Natural History, 1922      A History of Geographical Discovery in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries Edward Heawood, 1912      A History of Geographical Discovery in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries Edward Heawood, 2022-09-15 In A History of Geographical Discovery in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries Edward Heawood meticulously chronicles the expansive exploration that characterized the Age of Enlightenment. Written in a formal yet accessible style, Heawood's work delves into the pioneering voyages and the scientific underpinnings that fueled the era's cartographic advancements. This comprehensive narrative not only illuminates key expeditions but also integrates contemporary scientific thought, geographical theories, and the political motivations behind exploration, placing the works within a broader cultural and historical context. Edward Heawood, a distinguished scholar of geography, utilized his profound understanding of cartography and historical research to produce this seminal work. His academic background and passion for exploration allow him to scrutinize the geopolitical climates and the significant figures ranging from explorers to scientists that shaped this transformative period. His insights are informed by both a rich scholarly tradition and a keen awareness of the continuing relevance of geographical knowledge in the modern world. Heawood's book is an essential read for anyone interested in exploration, cartography, and the scientific advancements of the early modern period. A Brief Natural History of Civilization Mark Bertness, 2020-04-14 A compelling evolutionary narrative that reveals how human civilization follows the same ecological rules that shape all life on Earth. Offering a bold new understanding of who we are, where we came from, and where we are going, noted ecologist Mark Bertness argues that human beings and their civilization are the products of the same self-organization, evolutionary adaptation, and natural selection processes that have created all other life on Earth. Bertness follows the evolutionary process from the primordial soup of two billion years ago through today, exploring the ways opposing forces of competition and cooperation have led to current assemblages of people, animals, and plants. Bertness's thoughtful examination of human history from the perspective of natural history provides new insights about why and how civilization developed as it has and explores how humans as a species might have to consciously overrule our evolutionary drivers to survive future challenges.
