

Philosophy and the meaning of life

Many of the topics we have discussed relate somehow to the meaning of life:

Is life meaningful if we live in a simulated world (e.g. the Matrix)?

Is the meaning of life related to living a virtuous life ?

Can life be meaningful if we have no free will ?

Is the meaning of life related to consciousness?

What sorts of things can have meaningful lives (e.g. robots, animals, people)

Is death necessary to make life meaningful ?

What kinds of things are still meaningful in various types of situations?

That depends, of course, on what, if anything, is meaningful.

Philosophy And The Meaning Of Life:

What's It All About? Julian Baggini, 2020-03-31 Secular minded readers seeking an alternative to The Purpose Driven Life have an excellent starting point here Publishers Weekly For readers who are serious about confronting the big issues in life but are turned off by books which deal with them through religion spirituality or psychobabble this is an honest intelligent discussion by a philosopher that doesn't hide from the difficulties or make undeliverable promises It aims to help the reader understand the overlooked issues behind the obvious questions and shows how philosophy does not so much answer them as help provide us with the resources to answer them for ourselves Useful and provocative The Wall Street Journal Looking for a clear guide to what contemporary philosophy has to say about the meaning of life Baggini takes us through all the plausible answers weaving together Kierkegaard John Stuart Mill Monty Python and Funkadelic in an entertaining but always carefully reasoned discussion Peter Singer author of How Are We To Live The question of the meaning of life has long been a byword for pretentious rambling It takes some nerve to tackle it in a brisk and no nonsense fashion New Statesman

Meaning in Life and Why It Matters Susan Wolf, 2010-03-01 A fresh reflection on what makes life meaningful Most people including philosophers tend to classify human motives as falling into one of two categories the egoistic or the altruistic the self interested or the moral According to Susan Wolf however much of what motivates us does not comfortably fit into this scheme Often we act neither for our own sake nor out of duty or an impersonal concern for the world Rather we act out of love for objects that we rightly perceive as worthy of love and it is these actions that give meaning to our lives Wolf makes a compelling case that along with happiness and morality this kind of meaningfulness constitutes a distinctive dimension of a good life Written in a lively and engaging style and full of provocative examples Meaning in Life and Why It Matters is a profound and original reflection on a subject of permanent human concern
