Foran,2018-04-10 Hardly a day goes by without news of the extinction or endangerment of yet another animal species followed by urgent but largely unheeded calls for action An eloquent denunciation of the failures of Canada's government and society to protect wildlife from human exploitation Max Foran's The Subjugation of Canadian Wildlife argues that a root cause of wildlife depletions and habitat loss is the culturally ingrained beliefs that underpin management practices and policies Tracing the evolution of the highly contestable assumptions that define the human wildlife relationship Foran stresses the price wild animals pay for human self interest Using several examples of government oversight at the federal provincial and territorial levels from the Species at Risk Act to the Biodiversity Strategy Protected Areas Network and provincial management plans this volume shows that wildlife policies are as much or more about human needs priorities and profit as they are about preservation Challenging established concepts including ecological integrity adaptive management sport hunting as conservation and the flawed belief that wildlife is a renewable resource the author compels us to recognize animals as sentient individuals and as integral components of complex ecological systems A passionate critique of contemporary wildlife policy The Subjugation of Canadian Wildlife calls for belief change as the best hope for an ecologically healthy wildlife rich Canada Salmonine Introductions to the Laurentian Great Lakes Stephen Scott Crawford, National Research Council Canada, 2001 This publication provides an historical review and evaluation of documented ecological effects associated with salmonine introductions to the Laurentian Great Lakes The introduction of salmonines to the Great Lakes date back to the 1870s when natural populations of native salmonines in the Great Lakes were in severe decline Using established evaluation protocols it was determined that there is evidence of significant ecological effects in six different categories 1 diseases and parasites 2 predation on native species 3 competition for limiting resources 4 genetic alteration 5 environmental alteration and 6 community alteration Taken together this body of evidence supports the conclusion that the ongoing introduction of non native salmonines poses an ecologically significant risk to the Great Lakes ecosystem and its native organisms and that the introductions should be terminated

Social Ecology and Education David Wright, Stuart B. Hill, 2020-09-01 Social Ecology and Education addresses ecological understanding as a transformative educational issue a learning response to emerging insights into social ecological relationships and the future of life on our planet In the face of the existential threats posed by climate change loss of biodiversity pandemics and the associated ecological and social challenges there is a need to extend our responses beyond scientific inquiry and technological initiatives This book seeks to move the dialogue towards a deeper and broader understanding of the complexities of the issues involved To achieve this the book discusses issues rarely addressed through programs in Education for Sustainability and Environmental Education such as student defined knowledge systems deep engagement with the implications of indigenous understandings climate change as symptomatic of broad epistemological problems social disengagement and differentiated barriers to meaningful change This work is enriched by its focus on the learning and the learning systems that have led to our current predicament This book seeks to initiate considerations of this kind to invigorate education for sustainable equitable healthy and meaningful futures As such this book will be of great interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students in a range of education and environmental courses Canadian Issues in Environmental Ethics Wesley Cragg, Allan Greenbaum, Alex Wellington, 1997-06-10 Is it possible to design a forest policy that satisfies ethical and environmental concerns and is acceptable to business labour and First Nations representatives What is the best path through the tangle of ethical issues surrounding the collapse of the east coast fishery What sort of obligations does a rich nation such as Canada have to satisfy the claims of global environmental justice These are the sorts of issues in applied ethics that are tackled in this collection of essays the vast majority of which have been written especially for this volume It is the first Canadian collection of its kind The book is divided in to sections detailing with such topics as the environment and the economy ethical issues relating to non human animals issues of gender and issues relating to native peoples Most of the authors are philosophers though specialists in geography geology and the social sciences are also among the contributors Frequent reference is made to theoretical ethical concerns but the focus throughout is on applied ethics and a variety of case studies are included Examples include essays on animal rights and the case of native hunters surface mining in Northern Ontario the Quebec arctic and fishing communities in the Maritimes Comparisons are frequently drawn to policies and ethical questions arising in other countries most prominently the United States

Interrogating Travel Paul J. Lindholdt, Paul Lindholdt, 2023-06-14 Never in human history has travel been so accessible to so many But amid an escalating climate crisis that threatens the homes of vulnerable people across the world has the human cost of trekking the globe become too high Paul Lindholdt links firsthand narratives with research about the travel trade telling stories of his reluctant voyages while arguing that carbon intensive trips abroad may be offset if adventurers come to know and love the landscapes closer to home Tourism may be the planet s largest industry but Interrogating Travel advises readers to stay mindful of the consequences of their journeys whether visiting local getaways or some of Earth s most remote locations

Adventures with Ari Kathryn Miles, 2009-04-01 Merle s Door was a sensation because Ted Kerasote writes so beautifully about his dog and his dog s love of the land In Adventures with Ari Kathryn Miles takes a step back from the wild places Kerasote describes When she adopts Ari an exotic Jindo dog the two of them begin to explore the outdoors together A dog sees the world quite differently from a person For starters he or she is much closer to the ground to what we ve been trying to preserve more and more of these days A dog is the original environmental activist The sights sounds and smells of nature are what make a dog a dog And if you want to learn more about nature try enjoying life like a dog Kathryn Miles sets out to do just that when she becomes determined to let Ari live life on her own terms Once some basic ground rules are set Kathryn takes the leash off her dog and the blinders off her own eyes A new world soon emerges She and Ari explore a backyard landscape of grass mud snow trees and the occasional fox They find the scent of a northern wind the footprints of a startled raccoon and other secrets of the natural world The puppy s free spirited outlook teaches Kathryn to see more when she might otherwise have seen less while adding a certain excitement and clarity of vision Soon Kathryn begins to give up control and know the world as Ari learns it Peppered with factual information about our natural world and the creatures that inhabit it Adventures with Ari makes compelling reading for dog lovers as well as anyone who s been out and about in the woods Like most projects of discovery this process forces Kathryn to uncover much more than the physical it allows important insight to her thoughts and feelings and her relationship with her entire family all thanks to a puppy named Ari
