Picture Windows How The Suburbs Happened:

Picture Windows Rosalyn Baxandall, Rosalyn Fraad Baxandall, Elizabeth Ewen, Linda Gordon, 2000 Contains primary source material Block by Block Amanda I. Seligman, 2005-05-10 In the decades following World War II cities across the United States saw an influx of African American families into otherwise homogeneously white areas This racial transformation of urban neighborhoods led many whites to migrate to the suburbs producing the phenomenon commonly known as white flight In Block by Block Amanda I Seligman draws on the surprisingly understudied West Side communities of Chicago to shed new light on this story of postwar urban America Seligman s study reveals that the responses of white West Siders to racial changes occurring in their neighborhoods were both multifaceted and extensive She shows that despite rehabilitation efforts deterioration in these areas began long before the color of their inhabitants changed from white to black And ultimately the riots that erupted on Chicago s West Side and across the country in the mid 1960s stemmed not only from the tribulations specific to blacks in urban centers but also from the legacy of accumulated neglect after decades of white occupancy Seligman s careful and evenhanded account will be essential to understanding that the flight of whites to the suburbs was the eventual result of a series of responses to transformations in Chicago s physical and social landscape occurring one block at a time

Suburban Crossroads Thomas J. Vicino, 2013 The political debate over comprehensive immigration reform in the United States reached a pinnacle in 2006 When Congress failed to implement federal immigration reform this spurred numerous local and state governments to confront immigration policy in their own jurisdictions In fear of becoming sanctuaries for immigrants numerous local communities confronted and implemented their own policies to limit immigration Thomas J Vicino unravels the political debate behind local ordinances such as the controversial Illegal Immigration Relief Act and similar laws He examines the evolution of the struggle for local control in three cities and suburbs beginning in Carpentersville Illinois then in Farmer s Branch Texas and ending in Hazleton Pennsylvania Drawing on numerous interviews census data analysis and field visits Thomas J Vicino carefully explains how and why the definition of local neighborhood problems determined the policy outcomes These provocative findings offer new perspectives on the local and state immigration debate as well as new reflections on future directions in policy and planning for local communities

Covert Racism Rodney D. Coates, 2011-06-09 Covert Racism subtle often hidden form of racism is explored through a multi disciplinarian lens The volume challenges the notion of a post racial America Crabgrass Catholicism Stephen M. Koeth, 2025-08-19 How suburbanization was a crucial catalyst for reforms in the Catholic Church The 1960s in America were a time of revolt against the stifling conformism embodied in the sprawling uniform suburbs of the 1950s Typically the reforms of the Catholic Church s Second Vatican Council which aimed to make the Church more modern and accessible are seen as one result of that broader cultural liberalization Yet in Crabgrass Catholicism Stephen M Koeth demonstrates that the liberalization of the Church was instead the product of the mass suburbanization that began some fifteen years earlier

Koeth argues that postwar suburbanization revolutionized the Catholic parish the relationship between clergy and laity conceptions of parochial education and Catholic participation in US politics and thereby was a significant factor in the religious disaffiliation that only accelerated in subsequent decades A novel exploration of the role of Catholics in postwar suburbanization Crabgrass Catholicism will be of particular interest to urban historians scholars of American Catholicism and religious studies and Catholic clergy and laity

Cleveland Heights Marian J. Morton, 2002 Now a bustling city of more than 50 000 residents Cleveland Heights situated just six miles from Cleveland's Public Square boasts a history that begins well before its own incorporation The region was once home to Native American tribes including the Erie and Seneca and stalwart pioneers established settlements in the area as early as the late eighteenth century In the post Civil War period as Cleveland was becoming an industrial metropolis affluent residents began moving to the newly developed garden suburbs anxious to live closer to nature and farther from the smoky city and its increasingly diverse population Born of this same desire Cleveland Heights was founded in 1901 Here in this isolated countryside owned by substantial families like the Silsbys Minors Comptons and Taylors entrepreneurs and city officials envisioned a clean and comfortable suburb for Cleveland's elite Officially designated a city in 1921 Cleveland Heights quickly became not the homogenized suburb envisioned by early developers but a community of widely divergent neighborhoods and people Newcomers belonged to varying class religious ethnic and racial backgrounds A century after its founding Cleveland Heights has become an inner ring urban suburb boasting gracious homes of architectural distinction and attractive parks but also facing the modern challenges of a dwindling population and commercial districts in need of economic revitalization This new volume illustrates in both word and image the evolving life of Cleveland Heights from its beginning as part of East Cleveland Township one of the region's first suburbs to the present day

