Kozlowski,Maria Mackiewicz-Talarczyk,2020-01-28 The Handbook of Natural Fibres Second Edition Volume One Types Properties and Factors Affecting Breeding and Cultivation covers every aspect of natural fibers their breeding cultivation processing and applications This volume features fundamental discussions of each fiber covering different stages of breeding and cultivation Natural fibrous resources both lignocellulosic and protein ones are renewable biodegradable and nontoxic making them an important source of sustainable textile solutions A broad range of natural fibers are covered in this book including cotton jute kenaf flax hemp sisal ramie curaua pineapple bamboo coir sheep wool and more Provides detailed instructions for how to carry out the latest scientific methods for identifying natural fibers Explains properties of natural fibers that will be of interest to readers in growth fields like biocomposites and nanofibers Includes a rare overview of emerging natural fibers and their uses along with sources of further information Natural Hazards and Human-Exacerbated Disasters in Latin America Edgardo Latrubesse,2009-09-10 The main objective of the book is to offer a vision of the dynamics of the main disasters in South America describing their mechanisms and consequences on South American societies The chapters are written by selected specialists of each country Human induced disasters are also included such as desertification in Patagonia and soil erosion in Brazil The receding of South American glaciers as a response to recent climatic trends and sea level scenarios are discussed The approach is broad in analyzing causes and consequences and includes social and economic costs discussing environmental and planning problems but always describing the geomorphologic geologic involved processes with a good scientific substantiation This is important to differentiate the book from others of a more social impact that discuss risks and disasters with emphases mainly on economy and simple impacts Actual theme interesting for a variety of professionals Fills in the scarcity of specialized literature in geosciences from South America The first book in the market exclusively devoted to geomorphology of disasters in South America Building Resilience of Human-Natural Systems of Pastoralism in the Developing World Shikui Dong,Karim-Aly S. Kassam,Jean François Tourrand,Randall B. Boone,2016-08-30 This edited volume summarizes information about the situational context threats problems challenges and solutions for sustainable pastoralism at a global scale The book has four goals The first goal is to summarize the information about the history distribution and patterns of pastoralism and to identify the importance of pastoralism from social economic and environmental perspectives The results of an empirical investigation of the environmental and socio economic implications of pastoralism in representative pastoral regions in the world are also incorporated The second goal is to argue that breaking coupled human natural systems of pastoralism leads to degradation of pastoral ecosystems and to create an analysis framework to assess the vulnerability of worldwide pastoralism Our analysis framework provides approaches to help comprehensively understand the transitions and the impacts of human natural systems in the pastoral regions in the world The third goal is to identify the successful models in promoting coupled human natural systems of pastoralism and to learn lessons of breaking coupled human cultural pastoralism systems through examining the representative cases in regions including Central Asia Southern and Eastern Asia Northern and Eastern Africa the European Alps and South America The fourth goal is to identify the strategies to build the resilience of the coupled human natural systems of pastoralism worldwide We hope that our book can facilitate the further examination of sustainable development of coupled human natural systems of pastoralism by providing the summaries of existing data and information related to the pastoralism development and by offering a framework for better understanding and analysis of their social economic and environmental implications Bulletin of the American Museum of Natural History American Museum of Natural History,1926 Comprises articles on geology paleontology mammalogy ornithology entomology and anthropology

A Guide to Wild South America Michael Bright,2000 This ground breaking wildlife guide to South America includes a country by country gazetteer of the best wildlife sites across the continent back cover Grasslands of the World Victor R. Squires,Jürgen Dengler,Limin Hua,Haiying Feng,2018-09-05 This book begins with a brief account of the extraordinary sequence of events that led to emergence of grasslands as major vegetation formations that now occupy some of the driest and hottest and the highest and coldest on earth as well as vast steppes and prairies in more temperate climes It is the story of grasses successfully competing with forests and woodlands aided and abetted by grazing herbivores and by humans and their use of fire as a tool It is a story of adaptation to changing climates and the changing biophysical environments A major focus of the book is the Palaearctic biogeographic realm that extends over some 45 million km² and thus more than 1/3 of the terrestrial ice free surface on Earth It comprises extensive grasslands of different types and origin which can be subdivided into 1 natural grasslands with 1a steppes climatogenic in dry climates 1b arctic alpine grasslands climatogenic in cold climates and 1c azonal and extrazonal grasslands pedogenic and topogenic as well as 2 secondary grasslands created and sustained by human activities such as livestock grazing mowing or burning Grasslands of the Palaearctic do not only form a major basis for the agriculture of the region and thus its food supply but are also crucial for other ecosystem services and host a supra proportional part of the realm s plant and animal diversity To reflect that suitability of grasslands for biodiversity strongly depends on their state we apply the term High Nature Value grassland to those natural grasslands that are not degraded in good state and those secondary grasslands that are not intensified semi natural The situation in a variety of countries where grasslands are evolving under the influence of global climate change is also considered Case studies are presented on Southern Africa Eastern Africa India China South America North America and Australia The concluding chapter examines a set of themes arising from the chapters that make up the bulk of this book The following provide a focus recent history of grassland biomes brief recap of current thinking and recent trends with special reference to dry grasslands in the Palearctic regions the current status of grasslands and germplasm resources biodiversity an overview management systems that ensure sustainability how to recover degraded grasslands socio economic issues and considerations in grassland management the impacts of environmental problems in grasslands such as future climate change and intensification and the problems prospects facing pastoralists and other grassland based livestock producers
