Photographic Documentation Of Vegetation:

Photographic Documentation of Vegetation Change in the Great Basin Desert Garry F. Rogers, 1980      Ground-based Photographic Monitoring Frederick C. Hall, 2001      Plants and vegetation of NW Ethiopia Ib Friis, Sebsebe Demissew, Odile Weber, Paulo van Breugel, 2022 Pichi Sermolli's work with his more than 2750 collections of plants from nearly 150 localities on the Lake Tana expedition in Ethiopia in 1937 was interrupted by World War II but completed in 1947 at the Royal Botanic Gardens Kew and the British Museum Natural History UK It resulted in preliminary accounts of the vegetation published 1938-40 and a taxonomically arranged account in 1951 all in Italian Pichi Sermolli's observations are difficult to locate due to the imperfect maps of the time but in this book the authors have reconstructed the sequence of the collections georeferenced the localities and updated the identifications of the species By reconstructing Pichi Sermolli's observations it is possible to draw conclusions about the vegetation and compare with a recent model of the vegetation of Ethiopia According to this the vegetation of the Lake Tana Basin was a complex mosaic of woodland scrub forest farmland and lake shore vegetation now difficult to interpret in detail Pichi Sermolli's study of the vegetation in the Semien Mountains demonstrated for the first time the zonation of Ericaceous woodland and Afroalpine vegetation within which he distinguished Carex monostachya bogs Afroalpine grasslands with Lobelia rhynchopetalum and stony and rocky Afroalpine vegetation This book interprets Pichi Sermolli's observations in English and compares them with modern knowledge of the region partly obtained by the present authors own field work It demonstrates how Pichi Sermolli's studies form a valuable contribution to the understanding of the Ethiopian flora and vegetation      Photographic Documentation of Vegetational Changes in ground beetle fauna Hans Turin, D. Johan Kotze, Stefan Müller-Kroehling, Pavel Saska, John Spence, Theodoor Heijerman, 2023-09-14 Over the past decades large amounts of data about carabids have been collected in the Netherlands initially for the purpose of creating distribution maps for the country In addition to information from collections and faunistic publications a significant amount of data came from ecological studies using pitfall traps Because of the rich tradition of carabidological research in the Netherlands an exceptionally large database of these pitfall data is available The database is a mix of approximately 1 500 short term samples and circa 4 400 so called year samples for which pitfalls were functional during the whole activity period of ground beetles in spring and autumn These year samples came from 2 850 sites covering the period of 1953 2018 and represent all habitats on the Dutch landscape These data offer an unusual view of the presence and activity of this common insect family The data gathered from pitfall trapping is summarised and provides a fresh integrated perspective about the Dutch ground beetle fauna The characteristic species composition of 17 habitat groups is described in detail Over 320 species present in the database have been classified into six main groups according to their patterns of habitat use Both the classification of habitats and associated species have been tested and used in various analyses in the book Two chapters give special attention to changes in the Dutch fauna over the past 66 years by means of extensive trend analysis and relate this understanding to nature conservation The book provides an extension and update for Turin's 2000 atlas The Dutch carabid fauna is discussed considering relevant literature but uses predominantly European studies to put the faunal patterns in broader context This book presents the story of Dutch ground beetles and illustrates the contribution of pitfall trapping to our understanding of the ecology of this fascinating and unusually well studied group of beetles Vegetation Dynamics R. Knapp, 2012-12-06 During the International Botanical Congress in Edinburgh 1964 Mrs 1 M WEISBACH J UNK of The Hague discussed a plan for preparation by her publishing company Dr W Junk b v of an international Handbook of Vegetation Science She proposed a series that should give a comprehensive survey of the varied directions within this science and their achievements to date as well as their objectives for the future The challenge of such an enterprise and its evident value for the further development of vegetation research induced the undersigned after some consideration to accept the offer of the honorable but also burdensome task of General Editor The decision was encouraged by a well formulated and detailed outline for the Handbook worked out by the Dutch phytosociologists J J BARKMAN and V WESTHOFF A circle of scholars from numerous countries was invited by the Dr Junk Publishing Company to The Hague in January 1966 to draw up a list of editors and contributors for the parts of the Handbook The outline and list have served since for the organization of the Handbook with no need for major change The different burdens of editors and authors have compelled quite different timings for completion of the individual sections

Natural grasslands pastures and meadows are among the vegetation types most frequently investigated with phytosociological methods This was one of the reasons why volume 13 Application of vegetation science to grassland husbandry and agriculture edited by W Krause appeared as one of the first volumes of this handbook It appeared under the chief editorship of Prof R Tiixen and in his time main emphasis of the handbook was placed on Ziirich Montpellier methods and the European vegetation When we redesigned the handbook we felt the need to include other methods and aims of grassland analyses as well as a more global coverage of grasslands Especially the natural dry and semidry areas of the world needed to be covered was very fortunate in getting Prof Tueller of the University of Reno I Nevada as an editor for this volume He and the colleagues he motivated to compile volume 14 on Application of vegetation science to rangeland analysis and management have created a truly global coverage of the topics interesting for vegetation analyses in natural grasslands Since volume 13 covered the problems of anthropogenically created grasslands this topic was not expressly treated in order to avoid duplication For the same reason no specific attempt was made to get more papers from Europe and the temperate forest region in general The cooperation with Dr Tueller has been very rewarding for me