The New American Suburb Katrin B. Census and American Community Survey to address key themes including suburban poverty racial and ethnic change and suburban decline suburban foreclosures and suburban policy Alfred Hitchcock's America Murray Pomerance,2013-04-12 With a sharp eye for social detail and the pressures of class inequality Alfred Hitchcock brought to the American scene a perspicacity and analytical shrewdness unparalleled in American cinema Murray Pomerance works from a basis in cultural analysis and a detailed knowledge of Alfred Hitchcock's films and production techniques to explore how America of the 1940s 1950s and 1960s is revealed and critically commented upon in Hitchcock's work Alfred Hitchcock's America is full of stunning details that bring new light to Hitchcock's method and works The American spirit of place is seen here in light of the titanic American personality American values in a consumer age social class and American social form and the characteristic American marriage The book's analysis ranges across a wide array of films from Rebecca to Family Plot and examines in depth the location sequences characterological types and complex social expectations that riddled American society while Hitchcock thrived there Planning in the USA J. production of blackness as risk is foundational to the historical and material construction of our society and certainly foundational to the construction and experience of metropolitan space She also considers how an ethics of lived blackness living fully and visibly in the face of forces intended to dehumanize and erase can create a powerful counter point to blackness as risk Using a transdisciplinary methodology Black Lives and Spatial Matters studies cultural institutional and spatial politics of race in North St Louis County Missouri as a set of practices that are intimately connected to each other and to global histories of race and race making As such the book adds important insight into the racialization of metropolitan space and people in the United States The arguments presented in this book draw from fifteen years of engaged research in North St Louis County and rely on multiple disciplinary perspectives and local knowledge in order to study relationships between interconnected practices and phenomena

The Bulldozer in the Countryside Adam Rome,2001-04-23 The concern today about suburban sprawl is not new In the decades after World War II the spread of tract house construction changed the nature of millions of acres of land and a variety of Americans began to protest against the environmental costs of suburban development By the mid 1960s indeed many of the critics were attempting to institutionalize an urban land ethic The Bulldozer in the Countryside was the first scholarly work to analyze the successes and failures of the varied efforts to address the environmental consequences of suburban growth from 1945 to 1970 For scholars and students of American history the book offers a compelling insight into two of the great stories of modern times the mass migration to the suburbs and the rise of the environmental movement The book also offers a valuable historical perspective for participants in contemporary debates about the alternatives to sprawl

Nicolaides,2024 The New Suburbia explores how the suburbs transformed from bastions of the white middle class in the postwar years into diverse communities after 1970 In the new suburbia white advantage persisted but it existed alongside rising inequality ethnic and racial diversity and new household configurations It focuses on Los Angeles at the vanguard of these trends

Starting in Our Own Backyards Ann Bookman,2004-06-01 Containing interviews with more than 100 middle class working parents in the Boston area Bookman vividly illustrates the inherent conflicts faced by today s two working parent families and the often unfortunate consequences for the community In an important departure from the ongoing debate she offers a new paradigm for the relationship between paid and unpaid work that could invigorate both family life and the quality of civil society

Douglas Sirk, Aesthetic Modernism and the Culture of Modernity Victoria L. Evans, 2017-05-24 The first truly interdisciplinary analysis to link Douglas Sirk's striking visual aesthetic to key movements in twentieth century art and architecture this book reveals how the exaggerated artifice of Sirk's formal style emerged from his detailed understanding of the artistic debates that raged in 1920s Europe and the post war United States With detailed case studies of Final Chord and All That Heaven Allows Victoria Evans demonstrates how Sirk attempted to dissolve the boundaries of cinema by assimilating elements of avant garde art architecture and design into the colour composition and setting of many of his most well known films Treating Sirk's oeuvre as a continuum between his German and American periods Evans argues that his mise en scene was the result of an interdisciplinary transnational dialogue and illuminates the broader cultural context in which his films appeared by establishing links between archival documents Modernist manifestos and the philosophical writings of his peers

Indoor America Andrea Vesentini, 2018-11-27 Cars single family houses fallout shelters air conditioned malls these are only some of the many interiors making up the landscape of American suburbia Indoor America explores the history of suburbanization through the emergence of such spaces in the postwar years examining their design use and representation By drawing on a wealth of examples ranging from the built environment to popular culture and film Andrea Vesentini shows how suburban interiors were devised as a continuous cultural landscape of interconnected and self sufficient escape capsules The relocation of most everyday practices into indoor spaces has often been overlooked by suburban historiography Indoor America uncovers this latent history and contrasts it with the dominant reading of suburbanization as pursuit of open space Americans did not just flee the city by getting out of it they did so also by getting inside Vesentini chronicles this inner directed flight by describing three separate stages The encapsulation of the automobile fostered the nuclear segregation of the family from the social fabric and served as a blueprint for all other interiors Introverted design increasingly turned the focus of the house inward Finally through interiorization the exterior was incorporated into the all encompassing interior landscape of enclosed malls and projects for indoor cities In a journey that features tailfin cars and World's Fair model homes Richard Neutra's glass walls and sitcom picture windows Victor Gruen's Southdale Center and the Minnesota Experimental City Indoor America takes the reader into the heart and viscera of America's urban sprawl
