The Spines of Love Víctor Terán, 2014-04-15 The Spines of Love collects work from Víctor Terán's poetic oeuvre for the first time in a trilingual edition in their original Isthmus Zapotec an endangered indigenous Mexican language and in David Shook's Spanish and English translations Sensual and intricately wrought these poems take readers on an emotional journey through love and loss with a searing lyricism entirely Terán's own His lover's body is a city where the poet can give perfect directions her name slips over his tongue like a fish between the hands of a fisherman and when she leaves him it's with memories like an ocean of incessant fish The Spines of Love stands for a simple but bracing truth Yes love can hurt but even after it departs it strengthens us Praise for The Spines of Love I'm reminded of Pablo Neruda in a bitter mood The poems are about lost love and betrayal and the long free verse poems with short lines owe something to Neruda's laconic and confessional style There's also a dry wit in these pages There are times it teeters on the edge of the sentimental but somehow regains its balance just in time Full of delightful twists of image when describing the poet's emotions His style is graceful and vivid his subjects compellingly familiar Judi Sutherland Sabotage Reviews A significant array of stateless languages and cultures while positioned outside the reach of dominant nation states has begun more recently to create new literatures as vehicles for those outsiders by the ruling powers Like others so engaged and perhaps more than most Víctor Terán begins from a base in the Zapotec spoken and now written on the Isthmus
