Measuring Gender Equality in Science and Engineering UNESCO,2017-11-13 Gender at the Crossroads of Knowledge Micaela di Leonardo,2023-09-01 Gender at the Crossroads of Knowledge brings feminist anthropology up to date highlighting the theoretical sophistication that characterizes recent research Twelve essays by outstanding scholars written with the volume s concerns specifically in mind range across the broadest anthropological terrain assessing and contributing to feminist work on biological anthropology primate studies global economy new reproductive technologies ethno linguistics race and gender and more The editor s introduction not only sets two decades of feminist anthropological work in the multiple contexts of changes in anthropological theory and practice political and economic developments and larger intellectual shifts but also lays out the central insights feminist anthropology has to offer us in the postmodern era The profound issues raised by the authors resonate with the basic interests of any discipline concerned with gender that is all of the social sciences and humanities Gender at the Crossroads of Knowledge brings feminist anthropology up to date

highlighting the theoretical sophistication that characterizes recent research Twelve essays by outstanding scholars written with the volume's concerns specifically in UNESCO science report UNESCO,2015-11-09 There are fewer grounds today than in the past to deplore a North South divide in research and innovation This is one of the key findings of the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 A large number of countries are now incorporating science technology and innovation in their national development agenda in order to make their economies less reliant on raw materials and more rooted in knowledge Most research and development R D is taking place in high income countries but innovation of some kind is now occurring across the full spectrum of income levels according to the first survey of manufacturing companies in 65 countries conducted by the UNESCO Institute for Statistics and summarized in this report For many lower income countries sustainable development has become an integral part of their national development plans for the next 10 20 years Among higher income countries a firm commitment to sustainable development is often coupled with the desire to maintain competitiveness in global markets that are increasingly leaning towards green technologies The quest for clean energy and greater energy efficiency now figures among the research priorities of numerous countries Written by more than 50 experts who are each covering the country or region from which they hail the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 provides more country level information than ever before The trends and developments in science technology and innovation policy and governance between 2009 and mid 2015 described here provide essential baseline information on the concerns and priorities of countries that could orient the implementation and drive the assessment of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in the years to come International African Bibliography ,1991 The Chemical Element Javier García-Martínez,Elena Serrano-Torregrosa,2011-09-19 In the International Year of Chemistry prominent scientists highlight the major advances in the fight against the largest problems faced by humanity from the point of view of chemistry showing how their science is essential to ensuring our long term survival Following the UN Millennium Development Goals the authors examine the ten most critical areas including energy climate food water and health All of them are opinion leaders in their fields or high ranking decision makers in national and international institutions Intended to provide an intellectual basis for the future development of chemistry this book is aimed at a wide readership including students professionals engineers scientists environmentalists and anyone interested in a more sustainable future Gender and Agricultural Development Helen Kreider Henderson,2022-03-29 Agricultural planning and development are crucial to human survival but they usually proceed without any consideration of the importance of gender issues at the production level Although women have long been prime movers in agriculture their contribution to the world's food supply has been largely ignored and consequently their stake in development has been undermined This book is both a resource guide and a review of major issues in gender and agriculture which demonstrates that recognizing the contribution of women to agricultural production is a necessary step in development planning It presents relevant information and research literature regarding women's roles in agriculture in a consolidated and accessible format offering insights into how the inclusion or exclusion of appropriate information at the planning stage can have an impact during implementation It also provides guidelines for locating information on gender related agricultural issues and incorporating it into development planning research and training The literature reviewed not only calls attention to the work women do in order to improve their access to technology and training but also challenges existing development paradigms The issues discussed present women s experiences and local knowledge and allude to gender and class inequities that farming women face Each chapter is intended to help the reader address major gender issues in a specific subject in order to access relevant information and thereby better design and implement appropriate agricultural planning and policies By synthesizing twenty years of international research Gender and Agricultural Development provides an effective tool for development practitioners to use in training programs or surveys in order to ensure the appropriate collection of gender disaggregated data and for educators to integrate gender issues into courses dealing with social aspects of agricultural systems Its findings are presented in such a way as to allow them to be easily incorporated into innovative planning for more sustainable and equitable agricultural policies The Role of Women in the Development of Science and Technology in the Third World Akhtar Mahmud Faruqui, 1991
