Role Of State Departments Of Education In Complex School Reform:

The Role of State Departments of Education in Complex School Reform Susan Follett Lusi, 1997 The Role of State Departments of Education in Complex School Reform uses in depth case studies of two models of statewide school reform Kentucky and Vermont to examine the role of state departments in the reform process Susan Follett Lusi's nearly 200 interviews and multiple site visits detail how these departments of education implemented their reform plans and describe the effects of their choices on both the internal dynamics of the departments as well as on the external ability of schools and districts to implement reform The efforts of these two departments are measured against the challenging demands of systemic reform and data from the case studies provide a powerful basis for analysis and discussion This well researched study will be valuable reading for graduate courses in educational policy administration foundations and school reform and will be of interest to researchers and professors involved in those areas as well as to state level policy makers

The State Role in School Turnaround Lauren Morando Rhim, Sam Redding, 2014-03-01 With chapters written by leading researchers and practitioners actively engaged in the work this Edited Volume examines the role of the state education agency in school turnaround efforts An emphasis is placed on practical application of research and best practice related to the State Education Agency's SEA's critical leadership role in driving and supporting successful school turnaround efforts The Edited Volume is organized around the Center on School Turnaround's four objectives with sections devoted to each 1 Create a Pro Turnaround Statutory and Regulatory Environment 2 Administer and Manage Turnaround Efforts Effectively 3 Provide Targeted and Timely Technical Assistance to Local Educational Agencies and Schools 4 Advocate and Lead to Build Support for Local Turnaround Efforts

The Role of Public Policy in K-12 Science Education George E. DeBoer, 2011-01-01 The goal of this volume of Research in Science Education is to examine the relationship between science education policy and practice and the special role that science education researchers play in influencing policy It has been suggested that the science education research community is isolated from the political process pays little attention to policy matters and has little influence on policy But to influence policy it is important to understand how policy is made and how it is implemented This volume sheds light on the intersection between policy and practice through both theoretical discussions and practical examples This book was written primarily about science education policy development in the context of the highly decentralized educational system of the United States But because policy development is fundamentally a social activity involving knowledge values and personal and community interests there are similarities in how education policy gets enacted and implemented around the world This volume is meant to be useful to science education researchers and to practitioners such as teachers and administrators because it provides information about which aspects of the science education enterprise are affected by state local and national policies It also provides helpful information for researchers and practitioners who wonder how they might influence policy In particular it points out how the values of people who are affected by policy initiatives are critical to the implementation of those policies Handbook on Statewide Systems of Support Sam Redding, Herbert J. Walberg, 2008-02-01 published in co operation with The Center on Innovation Improvement As subsequent chapters point out the No Child Left Behind Act NCLB requires states to provide assistance to districts in improving the schools within their purview Of course the U S Constitution and federal laws leave the control of education largely to the states and states have long provided support to school districts In return for federal monies however NCLB requires states to provide such help under the statewide systems of support SSOS provision of the Act The purposes of this Handbook are to survey the research related to statewide systems of support to present the experience and insights of educational leaders in how such support can best be conducted and to derive actionable principles for improving schools It is intended for use not only by the staff of the U S Department of Education sponsored Regional Centers that serve state department staff but also by the staff of school districts and schools Also sponsored by the U S Department of Education the Center on Innovation Improvement CII previously developed the Handbook on Restructuring and Substantial School Improvement Walberg 2007 that became the basis of CII s technical assistance to Regional Centers on this topic CII made available for downloading Power Point presentations and web based seminars webinars based on the previous Handbook CII s intended audiences widely employed the previous Handbook on Restructuring and Substantial School Improvement and auxiliary materials and found them useful in their technical assistance efforts to disseminate and encourage evidence based ideas for restructuring and improving schools With advice from the U S Department of Education scholarly experts and experienced educators in the Regional Centers state departments of education and school districts the CII staff concluded that what it envisioned as the present Handbook would be similarly useful System-wide Efforts to Improve Student Achievement Kenneth K. Wong, Stacey Rutledge, 2006-03-01 Strong system wide support is increasingly being identified as laying an important role in policy efforts aimed at increasing student achievement Hightower Knapp March and McLaughlin 2002 Yet current research often views district and other system wide support as largely governance changes without substantive linkage to school improvement outcomes Cuban and Usdan 2003 In this volume we seek to deepen our understanding of the role of school districts and system wide initiatives through a series of case studies that focus on how school districts and system wide actors facilitate policy innovation and reform initiatives that are designed to improve student achievement Through both quantitative and qualitative studies from diverse settings across the country chapters in this volume examine the role of instructional technology alternative accountability practices management and partnership reforms and school improvement efforts through new incentive and support practices While challenges remain these case studies demonstrate how districts support and facilitate school change aimed at improving student achievement

Sorensen, 2022-10-17 American educators and policy makers have grown increasingly frustrated in recent decades as attempts to enhance equity and bring American student learning to the level experienced in other countries have faltered Recent efforts have included the standards movement as well as broad expansion of school choice These endeavors which largely rely on market based thinking assume that individual schools and teachers have the will and ability to do better if only prodded by competition and other sticks and carrots Such attempts overlook flaws in a system developed to provide a common education while also subdividing resources to maintain privilege for some This book traces the history of American education as a foundation to examining persistent weaknesses in education today Meaningful reform and improvement which are urgent needs will require broad systemic change based on the engagement of many sectors This book offers a vision for such reform Following successful models in other countries suggests options for moving away from current deeply enmeshed systemic inequities to a system better suited to meeting a broad range of educational needs A portfolio of diverse schools regionally administered and held accountable for student learning presents an option for moving away from inequitable district structures and scatter shot choice options The critical questions are how to get there from here and do we have the will to do so The book concludes with suggestions on how to start the process International Handbook of Educational Policy Nina Bascia, Alister Cumming, Amanda Datnow, Kenneth Leithwood, David Livingstone, 2008-05-14 Nina Bascia Alister Cumming Amanda Datnow Kenneth Leithwood and David Livingstone This Handbook presents contemporary and emergent trends in educational policy research in over fifty chapters written by nearly ninety leading researchers from a number of countries It is organized into five broad sections which capture many of the current dominant educational policy foci and at the same time situate current understandings historically in terms of both how they are conceptualized and in terms of past policy practice The chapters themselves are empirically grounded providing illustrations of the conceptual implications contained within them as well as allowing for comparisons across them The serendipity within chapters with respect to jurisdictional particularities and contexts allows readers to consider not only a range of approaches to policy analysis but also the ways in which policies and policy ideas play out in different times and places The sections move from a focus on prevailing policy tendencies through increasingly critical and outsider perspectives on policy They address in turn the contemporary strategic emphasis on large scale reform substantive emphases at several levels on leadership and governance improving teacher quality and conceptualizing learning in various domains around the notion of literacies and concluding finally with a contrasting topic workplace learning which has had less policy attention and thus allows readers to consider both the advantages and disadvantages of learning and teaching under the bright gaze of policy Introducing the World of
