Beyond the Visible: The Art of Odilon Redon Jodi Hauptman, 2005 Caught between description and dream the felt and the imagined French artist Odilon Redon whose career bridged the 19th and 20th centuries transformed the natural world into nightmarish visions and bizarre fantasies Closely allied with the Symbolist movement Redon offered his own interpretations of literary biblical and mythological subjects created a universe of strange hybrid creatures and presented landscape in a singular way we see grinning disembodied teeth smiling spiders melancholic floating faces winged chariots unfamiliar plant life and velvety black or colored swirls of atmosphere With a recent gift from the Ian Woodner family The Museum of Modern Art is now the site of the most significant body of the artist's work outside France and this book will showcase the full range of Redon's varied oeuvre charcoal noirs luminous pastels richly textured canvases literary collaborations and experiments in printmaking and will illuminate the hold his particular kind of modernism has had on both 20th century and contemporary artists

Losing Our Heads Regina Janes, 2005-08 What is the fascination that decollation holds for us as individuals and as a culture Why does the idea make us laugh and the act make us close our eyes Losing Our Heads explores in both artistic and cultural contexts the role of the chopped off head It asks why the practice of decapitation was once so widespread why it has diminished but not as scenes from contemporary Iraq show completely disappeared and why we find it so peculiarly repulsive that we use it as a principal marker to separate ourselves from a more barbaric or primitive past Although the topic is grim Regina Janes's treatment and conclusions are neither grisly nor gruesome but continuously instructive about the ironies of humanity's cultural nature Bringing to bear an array of evidence the book argues that the human ability to create meaning from the body motivates the practice of decapitation its diminution the impossibility of its extirpation and its continuing fascination Ranging from antiquity to the late nineteenth century passion for Salome and John the Baptist and from the enlightenment to postcolonial Africa's challenge to the severed head as sign of barbarism Losing Our Heads opens new areas of investigation enabling readers to understand the shock of decapitation and to see the value in moving past shock to analysis Written with penetrating wit and featuring striking illustrations it is sure to captivate anyone interested in his or her head

Color, Space, and Creativity Jack Stewart, 2008 This study of Virginia Woolf D H Lawrence Joyce Cary Lawrence Durrell and A S Byatt focuses on color space and creativity in selected novels stories travel texts essays and letters Stewart highlights a nexus of color space and creativity that takes on ontological dimensions in the writing of five writers who are linked by stylistic affinities and correspondingly calibrated sensibilities They engage writing with painting and their acts of attention converge in a zone where color space and creativity sustain the imaginative life world of their characters This study should lead to ongoing reflections on the roles of color and space in modernist and postmodernist texts and direct attention to the subtle and pervasive interactions of literature with painting
