Phoenix Irish Short Stories:

Phoenix Irish Short Stories 2001 David Marcus, 2001 For Irish writers the short story continues to be an exciting and appealing form that gives them scope to show off their talent With this volume David Marcus presents the fifth Phoenix anthology of Irish short stories Phoenix Irish Short Stories 1997 David Marcus, 1997 Phoenix Irish Short Stories 1998 David Marcus, 1998 1997 s Phoenix Irish short stories garnered outstanding reviews in Ireland and the UK The Tines hailing it as Exceptional and other critics hailing it as evidence of the good health of the Irish writing scene This 3rd collection should establish the Phoenix collection as the classic Irish collection as well as providing a fertile breeding ground for new talent Previous collections have provided the list with Katy Hayes and Molly McCloskey and have highlighted the work of Colum McCann and Michael Collins For his third annual anthology David Marcus has brought together a collection of 16 outstanding Irish Stories none before published in book form The collection includes some better known names such as Eilis Ni Dhuibhne but excels in the number of younger writers making their first apperance in a mainstream publication Particularly outstanding in this collection is the work of Blainaid Mckinney with her long and remarkably accomplished story set in America intertwining the history of the Irish famine and the fate of the North American Indians Phoenix Irish Short Stories 2000 David Marcus, 2000 Anthologisation and Irish Short Fiction Paul Delaney, 2025-03-28 This original new study explores the recent flowering of short fiction in Ireland analysing the production dissemination and reception of the short form in the twenty first century and reading contemporary short stories in their many configurations and guises This volume covers twenty five years of Irish writing beginning in late 1997 with the establishment of the innovative literary periodical The Stinging Fly and concludes in 2022 The book is structured in five parts with each part focusing on a particular mode of publication periodicals single author volumes short story cycles edited anthologies and small or independent presses Each part includes a series of case studies while also engaging with a diverse range of short story criticism and theory both comparative and Irish centered Anthologisation and Irish Short Fiction brings different writers at distinct stages of their careers into conversation and This volume aims to illuminate the contemporaneous value of this body of work its innovative and varied use and the diversity of its practice Particular attention is also shown to the fluidity of the short form to its capacity to disrupt and arrest and to its progressive writerly potential The Irish Short Story at the Turn of the Twenty-First Century Madalina Armie, 2022-12-30 In the mid 1990s Ireland was experiencing the best of times The Celtic Tiger seemed to instil in the national consciousness that poverty was a problem of the past The impressive economic performance ensured that the Republic occupied one of the top positions among the world's economic powers During the boom dissident voices continuously criticised what they considered to be a mirage identifying the precariousness of its structures and foretelling its eventual crash The 2008 recession proved them right Throughout this time the Irish contemporary short story expressed distrust Enabled by its capacity to reflect change with immediacy and dexterity the short story saw through the smokescreen created by the Celtic Tiger discourse of well being It reinterpreted and captured the worst and the best of the country and became a bridge connecting tradition and modernity The major objective of this book is to analyse the interactions between fiction and reality during this period in Ireland by studying the short stories written by old and emergent voices published between the birth of the Celtic Tiger in 1995 up to its immediate aftermath in 2013

