Translation Multiples Kasia Szymanska,2025-05-27 A new genre of writing demonstrating that translation is neither a transparent medium nor a secondary form of literature In Translation Multiples Kasia Szymanska examines what happens when translators poets and artists expose the act of translation by placing parallel translation variants next to one another in a standalone work of art presenting each as a legitimate version of the original Analyzing such translation multiples as a new genre of writing Szymanska explores how an original text can diverge into variants how such multiplicity can be displayed and embraced and how the resulting work can still be read as a coherent text To do so she focuses on contemporary projects in two different contexts Anglophone experimental practices and post 1989 Poland's emergence into democracy while viewing them against the backdrop of twentieth century cultural and political developments Szymanska first takes a broad look at Anglophone global culture debunking the myth of translation as a transparent medium and an unoriginal secondary form of writing She then turns to postcommunist Poland where projects introducing multiple translation variants with different ideological readings offered an essential platform for pluralist political discussion She examines in particular an elaborate metatranslation of La Marseillaise a triple rendering of Anthony Burgess's novel A Clockwork Orange and a quadruple book of Bertolt Brecht's poetry with distinct readings by four translators She argues that the creators of such multiples want to tell their own stories personal critical visual or political Showing why multiple translations matter Szymanska calls for a redefined practice of reading translations that follows the ethics of the multiple The New Age, Concordium Gazette, & Temperance Advocate, 1843

The Yellow Wallpaper Charlotte Perkins Gilman, 2018-02-03 This short story is regarded as an important early work of American feminist literature due to its illustration of the attitudes towards mental and physical health of women in the 19th century Narrated in the first person the story is a collection of journal entries written by a woman whose physician husband John has rented an old mansion for the summer Forgoing other rooms in the house the couple moves into the upstairs nursery As a form of treatment the unnamed woman is forbidden from working and is encouraged to eat well and get plenty of air so she can recuperate from what he calls a temporary nervous depression a slight hysterical tendency a diagnosis common to women during that period Points of View James Moffett, Kenneth R. McElheny, 1995-08-01 Since its original publication in 1966 this volume has attained classic status Now its contents have been updated and its cultural framework enlarged by the original editors Many of the 44 stories come from a new writing generation with a contemporary consciousness and this brilliant blending of masters of the past and the brightest talents of the present achieves the goal of making a great collection even greater

Galleries and Cabinets of Art in Great Britain Gustav Friedrich Waagen, 1857 The Eighth Promise William Poy Lee, 2007-11-27 A portrait of the Asian American experience from the perspective of a mother and son traces the author's childhood in the 1960s housing projects of San Francisco's Chinatown and the disparate views held by both son and mother about such topics as survival tradition and culture 30 000 first printing Publisher and Bookseller, 1863 Vols for 1871 76 1913 14 include an extra number The Christmas bookseller separately paged and not included in the consecutive numbering of the regular series
