Sanctuary The Movie:

Reconstructing Violence Deborah E. Barker, 2015-11-11 In this bold study of cinematic depictions of violence in the south Deborah E Barker explores the ongoing legacy of the southern rape complex in American film Taking as her starting point D W Griffith s infamous Birth of a Nation Barker demonstrates how the tropes and imagery of the southern rape complex continue to assert themselves across a multitude of genres time periods and stylistic modes Drawing from Gilles Deleuze s work on cinema Barker examines plot dialogue and camera technique as she considers several films The Story of Temple Drake 1933 Sanctuary 1958 Touch of Evil 1958 To Kill a Mockingbird 1962 and Cape Fear 1962 Placing this body of analysis in the context of the historical periods when these films appeared and the literary sources on which they are based Barker reveals the protean power of cinematic racialized violence amid the shifting cultural and political landscapes of the South and the nation as a whole By focusing on familiar literary and cinematic texts each produced or set during moments of national crisis such as the Great Depression or the civil rights movement Barker s Reconstructing Violence offers fresh insights into the anxiety that has underpinned sexual and racial violence in cinematic representations of the South