Irish Writing in the Twentieth Century David Pierce, 2000 With five Nobel Prize winners seven Pulitzer Prize winners and two Booker Prize winning novelists modern Irish writing has contributed something special and permanent to our understanding of the twentieth century Irish Writing in the Twentieth Century provides a useful comprehensive and pleasurable introduction to modern Irish literature in a single volume Organized chronologically by decade this anthology provides the reader with a unique sense of the development and richness of Irish writing and of the society it reflected It embraces all forms of writing not only the major forms of drama fiction and verse but such material as travel writing personal memoirs journalism interviews and radio plays to offer the reader a complete and wonderfully varied sense of Ireland's contribution our literary heritage David Pierce has selected major literary figures as well as neglected ones and includes many writers from the Irish diaspora The range of material is enormous and ensures that work that is inaccessible or out of print is now easily available The book is a delightful compilation including many well known pieces and captivating discoveries which anyone interested in literature will long enjoy browsing and dipping into The Oxford History of the Irish Book, Volume V Clare Hutton, Patrick Walsh, 2011-06-23 Part of a series providing an authoritative history of the book in Ireland this volume comprehensively outlines the history of 20th century Irish book culture This book embraces all the written and printed traditions and heritages of Ireland and places them in the global context of a worldwide interest in book histories Astray Emma Donoghue, 2012-10-30 From the New York Times bestselling author of Room comes a moving set of historical stories spanning centuries and continents The fascinating characters that roam across the pages of Emma Donoghue's stories have all gone astray they are emigrants runaways drifters lovers old and new They are gold miners and counterfeiters attorneys and slaves They cross other borders too those of race law sex and sanity They travel for love or money incognito or under duress With rich historical detail the celebrated author of Room takes us from puritan Massachusetts to revolutionary New Jersey antebellum Louisiana to the Toronto highway lighting up four centuries of wanderings that have profound echoes in the present Astray offers us a surprising and moving history for restless times

Conversations with Colum McCann Earl G. Ingersoll, Mary C. Ingersoll, 2017-07-13 Conversations with Colum McCann brings together eighteen interviews with a world renowned fiction writer Ranging from his 1994 literary debut Fishing the Sloe Black River to a new and unpublished interview conducted in 2016 these interviews represent the development as well as the continuation of McCann s interests The number and length of the later conversations attest to his star power Let the Great World Spin earned him the National Book Award and promises to become a major motion picture His most recent novel

TransAtlantic has awed readers with its dynamic yoking of the 1845 1846 visit of Frederick Douglass to Ireland the 1919 first nonstop transatlantic flight of Alcock and Brown and Senator George Mitchell s 1998 efforts to achieve a peace accord in Northern Ireland An extensive interview by scholar Cecile Maudet is included here as is an interview by John Cusatis who wrote Understanding Colum McCann the first extensive critical analysis of McCann s work An author who actually enjoys talking about his work McCann b 1965 offers insights into his method of writing what he hopes to achieve as well as the challenge of writing each novel to go beyond his accomplishments in the novel before Readers will note how many of his responses include stories in which he himself is the object of the humor and how often his remarks reveal insights into his character as a man who sees the grittiness of the urban landscape but never loses faith in the strength of ordinary people and their capacity to prevail Irish Women Writers Speak Out Caitriona Moloney, Helen Thompson, 2003-03-01 Bringing together the diverse and marvelously articulate voices of women of Irish and Irish American descent editors Caitriona Moloney and Helen Thompson examine the complicated maps of experience that the women s public private and literary lives represent particularly as they engage in both feminism and postcolonialism Acknowledging Mary Robinson's revised view of Irish identity now global rather than local this work recognizes the importance of identity as a site of mobility. The pieces reveal how complex the terms feminism and postcolonialism are they examine how the individual writers see their identities constructed and or mediated by sexuality In addition the book traces common themes of female agency violence generational conflicts migration emigration religion and politics to name a few As it represents the next wave of Irish women writers this book offers fresh insight into the work of emerging and established authors and will appeal to a new generation of readers

