Natural Man A Record From Borneo:

Natural Man: a Record from Borneo, Etc. [With Plates, Including a Portrait, and a Map]. Charles Hose, 1926

Natural Man Charles Hose, 1926 British Malaya, 1926 Natural Man Charles Hose, 1977-06-01 Modern Crises and Traditional Strategies Roy Ellen, 2007-07-01

The 1990s have seen a growing interest in the role of local ecological knowledge in the context of sustainable development and particularly in providing a set of responses to which populations may resort in times of political economic and environmental instability. The period 1996-2003 in island southeast Asia represents a critical test case for understanding how this might work. The key issues explored in this book are the creation, erosion and transmission of ecological knowledge and hybridization between traditional and scientifically based knowledge amongst populations facing environmental stress. e.g. 1997 El Niño political conflict and economic hazards. The book will also evaluate positive examples of how traditional knowledge has enabled local populations to cope with these kinds of insecurity.

The Kayans Richard Ibhuh, 2014. The Kayan culture is one that is rich with cultural diversity and it's important to appreciate and preserve it for future generations. The Kayan people are categorized as part of the Dayak communities of Borneo and this book focuses on the Sarawak tribe with special reference to the Kayan Uma Pu clan. In addition to learning about the Kayans through an assortment of beautiful pictures you'll learn about tribal customs, beliefs and more. Get insights on how Kayans expanded their living area over time, communication occurs even without an alphabet, villagers resolve household and community disputes, beliefs and omens play a critical role in their society. The Kayans have survived so long because they cooperate and stick together even though they're scattered over a large area. While they've often been displaced, they'll enjoy a much brighter future if the world seeks to understand their culture, heritage and accomplishments.

Nature's Geography Karl S. Zimmerer, Kenneth R. Young, 1998. Developing countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America are increasingly influenced by human-induced environmental changes. It is crucial that sustainable development be based on insights into these expanding processes: conservation as well as deterioration. Nature's Geography offers a new perspective on the geographical nature of these changes. The book reveals how human-environment relations must be understood at multiple scales and time frames. Editors Karl S. Zimmerer and Kenneth R. Young have forged an exciting group of case studies from distinguished geographers focusing on high mountains, tropical forests and lowlands as well as humid and arid semiarid landscapes. Each chapter analyzes the implications for meshing environmental protection and sound resource use with development. The case studies evaluate three topics: spatial habitat fragmentation and forest dynamics disturbances in mountain ecosystems and the major activities of settled areas, chiefly farming, livestock raising and forestry. Included are analyses of interactions involving wildlife such as primates and wild pandas, assessment of fire impacts and road building, long-term forest management as well as recent techniques and the role of environmental variation and ecosystem properties in agriculture and rangeland. Nature's Geography demonstrates the vital importance of advancing a new approach to geography This definitive study of landscape change and environmental dynamics will have wide appeal for those interested in geography ecology environmental studies conservation biology and development studies The Statesman's Year-Book Mortimer Epstein,2016-12-23 The classic reference work that provides annually updated information on the countries of the world Economic Change in East Malaysia A. Kaur,2016-01-12 An authoritative economic history of Sabah and Sarawak since the 19th century emphasising their distinctive colonial history and the attempts to modernise them since they became part of Malaysia in 1963 They remain dependent on the production and export of a relatively small range of primary products The considerable scrutiny from environmentalists and international and local pressure groups of timber exports in particular is examined The book s examination of economic strategy in these states since the 1880s demonstrates that the roots of the problems in the 1980s lay in policies formulated in the wider context of capitalist economic growth The White Rajah
