Perception and Cognition: Interactions in the Aging Brain Harriet A. Allen, Katherine L. Roberts, 2016-09-13 Healthy ageing can lead to declines in both perceptual and cognitive functions Impaired perception such as that resulting from hearing loss or reduced visual or tactile resolution increases demands on higher level cognitive functions to cope or compensate It is possible for example to use focused attention to overcome perceptual limitations Unfortunately cognitive functions also decline in old age This can mean that perceptual impairments are exacerbated by cognitive decline and vice versa but also means that interventions aimed at one type of decline can lead to improvements in the other Just as improved cognition can ameliorate perceptual deficits improving the stimulus can help offset cognitive deficits For example making directions and routes easy to follow can help compensate for declines in navigation abilities In this Topic we bring together papers from both auditory and visual researchers that address the interaction between perception and cognition in the ageing brain Many of the studies demonstrate that a broadening of representations or increased reliance on gist underlie perceptual and cognitive age related declines There is also clear evidence that impaired perception is associated with poor cognition although encouragingly it can also be seen that good perception is associated with better cognition Compensatory cognitive strategies were less successful in improving perception than might be expected We also present papers which highlight important methodological considerations that are required when studying the older brain The Philosophical Novel as a Literary Genre Michael H. Mitias, 2022-03-11 This book examines the conceptual existential and logical conditions under which the philosophical novel can be treated as a literary genre on a par with generally recognized literary genres such as mystery romantic adventure religious or historical novel Michael H Mitias argues that the philosophical novel meets these conditions He advances a detailed analysis of the concept of literary genre and discusses the reasons which justify the claim that philosophical novel is a distinct literary genre This is based on the assumption that philosophical ideas can be communicated metaphorically An analysis of this assumption necessarily leads to a detailed discussion of the concept of metaphor and the extent to which it can be the vehicle of communicating philosophical truth The Cognitive Neuropsychology of Déjà Vu Chris Moulin, 2017-09-06 D j vu is one of the most complex and subjective of all memory phenomena It is an infrequent and striking mental experience where the feeling of familiarity is combined with the knowledge that this feeling is false While until recently it was an aspect of memory largely overlooked by mainstream cognitive psychology this book brings together the growing scientific literature on d j vu making the case for it as a metacognitive phenomenon The Cognitive Neuropsychology of D j Vu reviews clinical experimental and neuroimaging methods focusing on how memory disorders and neurological dysfunction relate to the experience Examining d j vu as a memory phenomenon Chris Moulin explores how the experience of d j vu in special populations such as healthy aging or those with schizophrenia provides new insights into understanding this phenomenon He considers the extensive data on d j vu in people with epilepsy dementia and other neurological conditions assessing neuropsychological theories of d j vu formation Essential reading for all students and researchers interested in memory disorders this valuable book presents the case for d j vu as a healthy phenomenon only experienced by people with sufficient cognitive resources to oppose and detect the false feeling of familiarity