Under the Rose Julia O'Faolain,2016-02-19 Julia O Faolain is one of the most important Irish writers of the past half century Under the Rose is a selection of short stories taken from her many celebrated collections. These are stories about families and relationships religion and politics new life and mortality and their settings range from Ireland and the USA to Italy and France O Faolain exposes the delusions of sexual desire explores the failings of the Church and unpicks the casual brutalities of a patriarchal society In an afterword she considers the art of the short story and the influences that continue to shape her work Powerful profound and unflinching in their reflections on human experience the stories in Under the Rose are masterpieces of the form Praise for Julia O Faolain The assurance range and diversity of her stories proclaim a writer of daunting gifts Guardian Entertaining and rich in comedy gripping and moving William Trevor A wonderful stylist and an exciting writer Her work is joyous urbane and intensely Irish Independent on Sunday Two Irelands Rebecca Pelan,2005-06-27 The very different histories of the North and South are reflected in their literature While women in the Republic of Ireland have tended to write about social issuessexism crime unemployment and domestic violencewomen in Northern Ireland focused on their society s historical tension and primarily nationalist and unionist politics However Pelan maintains that feminist ideology has provided contemporary Irish women with an alternate political stance that incorporates gender and nationality ethnicity and allows them to move beyond the usual binaries of politics history and languageIrish and English In an analysis enriched by a sophisticated but accessible engagement with contemporary feminist and gender theory Pelan concludes that Irish women s writing whether at the community or mainstream levelNorth or Southconsistently articulates political issues of direct relevance to the lives of Irish women today As a result such work retains close links with the initial impetus of the second wave of feminism as a political movement and questions the legitimacy of long standing social religious and political conventions From within the framework provided by this second wave argues Pelan Irish women can critique certain masculine ideologies nationalist unionist imperialist and capitalist without forfeiting their own sense of gender and national or ethnic identity. The book s significance lies in its placement of women s writing in the center of contemporary political discourse in Ireland and in ensuring that the writing from this periodmuch of it long out of printcontinues to exist as sociological as well as literary records It will be of interest to a general and scholarly audience especially those in the fields of contemporary Irish writing feminism and literary history Irish Literature Patricia Coughlan, Tina O'Toole, 2008 Feminist perspectives on Irish literature Post Celtic Tiger Landscapes in Irish Fiction Marie Mianowski, 2016-11-03 Post Celtic Tiger Landscapes in Irish Fiction discusses the representations of place and landscape in Irish fiction since 2008 It includes novels and short stories by William Trevor Dermot Bolger Anne Enright Donal Ryan Claire Kilroy Kevin Barry Gerard Donovan Danielle McLaughlin Trisha McKinney Billy O Callaghan and Colum McCann In the light of writings by geographers anthropologists and philosophers such as Doreen Massey Tim Ingold Giorgio Agamben and Jeff Malpas this book looks at the metamorphoses of place and landscape representations in fiction by confirmed or debut authors in the aftermath of a crisis with deep economic as well as cultural consequences for Irish society It shows what place and landscape representations reveal of the past while discussing the way notions such as boundedness openness and emergence can contribute to thinking out space and place and designing future landscapes The Canadian Journal of Irish Studies ,2006 Immigrant Women's Voices and Integrating Feminism Into Migration Theory Nyemba, Florence, Chitiyo, Rufaro, 2020-12-25 Migration is a multifaceted phenomenon that plays a critical role in today s world yet there have been few attempts to look beneath the surface of the mass movements of people Particularly the changing face of migration is becoming more feminized with women increasingly moving as independent or single migrants rather than as the wives mothers or daughters of male migrants Yet in literature on migration the voices of women are still silent This creates an urgent need to advance academic research on female international migration by examining women as independent migrants Immigrant Women s Voices and Integrating Feminism Into Migration Theory comprehensively documents the experiences of immigrant women across the globe and the important theories that define their experiences. The chapters give firsthand accounts of women speaking about their own experiences on migration and topics associated with women and migration This book aims to give women their own voice and to stand apart from previous literature in which male relatives spoke on behalf of immigrant women to tell their stories for them While highlighting topics on women in migration including feminism gendered social roles first person narratives and the female identity this book is ideally for professionals in social science disciplines as well as practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students wanting to expand their knowledge on women and migration gender violence and women empowerment Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office, 2007 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress. Subject Cataloging Division, Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2013 Gender and Short Fiction Jorge Sacido-Romero, Laura Lojo-Rodríguez, 2018-10-09 In their new monograph Gender and Short Fiction Women's Tales in Contemporary Britain Jorge Sacido Romero and Laura M Lojo Rodriguez explain why artistically ambitious women writers continue turning to the short story a genre that has not yet attained the degree of literary prestige and social recognition the novel has had in the modern period In this timely volume the editors endorse the view that the genre still retains its potential as a vehicle for the expression of female experience alternative to and or critical with dominant patriarchal ideology present at the very onset of the development of the modern British short story at the turn of the nineteenth century
